BURNED TO DEATH

His Grandson Aged Six Also a Victim of Fire That Destroyed the De Armond Home—Sketch of His Career

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 23.—Representative David De Armond, one of the oldest democratic members of congress, and his grandson, Waddie, aged 6 were burned to death in a fire that destroyed the DeArmond home at Butler, Mo. early today. The other members of the family escaped and it is believed none was hurt. The body of Congressman De Armond or that of his grandson has not been recovered and it is believed that they have been incinerated.

Other occupants of the house at the time of the fire were Mrs. De Armond and a daughter, aged 35.

The home of Congressman De Armond was situated across the street from that of his son, James De Armond. James started to rush into the burning house in an attempt to save his father, but was restrained by the younger members of the De Armond family and neighbors. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The house was two stories in height and burned fiercely.

Mrs. De Armond, wife of the congressman who escaped in her night clothes unhurt, fainted as soon as she reached the ground. When revived later she became hysterical and it was some time before she could tell what had happened. The first she knew of the fire, she said, was when she heard her grandson, Waddle, call out that the house was on fire. Mrs. De Armond occupied a room on the first floor while Congressman De Armond and the grandson were in rooms on the second floor. The house was of wood and by the time Mrs. De Armond had reached the yard the building was wrapped in flames. Fifteen minutes later it was in ashes.

Mrs. DeArmond said she heard no cry from her husband and nothing is known of his experiences.

Mrs. Hattie Clark, the married daughter of Congressman and Mrs. De Armond and the house servant, a woman, also slept on the first floor and both escaped within a minute or two after the alarm of fire was sounded. Waddie De Armond, the dead boy, was the son of James A. De Armond and was visiting his grandparents.

David A. De Armond was first elected to the house of representatives from the sixth congressional district of Missouri in 1891 and served continuously. He was one of the best known democrats in congress. He was born in Blair county, Pa., March 18, 1844. His early life was spent on his father's farm, receiving his education in the common schools and at Williamsport Dickinson seminary. In his young manhood he practiced law in Butler and in 1884 he was named a presidential elector. He held successively the positions of state senator, circuit judge and Missouri supreme court commissioner.

BURGLARS' TOOLS

Found at the Rear of Saunders' Store

AN ATTEMPT MADE TO ENTER STORE

But the Burglars Were Scared Away by Officer Moore Trying a Gate That Led Into the Alley and Which They Had Securely Fastened

An unsuccessful attempt to enter the store of John F. Saunders at the corner of Gorham and Summer streets late Sunday night or early Monday morning, was frustrated by the police who as a result have in their possession an excellent kit of burglar tools, including a ratchet drill, several steel drills of various sizes, two heavy steel jimmy bars and several other articles used by burglars.

The burglars had succeeded in wrenching the wire screening off one of the windows in the rear of the store, but must have been frightened away while at work and in their hurry to escape left their tools behind them.

When one of the clerks opened the market yesterday morning he saw that a portion of the screening had been torn away. He went into the alleyway and found the bag of tools. The matter was reported to the police and Inspector Martin Maher was detailed to investigate the affair.

Patrolman Frank Moore while passing through Summer street Sunday night found that the gate leading into the rear of the Saunders' store was closed. It took him some time to open the gate. In all probability the burglars after entering the alleyway closed and fastened the gate in order that they might not be disturbed while working and when they heard the officer trying the gate they quit the job and took to their heels.

Dancing from 8 to 12 at Y. M. C. I. party, Associate hall, Wed. night.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Waldo R. Cumings and Miss Margaret Molloy were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at five o'clock at the parochial residence of St. Patrick's church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Callahan. The couple were attended by a brother and sister of the bride, Mr. Frank and Miss Tessie Molloy.

The bride was gowned in heavy white silk and carried bride roses. Her sister wore steel silk and also carried roses. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Cumings have left for a short wedding trip and will be at home at 98 Marginal street after December 1.

SCANLON—DEAN

Mr. John Scanlon and Miss Julia Dean were united in marriage in the chapel at the parochial residence of the Sacred Heart church, Sunday evening, at 7.30 o'clock. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I. The best man was Mr. Albert Nichols, and the bridemaid was Miss Alice Dean.

DOUBLE FUNERAL

Wife Survived Her Husband Two Hours

WORCESTER, Nov. 23.—James A. Laverty, one of the city's oldest residents, died yesterday morning at eight in the state hospital from infirmities incident to old age, and at ten o'clock his wife followed him in death at the family home, 18 Colton street. Her death was also due to old age. They were members of Sacred Heart church almost from its establishment. They are survived by two sons, Robert S. and James W., and one daughter, Mrs. Abbie A. Markey. The double funeral will be Wednesday, with services in Sacred Heart church.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Asks the Mayor to Have Dirty Streets Watered

Believing that the dust blowing from the smooth paved streets in the busy part of the city constitutes a menace to health, the board of health has sent the following letter, recommending the watering of these streets, to the mayor:

Health Department,
Lowell, Mass., Nov. 20, 1909.

Hon. George H. Brown, Mayor, City of Lowell.

Dear Sir—The board of health believes that the accumulation of dried manure and dust upon the smooth paved streets in the busy part of the city contiguous to Merrimack square, because of the many people who are constantly obliged to breathe it, constitutes a menace to health, which can easily be reduced to a minimum, by the free use of water. We, therefore, recommend that the portion of Central street from Tower's corner to Merrimack square, Merrimack street from Dutton to Merrimack square, and Bridge street from Central bridge to Merrimack square be thoroughly washed, not less than once a week, to the end that accumulated germs of disease may be carried into the sewers.

We believe that there will be few weeks during the winter when a day cannot be found which will be warm enough for this work. We request that you take the necessary steps to bring this action about promptly.

Yours truly,
Board of Health.
F. A. Bates, Agent.

The board intended to include Middlesex street in its recommendations, but by mistake the street name was omitted. All of the board members say that the watering process should be carried into Middlesex street, as that is a much traveled street and paved with the same paving as Merrimack and Bridge streets.

WORK OF THE BLACK HAND

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 23.—An explosion of dynamite in the fruit and wine house of Joseph Mascari, 13 Yeats street, early today, damaged twenty-five buildings in the business district today. Mascari, an Italian, believes the Black Hand is responsible for the explosion.

Harold Dale officiating. The bearers were G. R. Choate, A. R. Choate, Mark Avery and John Chandler. Burial was in the Edson cemetery under direction of C. M. Young.

STEVENSON—The funeral of Miss Mary H. Stevenson took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her uncle, James Hepburn, in Tewksbury. Rev. George E. Tomkinson, assisted by Rev. T. G. Langdale, officiated. The bearers were Roy Dinsmore, John Rufle, Henry Tingley and George Miller. The selections, "Christian's Goodnight," "No Burdens Yonder," and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," were sung by Mrs. W. H. Pepin. There were many floral offerings, and burial was in the Edson cemetery, under direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

DOWD—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Dowd took place this morning at 8.30 o'clock from her home, 290 Fayette street. At the Immaculate Conception church at 9 o'clock high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Fr. Flynn, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of Mrs. Hugh Walker rendered the Gregorian chant. At the conclusion of mass "De Profundis" was sung. There were present at the funeral services many friends from Boston, Haverhill, Andover and Concord, N. H. There were many floral offerings. The bearers were Messrs. Michael Hoey, James Lynch, Matthew and James Lacey, Frank Dowd and J. J. Conley. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery. Rev. Fr. Flynn O. M. I., officiating at the grave. Burial was in charge of Undertaker John F. Rogers.

LEPINE—The funeral of Mrs. Benjamin A. Lepine took place yesterday morning from her mother's home, 15 Hancock avenue, and was attended by a great number of sorrowing friends. Solemn funeral services were held at St. Joseph's church, Rev. Frs. Bernoche, Lamothe and Baron, O. M. I., officiating. The choir sang Perrault's harmonized funeral mass under the direction of Frank Gordeau, with Jos. A. Bernard at the organ. At the opening of the service Mr. Bernard played Chopin's funeral march, and as the body was being borne from the church an improvisation on the hymn, "A la Mort." The Kyrie solo was sung by Elzear J. Larochel, and the offertory solo, Gounod's "Pie Jesu," was sung by Mrs. Joseph A. Bernard. At the communion Mr. Gourdeau sang "O Meritum Passionis." At the conclusion of the service the choir sang "De Profundis."

The bearers were Frank Lambert, Ovila Tetreault, Arthur Brunelle, Elzear Hebert, Henri Vincent and David Cornellier. Jacques council, U. S. J. B. A., was represented by Mesdames A. Chretien, Narcisse Dupuis, Elzear Masse and Pierre Morneau. There were a great many beautiful floral tributes. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery and Rev. Fr. Amyot, O. M. I., officiated at the grave. Undertaker Amedee Archambault had charge.

DEATHS

Lively Caucuses Opened at Noon Today

Unusual Crowds of Voters on the Street During Morning Hours — Result Will Not be Known Until Early Morning—Result in Doubt

This is caucus day, and therefore don't forget your duty.

The primaries opened at noon today after as lively an ante-caucus campaign on the democratic end as has ever been held, a campaign remarkable mostly for the good feeling evidenced among the candidates and the practically entire absence of personalities from the contest. It is safe to predict that the caucuses will leave no sore spots behind and that the nominee, whoever he may be, will receive the united party vote on election day.

That there is more than usual interest in the caucuses was evidenced by the large crowds on the streets last evening until a late hour and again this morning, for it was evident by the crowds downtown that hundreds of voters did not go to work today as the result of the general and intense interest in the contests.

The voting opened fairly strong, though there was no rush, as the fact that the polls remain open until nine o'clock tonight would mean a big rush after supper. The candidates were around early in wagons and autos visiting the different polling places, while each had active lieutenants in every precinct.

From the discussions of those downtown or around the polling places it was impossible to get a line that would be anywhere near accuracy on the outcome. The mayoralty contest will be close. It is estimated that the winner will get from 1500 to 1800 votes. The caucuses were conducted exactly as on election day and the results will be turned in as on election day though several hours later. Owing to the large number of candidates, the counting of necessity will take a longer time. The two precincts of ward seven, which broke all previous records at counting in the last state election, expect to make another great showing for speed and accuracy tonight, according to the precinct officers. If all precinct officers could count like the ward seven officials the life of the city hall attaches who take the returns would be easy.

It is not expected that the final returns will be received before breakfast time tomorrow morning. The earliest returns are expected about midnight.

Close of Campaign

The ante-caucus campaign closed last night mid a blaze of red fire and oratory and the shouts of the enthusiastic multitudes. The different mayoralty candidates scoured the city in autos and wagons and made many outdoor speeches. Great crowds greeted the candidate, for hundreds visited the places at which the different candidates were to speak to see the fun. The hotels were crowded with politicians and others discussing the situation but there was comparatively little betting owing to the evenness of the contest.

Reports of all kinds were flying about town. From one section would come a report that there was nothing to it but Meehan. This would be closely followed by another to the effect that it was all O'Donnell and then all Crowley and all Daly, while a widely circulated Maloney boom came along late in the evening. The excitement was all on the democratic end for the republicans were very quiet and the republican city committee rooms usually the mecca of all republican politicians on the eve of the primaries saw a comparatively small crowd and no excitement.

The last speech of the ante-caucus campaign was made by James E. O'Donnell at 12.40 this afternoon to a large gathering at the plant of the American Hide and Leather company.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Cardin May be Accused of Being an Accessory

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Nov. 23.—When Eugene L. Cardin appears in the fourth district court to be sentenced for larceny of $500 worth of jewelry from the G. K. Webster company's factory, where he was for several years employed, he will find a second count of even graver importance awaiting him. According to the police he will be charged with being an accessory to the highway robbery of Arthur S. Greene, a messenger of the Webster company, on Aug. 22, 1906, three years ago.

Cardin, it is alleged, was one of the leading figures in that bold crime and it was mainly through his information, it is claimed, that young Greene was assaulted while returning from the bank and relieved of the company's payroll of over $3000.

On the day in question Greene left the National bank about 11 in the morning and was riding about Bank street on his bicycle. Suddenly three men stepped out from behind some trees, and, pointing a revolver at Greene, demanded the money.

Greene resisted. The thugs then knocked the money from his hands and at the same time dealt the boy four savage blows on the head with a blackjack. The boy sank unconscious and the thugs escaped, but while running they were frightened and threw the money into some bushes. There the bundle was later found.

A few days later William Bibeau of Valley Falls was arrested and found to be the leader of the gang. He is now serving a 12 year sentence in jail.

The allegation is that Cardin gave to the men the exact time that the messenger boy would go after the payroll, described the route and furnished other data. Suspicions have been against Cardin for some time, but not until yesterday afternoon did the police secure the foundation for bringing the serious charge.

Cardin is at present in Taunton jail, being unable to furnish the $1000 bonds ordered by Judge Byram on the larceny charge of last week, which was continued until today for sentence, the young man having pleaded guilty after much of the stolen jewelry had been found in his possession.

Cardin belongs in Pawtucket, but has worked here for years.

GRANITEVILLE FIRE

Two Barns Burned and Other Property Threatened

Fire which broke out in West Graniteville about 8 o'clock last night destroyed two barns belonging to Mrs. Rachel Reed and threatened to destroy other valuable property in the vicinity.

The fire was discovered about 8 o'clock by Charles McLenna, who sounded the alarm. The local apparatus responded promptly and later the Edward Abbott company of Westford and the John Edwards company of Forge Village were on the scene and rendered valuable assistance.

The fire had its inception in a small barn, whose lower floor was occupied by William Lambert as a fish market. The upper floor was filled with hay, and it was in the hay that the fire started.

In a short time the flames spread to the big barn, 40 by 60 feet, which was about 50 feet away from the smaller one and which had been used as a store house by Victor Pigeon.

At one time flying embers started a fire on the roof of the house occupied by J. E. York, but the firemen, after strenuous work, extinguished that blaze and the only damage to the house was a slight scorching.

It is estimated that Mrs. Reed's loss will be in the vicinity of $3000. William H. Beebe, who had property stored in the barn, lost about $200.

MRS. STETSON

Has Resigned From the First Church

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, of this city, who has been living in seclusion since her excommunication recently by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, generally referred to as the Mother church, announced last night that she had resigned from the membership of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, New York, of which she was formerly first reader. After her ex-communication in Boston she continued to be a member of the church here, although it was reported that the board of trustees would eventually drop her.

In announcing her resignation last night, after referring to the action of the Mother church, Mrs. Stetson says:

"As this may place the members of your board in an embarrassing position, I have decided to resign from membership of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, New York city, and I now request that my name be dropped from the membership roll. I shall continue to make it my sole effort to obey the principles and to follow our beloved leader, Mary Baker Eddy."

With her resignation, Mrs. Stetson declines to accept hereafter the annual payment of $5000 which she received for her services in the church. Money is neither useful nor desirable to me," she says, "unless it comes as a grateful recognition of services rendered to those from whom it comes—and it would seem undesirable that this payment be continued."

She closes her statement with a plea that the church here may be united in harmony and devotedly follow "our beloved leader's voice."

HORACE VOSE, RHODE ISLAND TURKEY KING, AND HIS THANKSGIVING GIFT TO MR. TAFT

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 23.—Horace Vose of Westerly, R. I., who has been sending a turkey to the White House as a gift to the president at every Thanksgiving time since General Grant was president, broke all his former records in the size of the presidential turkey this year. He told his neighbors last fall that if Mr. Taft was elected he would send the biggest fowl ever grown on his turkey ranch to the White House this year. He is credited with knowing more about turkeys than any other man in this country and takes great pride in sending a bird of genuine quality to the chief magistrate of the nation each year. His aim this year was to produce the biggest turkey ever raised for the longest of all the presidents, and the accompanying snapshots of the gobbler that he selected for Mr. Taft prove that he did not fall far short of his aim. Mr. Vose did not give out at the time the photographs were taken just how much the turkey weighed, but it is in the neighborhood of fifty pounds. So, Mr. Taft is assured of probably the finest turkey that will be served on Thanksgiving day throughout all the country.

REV. FR. O'BRIEN

Addressed the Brockton K. of C. on Sunday

At the solemn vesper service held in St. Patrick's church, Brockton, Sunday evening by Seville council, Knights of Columbus, in memory of the deceased members of the council, the preacher was Rev. John T. O'Brien of St. Peter's church, this city. The Brockton Enterprise had the following:

The sermon was delivered by Rev. John T. O'Brien of Lowell. Fr. O'Brien is one of the most able preachers in the diocese and spoke on the church and death, the great consolations offered by the Catholic church at the hour of death and when the heart is torn with grief at the passing away of loved ones. He said in part:

"It is indeed a pleasure that I come here tonight at the invitation of your rector and Seville council and unite with Knights of Columbus in this illustrious service in memory of their dead. The story of death goes on forever. From every house and every home we have seen our dead carried out. On every hillside we find the graves of many years. But as life does not end with the grave it is but fitting that we should turn our thoughts to the church. There we are taught resignation to the will of God. Death has been called the king of terrors but not so now since Christ has robbed it of its sting. We are taught to mourn our dead, not like one without hope but as one who has gone ahead, one whom we shall meet and know when we too have passed into the great beyond."

Fr. O'Brien said that it is well for men to remember their dead at this season, when autumn winds are singing requiems for the summer which has passed and nature has donned its most sombre garb. Happy is the Catholic, he declared, whose faith gives such sweet consolation to the bereft as the doctrine of the communion of saints. He prays for his dead, and if the souls be in the dim borderland of purgatory they are helped by the prayers, and if in heaven their prayers help him.

"Thus teaches the Catholic church today as when the apostles were on earth and to Laplander, Jap, negro, Indian, and white man the same. No ambitious or insufficient man may alter or amend that doctrine. Withstanding the attacks of open enemies, false friends and ungrateful children, the church has come through the centuries like a mighty, silent stream, growing constantly in volume and strength, unchanging and unchanged. It is still and will remain a refuge for sinners. Within it no man may say of his fellows, 'This one is righteous; this one unjust.' Only the angel of the harvest may separate the wheat from the chaff and until that final act none may condemn. Before the Catholic ever are the words of Christ, 'I am the resurrection and the life.'"

CANNOT AGREE

No Progress Towards Strike Settlement

BARRE, Vt., Nov. 23.—The strike or lockout of the 4000 granite cutters in this vicinity, which has been on for a week, will continue indefinitely, committees from the Barre Granite Manufacturers' Association and from the Northfield Cutters' Union having made no progress toward a settlement at a conference held last night. Neither side was prepared to make any concessions, each insisting that the other had broken the agreements. The only means of settling the controversy appears to lie in the drawing up of a new agreement, although there would still be much wrangling over this, probably.

There have been no disturbances since the inception of the trouble. Many cutters are leaving the affected places for quarries in other sections of the state and the affected manufacturers are forced to see orders of considerable value go to others. The railroads, too, have felt the effects of the strike, laying off all the night yard and freight crews as a result of the lessening of shipments.

THEEE OIL KINGS, HOME OF TRUST, LAWYER AND JUDGE WHO RULED AGAINST COMBINE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—It is believed in Washington that the decision written by Judge Walter H. Sanborn of the United States circuit court of the eastern district of Missouri dissolving the Standard Oil company of New Jersey for violation of the Sherman antitrust law will be upheld by the United States supreme court, for the decision is along the lines of that rendered in the case of the Northern Securities company. Moritz Rosenthal, the attorney who has fought the case out so far for the oil trust, gave immediate notice that it would be appealed to the supreme court. Here are the names of the seven multi-millionaires mentioned in the decision; John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Henry M. Flagler, Henry H. Rogers (deceased), John D. Archbold, Oliver H. Payne and Charles M. Pratt. The thirty-seven subsidiary corporations affected by the ruling are: Anglo-American Oil company, limited; Atlantic Refining company, Buckeye Pipe Line company, Borne-Scrymser company, Chesebrough Manufacturing company, consolidated; Cumberland Pipe Line company, Colonial Oil company, Continental Oil company, Crescent Pipe Line company, Henry C. Folger, Jr., and Calvin N. Payne, a copartnership doing business under the name of the Corsicana Refining company; Eureka Pipe Line company, Galena Signal Oil company, Indiana Pipe Line company, Manhattan Oil company, National Transit company, New York Transit company, Northern Pipe Line company, Ohio Oil company, Prairie Oil and Gas company, Security Oil company, Solar Refining company, Southern Pipe Line company, South Pennsylvania Oil company, Southwest Pennsylvania Pipe Lines company, Standard Oil company of California, Standard Oil company of Indiana, Standard Oil company of Iowa, Standard Oil company of Kansas, Standard Oil company of Kentucky, Standard Oil company of Nebraska, Swan & Finch company, Union Tank Line company, Washington Oil company, Waters—Pierce Oil company.

Garage Was Destroyed by Fire

PAWTUXET, R. I., Nov. 23.—Chauffeur John Conlin was badly burned about the face and body; Mrs. Lillie Cook, aged 65 years, housekeeper for the chauffeur, was rescued unconscious and carried down a ladder, and seven automobiles were burned in an explosion and fire which late last night consumed the costly garage owned by Arthur E. Austin, president of the John Austin & Son firm of oil refiners of Providence. The monetary loss on the building was $30,000, and on the automobiles $25,000.

STRONG PROTEST

Against Tuberculosis Camp

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 23.—The controversy over the establishment of a tuberculosis proventorium for children in the cottage occupied by the late Grover Cleveland here, resulted yesterday in the arrest of Supt. Wheelwright of the institution. He was charged with "importing children into the state" under a law passed in 1907 and aimed principally at immigrants. Until a legal test is made, however, it may prevent a group of well known philanthropists from bringing children here.

"Jim" Donovan Wants Him for Mayor

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—President James Donovan of the democratic city committee and his ward 9 political organization, the Quincy club, with its membership of 300, unanimously indorsed James J. Storrow's candidacy for mayor at a meeting held last night at the Columbia theatre building.

Donovan's action will, it is believed, cause widespread surprise among his followers in the democratic city machine, but it was no such surprise to John F. Fitzgerald, who declared that Donovan realized he was not welcome in any other camp.

While Donovan and his supporters in his home ward were convening for the purpose of endorsing Storrow as an anti-Fitzgerald candidate, Senator James H. Doyle, his ablest lieutenant in the democratic city machine, was declaring for Fitzgerald for mayor.

To the rank and file of the democracy in Boston, Doyle's action was as much of a surprise as that of Donovan. His example will be followed by several of the other leaders who were pledged to fight Fitzgerald for mayor if former Congressman Joseph H. O'Neil, John B. Murphy or Congressman John A. Keliher had been selected by Donovan's machine as the mayoralty candidate.

Following the announcement last night that Donovan had joined the Storrow forces, came another announcement that Congressman Keliher, disgusted with the condition of affairs, had decided to return to Washington without interfering in the mayoralty campaign. Congressman Keliher, his friends say, was ready to run for mayor if Donovan said the word.

Donovan's action in indorsing the Storrow candidacy was the most cheering information that the campaign committee of the Citizens' League candidate has received since the nomination a week ago. With Donovan's support, Manager Billings is confident Mr. Storrow can defeat Hibbard, Fitzgerald and any other mayoralty candidate who remains in the fight. Within the next few days Donovan will be tendered a position with Manager Billings in organizing a strong Storrow movement in every section of the city.

Politicians about the city last night predicted that Donovan's declaration in favor of Candidate Storrow would aid in simplifying the fight and that from now on lines would be closely drawn among Hibbard, Fitzgerald and Storrow. Several of Donovan's closest supporters in the anti-Fitzgerald movement for the past year declared last night that he would be unable to carry any of the ward leaders with him except Chairman D. F. McGillicuddy of ward 10.

Facts About the Hall & Lyon Co.

Drugs and Chemicals

THEY subject to a most thorough test by their own chemist all drugs and chemicals sold by them, and guarantee them to be of the highest quality obtainable. They pride themselves on the freshness of their drug stock. They carry a full line of herbs, roots, leaves, seeds, bark, flowers, etc., which have been carefully sealed in air-tight packages which not only keep them clean but also preserve their active principles unimpaired. They are prepared to furnish any of these that are ordinarily called for in any amount at prices much below those usually asked. On their shelves will be found only such chemicals from manufacturers who are known the world over for the excellence of their products. They always insist on having none but highest quality goods in their stores. People who supply them with drugs know this from experience. Every article that comes into their laboratory is tested by their analytical chemist and if it is not up to Hall & Lyon high standard, it goes back at once.

SHOT BY YEGGMEN

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 23.—Driving into the dooryard of his home in Bow last night with the exclamation "I'm shot," Charles H. Fellows, a well known groceryman of this city, fell dead in the arms of his wife as she went to his assistance. It is supposed that Fellows was the victim of yeggmen, who intended to rob him. If that was the motive of the shooting, the attempt was unsuccessful, for, according to Mrs. Fellows, a large amount of money which her husband always carried was found untouched on his person.

Fellows was 50 years old. For many years he had conducted a grocery store on South street in this city and was one of the best known business men in that district. His home was at Wheeler's Corner in the town of Bow, a short distance beyond the city limit. After closing his store last night he started to drive to his home according to his regular custom, and it was about 11.30 o'clock when his wife, who was awaiting his arrival, heard shots fired and a few minutes later heard a team drive into the dooryard. She ran out of the house to meet her wounded husband.

An examination showed that Fellows had been shot twice, once in the temple and again in the shoulder.

WHITE PLAGUE

What is Being Done to Fight It

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—During the year that has passed since the international congress on tuberculosis met at Washington, one institution or organization for the treatment or prevention of tuberculosis has been established every day, Sundays and holidays included, according to a bulletin of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Fifteen new beds in hospitals or sanatoria have been provided also for every day of the year.

A year ago the rate of increase was one organization or institution every other day, only one-half as fast as now. Less than a year ago there were 40 consumptives for every hospital bed provided. Today the number has been reduced to 30. Nearly 20,000 beds are now provided in institutions for the treatment of consumption, an increase of over 5500. The number of special tuberculosis dispensaries in the United States, has more than doubled, the number of anti-tuberculosis associations has increased 68 per cent., and the number of hospitals and sanatoria 43 per cent.

In one branch of anti-tuberculosis work, particularly emphasized by the international congress, a signal advance has been made, that is, in the provision of hospital accommodations for advanced cases. In all parts of the country, state and municipal authorities have been urged to provide hospitals for dangerous cases of tuberculosis, with the result that over 1000 beds have been established in the past year. At the present time there are, however, only 6000 beds, and 75,000 advanced cases which ought to be in hospitals. Fully 75,000 others could be treated at home, but it would be safer for the community to segregate them in institutions. Every advanced case of tuberculosis is a center from which the disease spreads, and unless the patient is taught how to be careful in his habits, and unless he has the proper home surroundings, he should be in a hospital, where he will not be a menace to others.

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis declares that at least 70,000 more beds in hospitals are needed for advanced cases of consumption. Until these are provided tuberculosis cannot be wiped out. If everybody in the United States gave $5 to provide hospitals for the dangerous consumptives, sufficient funds would be procured to destroy forever the threat of tuberculosis from this country.

EX-GOV. GUILD

Raps Descendants of the Pilgrims

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—With a notable list of speakers and an attendance of some 80 members, the annual dinner of the society of the Mayflower descendants was held at the Brunswick last evening, the 289th anniversary of the signing of the compact on the Mayflower in Provincetown harbor, Nov. 21, 1620.

The speakers were ex-Gov. Guild, Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, Pres. William E. Huntington of Boston university, and Atty. Gen. Malone, the first three being descendants from Mayflower passengers and initiated as members of the society.

Others at the head table were Hon. Asa P. French, who presided, and Mrs. Huntington, Mrs. Robert Shaw Russell, Miss Mary E. Wood and Gen. Clinton B. Sears.

Ex-Gov. Guild spoke of the use of historical societies in leading the present generation to see and perpetuate the spirit of the pilgrims with their struggles and sacrifices.

"The pilgrims were immigrants no less than are the Italians of today," he said, "and it is to our shame that it is the descendant of those early immigrants who stays away from primary or caucus and neglects an election for a bridge game while the new immigrant fulfils the duties of the citizen and votes for the officers of his state and country."

Atty. Gen. Malone spoke of the debt we owe to the first setters for freedom of religion and of education and advocated a study of their lives in the schools."

COTTON EXPORTS

Made a Great Gain This Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Cotton exports last month exceeded in value those of any earlier month in the history of the cotton trade of the United States. The total value of cotton exported in the month of October, 1909, was, according to the latest reports of the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, $88,883,350, while no other month ever reached the 80-million dollar line in the value of cotton sent out of the country. The value of the cotton exports for the 10 months ending with October, 1909, was $328,526,885, against $316,693,265 in the corresponding period of 1907, the highest record ever attained for a like period.

This highest record of value of cotton exports, made by the month of October and by the 10 months ending with October, 1909, suggests that the value of cotton exported in the calendar year 1909 may probably exceed that of any earlier year in the history of the export trade, and should the figures for November and December equal those of October, the total value of cotton exported would cross the 500-million dollar line.

This high-water mark in the value of cotton exported is the result of the combination of large quantities and high prices. The quantity of cotton exported in the 10 months ending with October, 1909, was 2,979,752,254 pounds, a total larger than that in the corresponding period of any earlier year except 1905, while the October export value per pound was higher than in October of any earlier year, averaging 13.4 cents in October, 1909, against 9.1 cents in October, 1908; 11.6 cents in October, 1907, and 10.8 cents in October, 1906. The average price per pound for the entire 10 months' period was over 11 cents per pound.

Cotton exports show a more rapid growth in recent years than those of any other of the natural products of the United States. In wheat and corn and meats the growth which characterized the closing quarter of the 19th century has been less apparent within the past few years, indicating that the growing home demand for these natural products is reducing the share thereof which we are able to spare for other parts of the world. In the case of cotton, however, while the home consumption has enormously increased, the production has fully kept pace with the home consumption and with the growing demands of the outside world. The quantity of cotton exported, which had never reached 3 billion pounds per annum prior to 1895, has but once fallen below 3 billions per annum since that year, and on two occasions—1905 and 1907—exceeded 4 billion pounds and seems likely to again cross the 4 billion line in the calendar year, 1909. The value of cotton exports never touched the 300 million dollar line until the fiscal year 1901 and has but once since that date fallen below 300 millions, and in the fiscal years 1906, 1907, 1908 and 1909, exceeded in each case 400 million dollars. The value of cotton exported in the decade ending with 1909 was $3,650,577,275, against $2,265,075 in the decade ending with 1899.

Europe is, of course, the principal market for this largest single article of our export trade. Of the 417 million dollars' worth of cotton exported in the fiscal year 1909, 172 3-4 million dollars' worth went to the United Kingdom, 112 1-2 millions to Germany, 51 millions to France, 27 millions to Italy, 14 1-4 millions to Spain, 7 1-4 millions to Belgium, 4 1-2 millions to Russia, and 8 1-2 millions to other sections of Europe; the remainder of the exports of the year being to Japan, 10 1-2 million dollars' value; Canada, 6 1-3 millions, and Mexico 2 1-4 millions.

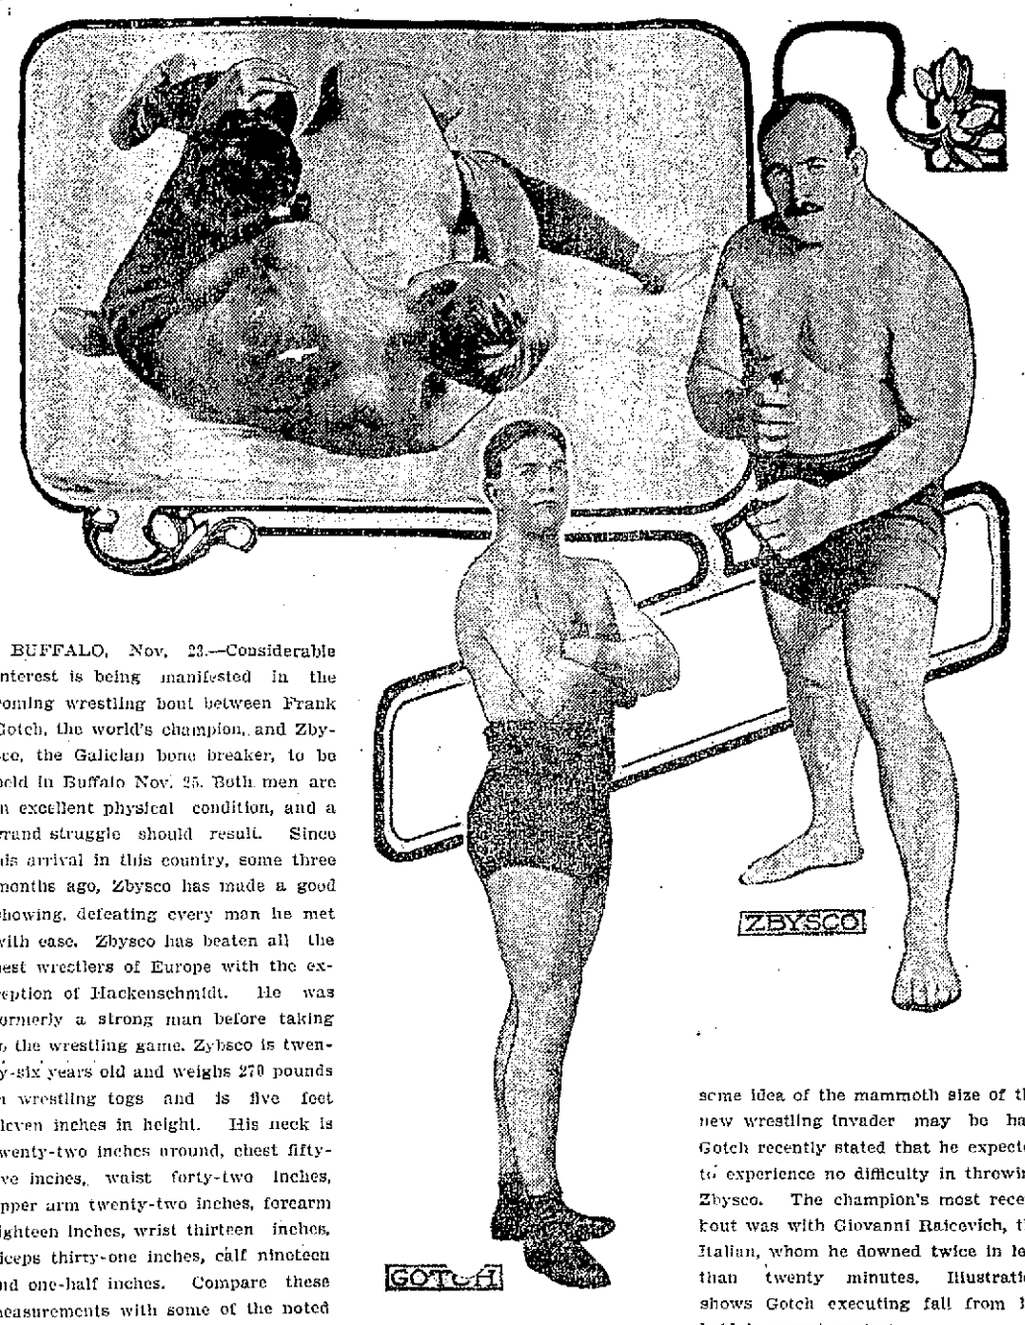
WORLD'S CHAMPION WRESTLER TO MEET ZBYSCO IN BOUT IN BUFFALO



BUFFALO, Nov. 23.—Considerable interest is being manifested in the coming wrestling bout between Frank Gotch, the world's champion, and Zbysco, the Galician bone breaker, to be held in Buffalo Nov. 25. Both men are in excellent physical condition, and a grand struggle should result. Since his arrival in this country, some three months ago, Zbysco has made a good showing, defeating every man he met with ease. Zbysco has beaten all the best wrestlers of Europe with the exception of Hackenschmidt. He was formerly a strong man before taking to the wrestling game. Zybsco is twenty-six years old and weighs 270 pounds in wrestling togs and is five feet eleven inches in height. His neck is twenty-two inches around, chest fifty-five inches, waist forty-two inches, upper arm twenty-two inches, forearm eighteen inches, wrist thirteen inches, biceps thirty-one inches, calf nineteen and one-half inches. Compare these measurements with some of the noted American wrestlers and boxers, and some idea of the mammoth size of the new wrestling invader may be had. Gotch recently stated that he expected to experience no difficulty in throwing Zbysco. The champion's most recent bout was with Giovanni Raicevich, the Italian, whom he downed twice in less than twenty minutes. Illustration shows Gotch executing fall from leg hold in recent contest.

HARRY POLLARD

Elected Treasurer of the Aero Club

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—Aviators and balloonists from many parts of New England listened to tales of the conquest of the air last night in an enthusiastic annual dinner of the Aero Club of New England at which Cortland F. Bishop of New York, president of the Aero Club of America, was the principal guest. Mr. Bishop offered a trophy for the longest balloon flight in 1910 made by a balloon ascending in New England.

HARRY G. POLLARD

Among those who spoke were: Prof. W. H. Pickering of Harvard university, who presided at the banquet; Charles J. Glidden and William Carroll Hill of Boston; H. Helm Clayton, the meteorologist; H. C. Crofts of Pittsfield; J. P. Coghlan, president of the Aero Club of Worcester; Thomas McAuliffe of Fall River; Mayor George H. Brown of Lowell; J. Walter Flagg of Worcester; J. B. Benton of Boston, and Leo Stevens of New York.

At the business meeting preceding the dinner the following officers were elected: President, Charles J. Glidden of Boston; vice presidents, Timothy E. Byrnes and Nathan L. Amster, both of Boston; treasurer, Harry G. Pollard of Lowell; secretary, Alfred R. Shrigley of Boston.

BOARD OF TRADE DINNER

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 23.—The annual dinner of the board of trade was held last evening, at the Parker house, with over 150 members and guests present. The speakers were Captain J. W. Miller, vice president of the Cape Cod Canal company; Charles H. Treat, former United States treasurer; Congressman William S. Greene of Fall River, and Rev. M. C. Julien of this city. President Herbert E. Cushman of the board presided at the dinner.

GREAT RECORD

MADE BY ST. JOHN'S NORMAL COLLEGE ELEVEN

That the St. John's Normal college of Danvers, Mass., which is under the supervision of the Xaverian Brothers, will occupy a prominent position in the sporting annals of the colleges in years of the future can be vouched for by the showing which the athletes of the college have already made in the different branches of sports.

On Thursday of this week the football team is matched to play the strong Prep. team of Boston college and the Danvers lads from what they have heard about their Boston brethren are fully confident of carrying off the victory. This will be the final game of the schedule.

The list of games played to this week is as follows:

St. John's started its record football season by shutting out Ipswich High to the tune of 55 to 0. This game was played on the beautiful and almost perfect grounds of the college team.

The next game saw the Prep. school boys playing the husky Lowell Textiles, on their grounds. Towards the latter part of the fiercely contested struggle the college boys from Danvers pushed the pigskin over for a touchdown, though Geary, the captain, missed the goal.

The third struggle took place on the home grounds of the Beverly High school team. Though Beverly is noted for having a fine squad, yet, after one of the very hardest struggles of the year they could only split even with the St. John's boys, the score being 6 to 6.

Then St. John's journeyed to Glen Forest, Lawrence, to play the so far undefeated veterans of Lawrence High. In a clean, most stubbornly fought battle the Prep. boys were downed by a score of 6 to 0. Though defeated, yet the St. John's boys were not ashamed of their work, for the spectators and officials said it was the best game played on the grounds during the present season.

In its fifth struggle, St. John's went to Brookline to play its first Boston game. In an almost perfectly played game and to the admiration of the hundreds of Greater Boston fans, the strong Brookline lads were shut out 26 to 0. Since this struggle the eyes of the football fans of Boston have eagerly scanned the newspaper narrations of the ensuing victorious struggles of the "Speedy Danvers Lads" as they were termed.

The sixth gridiron battle was fought on the home grounds against Melrose high school. In a very interesting contest, the Melrose high squad was shut out 24 to 0.

In the seventh game, St. John's was matched against the strong team which is scheduled to play Beverly high on Thanksgiving day, viz, the High School of Commerce, of Roxbury. At the close of the hard fought battle, which was witnessed by hundreds, the Roxbury lads found themselves defeated 16 to 0. They said they had never played against such a wonderful back as Joseph Lalor.

The eighth contest was the "annual game" with the old rivals, Danvers High. Great preparation and training were gone through in order to make this encounter a glorious and lasting memorial to the Prep. Boys of 1909. That they succeeded in making it so, was witnessed by the two or three thousand spectators who were gathered at Danvers Park, many coming from Boston, Somerville, and the surrounding cities and towns. After two long periods of 25 minutes each, during which was played the hardest fought game ever witnessed at Danvers park before, and watched by the largest crowd ever before gathered there the college boys were victorious, the score being 15 to 0, thus making themselves the champions of Greater Salem.

The credit of the great success which the Prep. College has had in football this season is not so much due to a few stars, although the school has several, as to the concentrated force, strength, persistence and perseverance, of all its football members, both of the first and second teams, thus verifying the adage that, "In union there is strength." Invaluable assistance has been given by the indefatigableness, perseverance, and foresight of the coach, Arthur Sullivan. Great help has also been received from the sub-coach, Harrison Briggs, the former Salem High Star.

Sec'y MacVeagh Tells How the United States Was Defrauded

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Institution of criminal prosecutions against perpetrator against "sleeper trunk" customs frauds with ramifications in all parts of the country; the pressing of existing indictments to avoid lapses under the statute of limitations and the customs investigation generally were discussed at a conference at the treasury department yesterday. Sec. of the Treasury MacVeagh, Attorney General Wickersham, Collector Loeb of the port of New York, and United States Dist Atty. Henry Wise of the southern district of New York participated.

Sec'y MacVeagh announced that the $2,000,000 which the American Sugar Refining Co. had paid over to the government on account of evasion of duties was regarded by the government as a complete settlement for all its underweighing frauds but that amount affected no other evasions of duty and in no wise figured as to any other matters, and that the government intended to recover much more money as the result of the frauds the so-called trust had committed.

The conference lasted over two and a half hour. At its end Sec. MacVeagh smilingly referred to the sugar frauds over-shadowing in interest one of the most important phases of the whole affair—frauds by importers bringing in trunks with false bottoms involving losses to the government of millions of dollars.

Collector Loeb explained that where this had been possible in the past rules had been adopted under the present regime which would preclude any such frauds in the future.

THANKSGIVING

Plenty for the Holiday Dinner

Now for Thanksgiving dinner and what are we going to have? This is the question that confronts the housekeeper, and you can make up your mind "right smart" that whatever you select you'll pay well for, yet prices, as a whole, do not show much advance over last year. The following retail prices were gathered this afternoon, and a shortage of turkeys is reported, yet most of the dealers allowed there would be turkeys enough to go 'round: Turkey, 26 to 32 cents a pound; chickens, 25; fowl, 22; ducks, 25; geese, 22; celery, Boston market, 15 a bunch; common, 10; lettuce, 5; butter beans, 15; green beans, 10; white turnips, 25 cents a peck; squash, 3 cents a pound; pumpkins, 3 cents a pound; cranberries, 8 to 10 cents a quart, sweet potatoes, 12 pounds for 25 cents; spinach 15 cents a peck; pigeons, $3 a dozen; cucumbers, 8 cents apiece; roast pork, 16 cents a pound; nuts, 15 cents a pound, two pounds for 25 cents; best mixture, 18 cents, two pounds for 35 cents; grapes: Concord, 15 cents a basket; Malagas, 15 to 20c; oranges, 20 to 50 cents a dozen; apples from 20 to 40 cents a dozen, or 40 to 75 cents a peck; bananas, 20 to 25 cents a dozen.

ON CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

FREEPORT, Me., Nov. 23.—A co-operative plan for running the shoe factory which has been operated for 20 years by A. W. Shaw of this town and J. W. Amick of Yarmouth was accepted last night at a meeting of the employes, who were given the privilege of buying the preferred stock amounting to $200,000, in a new company, while the owners of the business retain the common stock, $100,000 in all. Mr. Shaw became president of the new company; Mr. Amick treasurer, and Paul D. Bibber, secretary.

The new company will be known as the A. W. Shaw corporation.

The factory employs 350 hands and the payroll amounts to $3500 a week. The company has jobbing houses in Boston, Chicago and Wheeling.

CHRISTIE MACDONALD ASKS DIVORCE FROM HER HUSBAND

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Mrs. William Winter Jefferson, known to the comic opera stage as Christie MacDonald, a gifted and popular actress, has sued her husband, who is a son of the late Joseph Jefferson, for divorce. The suit was filed at Buffalo and has been placed in the hands of a referee. Mr. Jefferson is now touring the southern states in a repertory of the plays made famous by his father, while his wife is with Andrew Mack's company. They were married in May, 1901, at the Jefferson seaside place, Crow's Nest, Buzzards Bay. Europe was visited on the honeymoon, and for some time thereafter Mrs. Jefferson quit the stage. Later, when they found that they were incompatible, she returned to her work. Last July the fact that they were living apart became known, but at that time it was denied that a divorce was contemplated. It was reported that one source of domestic trouble had been Mrs. Jefferson's desire to live with her relatives, while the husband preferred a household of his own.

$200,000 LEGACY

Was Intended to Right a Wrong, It is Said

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The death in Newark, N. J., of Henry Colter, who was 70 years old, a veteran of the Civil war has revealed the fact that he devoted the last 30 years of his life searching for a legacy of $200,000 which was bequeathed him by a stranger who had wronged him half a century ago.

The discovery was made by his sister, Mrs. James H. Fleming, who is past 70 and who lives with her son-in-law, Henry Helms, at 224 17th street, Brooklyn. She had not seen her brother in 55 years until she looked upon him in death a few days ago. And in nearly threescore years the only tidings she received of him were borne on a postal card stating that he was "alive and well."

Before he was 20 years old Colter went to Portland, Ore., where, with a man named Lane, he engaged in the wholesale grocery business. They grew rich rapidly. Every few months Colter went to San Francisco by ship to bank the profits.

On one of these journeys, when he had $12,000 in gold in a satchel, and the vessel was only two days out from Portland, Colter was stricken with fever. Realizing that delirium was about to seize him, he intrusted the money to a young friend who shared his stateroom. This companion also took the fever, and fearing to trust the satchel to anyone, he threw it in a dark corner under the berth. That was the last ever seen of it.

The men recovered soon after the ship reached San Francisco. A search was made for the money, but it could not be found. Information that Colter received led him to suspect a Brazilian, who had been a passenger on the vessel. Colter learned that this man had gone to New York, and he followed him east as soon as his health would permit.

Ignorant of the Brazilian's name except that with which the west had supplied him gratuitously, but with an indelible mental picture of the thief, Colter took the trail. He carried on his search alone and after a few months learned that the Brazilian had sailed for his native land.

Colter's funds were about exhausted. He wrote to his partner in Portland for money and waited three months for a reply and none came. Colter could not extend his credit in New York, nor could he borrow money enough to return west.

He was in a quandary what steps to take when war was declared between north and south. Colter enlisted in the union ranks, fought with honor and when peace came he went back west with the pay he had earned as a soldier. Things were greatly changed. He had been given up as dead by his friends.

He was about to engage in business again when he read in a paper of the death of the Brazilian. The man left a confession in which he told of robbing Colter of the $12,000. With this money he had bought a sugar plantation and had amassed a fortune. As recompense for the injury he had done, the planter bequeathed Colter $200,000, the story said.

Colter at once started east, but all attempts to secure the fortune from this end failed. His pension was not sufficient to allow him to go to Brazil. Wounds received in battle left him physically unfit to earn good wages. With what little he managed to save he renewed his efforts to secure the legacy. Scores of letters were written to Brazil, lawyers communicated with, all to no avail.

Tenaciously Colter hoped and worked on. To possess the legacy was the dominant purpose of his life. Death ended the struggle. He had worked silently; not even his closest friends knew the secret. And it might have died with him had not Mrs. Fleming, in going through the papers he left, accidentally found the records of the search.

Mr. Helms said last night that he would now take up the work death had halted and make every effort to get the bequest for Mrs. Fleming.

A. H. CLUER DEAD

Well Known Centralville Resident Passed Away

Arthur H. Cluer, one of Centralville's best known business men, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 3 Wachusetts street, aged 54 years, 7 months. A rupture of a valve of the heart, complicated with dropsy, was the cause of death, and Mr. Cluer had suffered more or less from heart trouble for the past four years, although until about six months ago it did not take on a violent form. About six weeks ago as he was about to pay his last visit of the season to his summer home at Hampton he was seized with a bad attack of heart trouble and taking to his bed never left it again.

Mr. Cluer was born in Canton, April 12, 1855. He was educated in the schools of Stoughton, and in 1872 he went to Littleton, where he learned the trade of harness maker. In the fall of 1875 he came to Lowell and at first went to work for John G. Allen, at that time located in Central street. In 1877 he engaged in the business of harness making for himself, locating at 340 Bridge street, where he remained up to the time of his death.

Mr. Cluer was deeply interested in the affairs of the Middlesex North Agricultural society and had been president of that organization since Oct. 11, 1904. He was also a director of the Dracut Grange. He was the founder of Centralville lodge, I. O. O. F., it being wholly upon his initiative that the organization came into being with a membership of 300. He was also a member of Centralville lodge of Rebekahs; Pilgrim encampment, I. O. O. F.; Canton Pawtucket, Patriarchs Militant; Pentucket lodge, A. F. of M., and of Centralville council, Royal Arcanum. Mr. Cluer was a president and director of the Lowell Co-operative association from 1891 to 1894, and under his administration the company prospered greatly. He was an attendant at High Street Congregational church.

All of his life he was a staunch republican. He was a wonderfully good organizer and demonstrated his capacities many times in this way. He was in the common council two terms, and later was a representative for two terms, 1898 and 1899. For many years he was connected with the republican city committee and was treasurer of that organization many years.

Mr. Cluer is survived by his wife, Mrs. Addie A. Cluer, to whom he was married Jan. 14, 1879; one sister, Mrs. Geo. H. Stone of Claremont, N. H., and one brother, Alvin W. Cluer of this city.

KIDNAPPED GIRL

Found After Search of Three Years

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—After a search of three years, Amelia Johnson, 13 years of age, daughter of Ephraim Johnson, a horse dealer of Elizabeth, N. J., who was kidnapped at Norfolk, Va., in November, 1906, was found yesterday by her father and brothers in a south side rooming house.

Detectives accompanied the girl's relatives and they arrested Zalacha Demitro, a gypsy, and his son, Ephraim Demitro. The elder Demitro is said to be king of a band of gypsies who make a business of kidnapping children for ransom.

LIFE ISN'T WORTH LIVING

When This Statement is Made It May Be Generally Attributed to the Lack of Good Health

We want to talk to people who are nervous, who suffer frequent headaches, who don't enjoy their food, who are irritable, quickly lose their temper, who are so exhausted that they feel they must give up, and have become so despondent that life doesn't seem worth living. We believe we know what is the matter with these people in this condition, and if they will follow our advice we can tell them how to regain good health and that buoyancy of feeling which makes life seem surrounded with happiness and sunshine.

Most of the above described conditions are chiefly caused by what is commonly called catarrh, a "below par" condition of mucous membranes. This delicate lining of certain of the body cavities becomes weakened, inflamed and congested until the whole system is weakened, mental depression ensuing as one of the results. The wise way to overcome this condition is through a treatment of the general system. We have the treatment, and we are so positive it will produce the results we claim for it that we will supply it to any one with the understanding that we will return to them every penny paid us in every instance where the treatment is not in every way satisfactory and beneficial to them.

We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, which is a scientifically devised alterative tonic and body builder, its action being to aid the body in its effort to re-establish the natural and healthy functions of the mucous membranes.

Rexall Mucu-Tone thus acts to expel the "catarrhal poison," restore the mucous cells to good health, tone up the whole body, allay inflammation, remove congestion and stimulate the system to healthy activity. It is splendid for aiding in the building up of flesh and muscle tissue and removing weaknesses.

Come to our store and get a bottle of Mu-cu-Tone, and after giving it a reasonable trial, if you are not satisfied, simply tell us so, and we will hand back your money without question. Surely nothing could be more fair than this. Rexall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Lowell only at our store,—The Rexall Store—Hall & Lyon Co., 67-69 Merrimack street.

COUNTY OFFICIALS

Searching for Alleged Murderer of a Concord, N. H. Man

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 23.—After a fruitless night's search for traces of the murderer of Charles Fellows, a grocer at Bow, who was shot as he was about to enter his yard late last night, the assistance of the county authorities was invoked today.

Mr. Fellows kept a store about a mile from his home and was in the habit of driving to and fro with considerable money in his pocket. He returned at 11.30 p. m. and just before he drove into his yard two shots were fired, evidently at close range. One bullet entered the right breast and passed through the body while the other struck the left breast and was found embedded in the shoulder. It was from a 32-calibre weapon. The wounded man staggered into the house and gasping "I am shot" expired in his wife's arms.

The neighbors were immediately aroused and for the rest of the night a constantly increasing force of men searched the vicinity without finding anything more than a few footprints on the soft earth. Measurements were taken of these marks.

The police believe that robbery was the motive and that the highwaymen discovered that Fellows was not killed by the bullets and did not dare to rob him.

Neighboring cities have been asked to look out for suspicious characters although in the absence of any tangible clues the local authorities have little hope of definite results.

FRANK SLAVIN

Issues Challenge to John L. Sullivan

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Frank Slavin has come to life with a challenge from Victoria, B. C., in which he offers to fight Charley Mitchell, John L. Sullivan, Jake Kilrain or Joe Choynski in one night and says that he will guarantee to "stop" them all inside of 10 rounds each for the modest sum of $10,000. If he doesn't stop them he will give his adversaries $10,000.

ALLEGE ATTELL STALLED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 23.—Abe Attell was given the decision over Jimmy Moran, the Brooklyn featherweight in their eight round bout tonight at the Phoenix club. Moran was outclassed in every round, but was game and apparently able to continue for several rounds at the finish. The betting was 10 to 7 that Moran would not be on his feet at the end.

On account of considerable betting and the fact that Attell did not extend himself until the last three rounds, charges were made after the bout that Moran was treated leniently by the featherweight champion. There were no clean knockdowns and the only damage was a bloody nose and a partly closed eye by Moran as a result of frequent jabs by Attell.

In the sixth round Moran slipped and fell to the mat, but was up before the count started. Attell tried for a knockout in the seventh, but fell from the force of his own wild swings. One of the largest houses in the history of local bouts saw the spoft. Hock Bones, an undefeated southern welterweight, knocked out Mint Lee in two rounds in the preliminary.

CLOSE CALL FOR COULON

JOHNSTOWN, Penn., Nov. 23.—Johnny Coulon received a blow in the third round of the bout with Patsy Brannigan of Pittsburg tonight which almost made a new champion. Coulon and Brannigan were going six rounds at 114 pounds and Coulon started off like a winner, jabbing and cutting the Pittsburg boy unmercifully.

At the opening of the third round Brannigan got in a vicious right swing which landed flush on the jaw of Coulon and sent him reeling across the ring. The little champion almost went to the floor after he had been stopped by the ropes. He clinched when Brannigan rushed him and by hanging on until the referee pulled them apart, managed to save himself. By the end of the round he was himself again and for the remaining three rounds held his own.

While Coulon outpointed Brannigan, the Chicago champion was punished much more and admitted that he was given one of the hardest bouts in his career by the Pittsburg boxer.

BUNTING FOOTBALL NOTES

Thanksgiving day the Buntings are scheduled for two games. Junior teams in the morning. Game called for 10 o'clock. Eczema Broke Out on Baby's Head Causing All Her Hair to Fall Out —Could Not Sleep — Spread of Fearful Disease Averted and Easy, Economical Cure Effected, for

A FRIEND ADVISED USE OF CUTICURA

"When my little girl was four months old her head broke out with eczema. I tried everything but nothing did her any good. She could not sleep at night and she did nothing but scratch her head, which was like a raw piece of meat. All of her hair fell out. A friend of mine told me about Cuticura and the good it did for her little boy. After the first cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment I used I could see a change. I used just two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and my little girl's head is cured. Her hair is growing fine and long and her skin is like velvet. Friends say that my quick action in using the Cuticura Remedies kept the eczema from spreading all over her body.

"I still use the Cuticura Soap and always keep a box of Cuticura Ointment in the house. I used them for my hands, which were so badly chapped that the skin would crack and bleed. I would cry with pain. My hands are entirely cured now. You certainly have my permission to publish this letter in any paper, for I know how wonderful Cuticura is. Mrs. F. Davis, 209 E. Indiana St., Chicago Ill., Jan. 18, 1909."

Itching Devils Are little patches of eczema on the skin, scalp or hands which are instantly relieved and speedily cured, in the majority of cases, by warm baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle anointings of Cuticura Ointment, purest and sweetest of emollients.

THE TEST OF PARTY LOYALTY.

Today the people pass upon the arguments of the several candidates for nomination for office, and those defeated will show their loyalty by accepting the result without murmur or protest and even without feeling the bitterness of disappointment. All the candidates for the mayoralty conducted a clean campaign and all promised to support the nominee so that there should be no shirking that duty. The primaries held tonight do not mark the end of the world and the man who does his duty by the party is likely to be remembered later on, whereas he who adopts a different course will be only placing a greater handicap upon his own political future. It is the duty of every democrat to bow to the will of the majority. Defeat of this kind is the test of party loyalty. Those who accept the decision of the people and support the nominees can come up again as candidates with more favorable prospects of success.

THE PEERS WILL BE DEFEATED.

There is every indication that the lords will go down in defeat in their appeal to the country on the question of rejecting the financial budget prepared by the chancellor of the Exchequer. They will muster all their force at the final vote on November 25th and it is likely that nearly five hundred peers will assemble to vote upon the question. It is expected that at least three-fourths of them will vote against the budget.

That will make a general election throughout the United Kingdom inevitable. The British premier will make the issue upon whether the house of lords will continue to dominate popular legislation by use of the veto power or whether the power of the upper house will be so restricted that it will not operate in defeating measures demanded by the people and especially financial measures.

It is expected by the most astute politicians in England that the liberals will win a signal victory. Such a victory will be interpreted as a mandate from the people to curtail the privileges of the peers, and that undoubtedly will be done. The liberal party will then be able to carry out its program of reform, financial and otherwise, including the cession of home rule to Ireland, a matter upon which the liberal party stands pledged for some time past.

The defeat of the lords will also give effect to the new system of taxation under which the privileged class will be forced to contribute to a much greater extent to the support of the government. This will be the first blow to hereditary privilege as represented in the house of lords. In all probability the whole constitution of the upper house will be changed and an arrangement made by which the members will be elected by the people or at least chosen in some representative way so that men will not inherit seats and hold the same for life wholly regardless of whether they have any qualification for the place.

ABOLISH THE LOBBY.

The lobby maintained at the state house is a republican institution, maintained as an offshoot or adjunct to the republican state committee for influencing legislation by the usual methods, or speaking more plainly, for the primary purpose of fleecing public service and other corporations on pretence of controlling legislation in their favor by the use of money among the members of the legislature.

Under fire from the democratic candidates in the recent campaign some of the men who have been most prominent in the lobby have been sent to the rear and among these is J. Otis Wardell of Haverhill. This gentleman has been a member of the state committee for a quarter of a century and fell by the wayside at the last state election.

In 1908 Mr. Wardell, a member of the state committee and a dominant force in controlling legislation, reported that he had received the following sums:—

From Lloyd's Plate Glass and Insurance company, $2000.

Charter, French King Rapids Power company, $2500.

Chadwick—Boston Lead company, $1000.

Sale of Electricity, annual salary . . .

It would be interesting to know how much he received as "salary" for the "Sale of Electricity" or as salary for the Boston Elevated Railway. These were probably his largest items. These amounts were given as payment for using his influence to promote legislation favoring these interests or else to defeat legislation opposed to the same interests.

What was done with the money is not stated. There is no accounting of its distribution. That is left to conjecture, but it is supposed to be used where it will do the "most good." It is well that a body maintained openly for such purposes should be abolished.

Another lobbyist of considerable note is Charles F. Choate, Jr., also a prominent member of the republican state committee and legislative counsel for the New Haven railroad. For his services as counsel during the year 1908 he received the sum of $19,018.29. These companies do not hand out large amounts for nothing and Mr. Choate undoubtedly earned his money or he would not have received it.

It is not in accord with public policy for such corporations to hire men to influence legislation. These returns show that the custom of maintaining a lot of politicians at the state house to influence legislation by the use of money or otherwise is a source of political corruption that should be banished. Were the lobbyists outlawed in the state house we presume they would establish headquarters close by in order to be within easy reach of the legislators and so that they could continue their work. But even that would not be nearly so flagrant an abuse as the lobby is at present form.

SEEN AND HEARD

What has happened to Cook and Peary?

Now is the time for every good man to come to the aid of his party.

The Indian's name is on your waters and you cannot wash it out. The candidate's name is on the ballot but you can scratch it.

John Delaney, the well known tailor and the man who aspires to aldermanic honors, allows that he will fit just as well in the board of aldermen as he does in his workshop.

The young lady who teaches evening school and who has to contend with the pranks of some of the little "Indians" who find their way to her school is more to be pitied than envied.

KEEP ON SMILING

"Whatever the weather may be," says he—
"Whatever the weather may be,
It's the songs ye sing, an' the smiles ye wear
That's a-making the sun shine everywhere;
An' the world of gloom is a world of glee,
Wid the bird in the bush, an' the bud in the tree,
An' the fruit on the stim o' the bough," says he,
"Whatever the weather may be," says he—
James Whitcomb Riley.

A story is told of a king who went into his garden one morning and found everything withering and dying. He asked an oak that stood near the gate what the trouble was. He found that it was sick of life and determined to die, because it was not tall and beautiful like the pine. The pine was out of heart because it could not bear grapes like the vine; the vine was going to throw its life away because it could not stand erect and have as fine fruit as the pomegranate; and so on throughout the garden. Coming to the heart's-ease, the king found its bright face uplifted, as full of cheerfulness as ever. Said the king: "Well, heart's-ease, I am glad to find one brave little flower in this general discouragement and dying. You don't seem one bit disheartened." "No, your majesty. I know I am of small account; but I concluded you wanted a heart's-ease when you planted me. If you had wanted an oak, or a pine, or a vine, or a pomegranate you would have set one out. So I am bound to be the best heart's-ease that ever I can."

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Miss Ethel M. Arnold, granddaughter of Dr. Arnold of Rugby, niece of Matthew Arnold and sister of Mrs. Humphrey Ward, will return to America next January for her second lecture tour.

President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton university has been made a trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York. He is said to be the first college president admitted to the board of any of the larger life companies.

By the will of Mrs. Elizabeth Goddard Heald of Newton, the sum of $500 has been left to Abbot academy. The bequest was without conditions. Mrs. Heald also bequeathed to the school a set of books, the "Library of the World's Best Literature," edited by Charles Dudley Warner.

Prof. Albert A. Michelson of the University of Chicago, to whom was awarded the Nobel prize for important researches in the measurement of light waves, received the honorary degree of master of liberal arts and doctor of philosophy from the University of Leipsic on the occasion of the celebration of its fiftieth anniversary.

Fraulien Winkler, founder of the German American Friendship club, has just returned to New York from Germany. She brought back a trunk filled with contributions to the bazaar which the club will hold in its rooms during the last week of this month. Among the contributions was a collection of China from the royal porcelain works at Berlin. This was sent by the Empress of Germany, who only recently extended her patronage to the club. The American Countess von Waldersee, who is the protectress of the German branch of the work, gave a money contribution to buy things made in Germany. Count Zeppelin sent autograph cards with pictures of airships on them, and the Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin sent china.

The Princess zu Schonaich-Carolath selected a number of articles from her own personal belongings as her contribution and added a boy's vest, knit by herself. The self-supporting women of the empire contributed a collection of embroidery, lace and other fine needlework. The club is composed entirely of young women and its purpose is to extend a helping hand to young German women on arrival in this country.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde" was presented before a fair sized audience at the Opera House last evening and it was well received. The cast was an extraordinarily strong one and Frederick W. Pierce in the dual role of "Jekyl" and "Hyde" was exceptionally strong.

The play tells of the discovery of a drug by "Dr. Jekyl" which will bring out a second nature. The doctor experiments on himself. When under the influence of this drug he goes about as "Hyde," a demon who delights in killing and torturing.

The piece is a very heavy one and demands a good actor. Mr. Pierce played well and was supported by a fine company.

"THE CONVICT'S DAUGHTER."

Tonight at the Opera House "The Convict's Daughter" will be seen. Although in its fourth season, the play has been witnessed by larger audiences than any other melodrama written in previous years. It appeals to every class of theatregoers, from the boy in the gallery to the mother of the family; to sweethearts and sisters, and the father who loves his home.

The first act opens at Col. Gould's home, with its pretty homelike cottage, beautiful flowers and shade trees, and the air of perfect happiness and contentment. One commences to feel its sunshine and warmth from the very beginning, and the interest never flags from the first to the fifth and final acts. One is carried from one scene to another with keen excitement, and a desire that right shall succeed and wrong shall reap its just reward, and sympathy for the innocent child of the convict and her downtrodden father.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD"

Those who love sweet music and those who enjoy the scent of new mown hay can have their several tastes gratified by a visit to "The Old Homestead." This charming play has been before the public for twenty-three years, and is now on its twenty-fourth annual tour. It is the same simple story of rural life in New England that it was away back in 1885 when it was first produced as a finished drama at the Boston theatre. And for eleven years prior to that Mr. Thompson had been presenting a play called "Josiah Whitcomb," in which he portrayed the sturdy old farmer, Uncle Josh. And even before that time Mr. Thompson had given for some years in the variety halls a sketch having Uncle Josh as its central figure. So, taking it altogether, the character of the kindly New England farmer, Uncle Josh, has been before the theatregoing public for nearly forty years. The dramatic critic hesitates when he attempts to write anything new of "The Old Homestead." When a character has become so identified with the American stage as has Uncle Josh by a life of nearly two score years, the pen may well falter in the effort to say anything new. And yet this much may be said. Denman Thompson, in presenting to the American stage a typical American character as it had never been presented before, endeared himself to the theatregoing public and made for himself a niche in the Temple of Fame as an actor and author.

"EAST LYNNE"

Local theatregoers will be interested in the announcement of the appearance next Thursday, Nov. 25, of the favorite emotional drama, "East Lynne," the greatest of all emotional plays. The company has been selected with discrimination and in the matter of scenic equipment and accessories the presentation of "East Lynne" will measure up to a high standard. The engagement at the Opera House is for matinee and night only.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM"

"Ten Nights in a Barroom," which comes to the Opera House next Friday and Saturday, is a play full of human interest and bubbling over with quaint humor, laughable situations and comedy types of characters that have made the whole world laugh, and is a play true to life, sentiment and laughter being happily blended. There are many features in "Ten Nights in a Barroom" that make it a play with everlasting life.

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

"Brewster's Millions," a clever dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's entertaining story, which scored a pronounced success here last season, will be the attraction at the Opera House soon. Robert Ober will be seen in the character of "Monty" Brewster.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

A Chinese act in which not a word but the purest of English is spoken is the headliner at Hathaway's theatre this week. The scene of the play is a street in Chinatown of San Francisco, and there's enough of the "chink" atmosphere and surroundings to force the belief that one is in the heart of Chinatown. But it is the language that makes you sit up and take notice. It is good English, beautifully embellished, and it is spoken with fine diction. To say that it is an innovation in vaudeville is putting it mildly. The name of the piece is "Suey San," and it is called a "Chinese classic." It was written by Carlyle Moore, and is presented by Mabel Gardine & Co. It is a courageous departure from anything that has held the boards in vaudeville and criticism is necessarily limited, not only because of its newness, but there does not seem to be a great deal to build upon. Its very newness, the boldness of its departure from the orthodox Chinese acts, that are rarely great favorites, will further its appeal to the public. The very nature of the music bespeaks a tragedy, and everybody knows beforehand that murder will be committed. You may like "Suey San" and you may not—it all depends, but it's the day's best bet that you will like Mabel Gardine, who plays the character of "Suey San."

The valley of Nanking in China couldn't boast of a prettier girl than "Suey San," and she loved "Cho Sang" even better than she loved the waving fields of rice. "Cho Sang" was only a laundryman, but he was noble, good and true, and he loved "Suey San." She was to him the sweetest flower in the valley of Nanking and he came to America to open the way for a more profitable future than was possible at home. He settled in San Francisco. "Chan Lee," the keeper of the worst of gambling houses, coveted the fair "Suey San," and determined that he would make her his slave. "Chan Lee," too, settled in 'Frisco, and he was cock of the walk because his gambling house netted him untold profit. "Cho Sang" had a laundry next door to Lee's home and to that miserable place came "Suey San." "Lee" had succeeded in having her decoyed to America, to his hell home. "Suey San" knew what was in store for her, but she was beautifully defiant. "Lee" locked her in his house while he went to his gambling joint a little way down the valley. "Suey San" opened a window and sang and prayed. "Cho Sang" was working in his laundry. He heard her voice and finally located her. She told him her story and then everybody knew there would be something doing. The keeper of the gambling hell was on his way to "Suey San" but he never reached her. "Cho Sang" leaped upon him and in less time than it takes to tell it there was one less gambler in 'Frisco's Chinatown. "Sang" put "Lee's" body in a laundry basket and just then a policeman came along. He told "Cho Sang," who stood in the door of his laundry, calmly smoking his pipe to take his laundry in off the street. "Cho Sang" grabbed the basket and the load was about all that he could carry. He got away with it, however, without the cop getting on and then the curtain went down. The piece has a prologue spoken by a Chinese girl. Miss Gardine plays splendidly the character of the Chinese girl. George Gebhardt makes a good Chinese gambler, and William Morris as the laundryman is all that the part calls for.

Anna Chandler is heard in songs and imitations and she is very clever. She is the best singing comedienne we have heard for many moons but it is a toss up as to whether it is her singing or her bewitching mannerisms that win her the applause that was accorded her yesterday. She gives a very good imitation of a "male baritone," and boy soprano. Anna Chandler has you going from the moment she appears until she throws you the parting kiss. There's a naughty little twinkle in her eye and she appeals to one as being chock full of good natured fun and humor. It's worth a day in the garden to hear her do the "Yiddeish Rag." Her last offering last night was a coon song. It was refreshingly new and very pleasing. Gracie Emmett and her second and elongated husband is here again. Grace hasn't gained in flesh and her husband hasn't lost any in weight. It didn't have far to lose. [illegible] make any difference how long they Gracie Emmett & Co. may come to Lowell they will be always welcome. They open a barrel of fun every time they come. Their act is good and if there wasn't another thing on the bill at Hathaway's this week those who have seen "Mrs. Murphy's Second Husband" before would go to see it again. It is one round of continuous laughter and what is really good never grows old. Supporting Miss Emmett are Miss Nellie Collins, Ben J. Miles and George F. Webster.

The Great Ergotti and his two Lilliputians close the performance and the closing act is a pretty one. It is an acrobatic act and is called a "European Risley Novelty." The foot work of Ergotti rivals the best of Japanese foot balancing and the way that he handles the Lilliputians is a caution.

Marron and Haines pass out some oldtime minstrelsy and they are good. Their laughing song is the piece de resistance. El Barto is booked as "The Merry Wizard," and there certainly is some class to El Barto. He's a magician all right and his explanations of how a trick is done are more complicated than the trick itself. The bill is opened by Bert and Lottie Walton, who indulge in dancing and acrobatics. They are very, very good and were given a warm reception at both performances yesterday. The motion pictures are good. Taking it all in all, this week's bill is exceptionally good. Performances will be given every afternoon and evening throughout the remainder of the week, with special seats at the matinees for women.

STAR THEATRE

The amateur actors will hold a rally at the Star theatre tonight, which will be lively, funny and as well attended as any of the political rallies in and about the town. In the first place the boys will rally around the footlights, and the crowd will rally around the theatre. It is nothing unusual to listen to a discourse on "Politics" by one of the characters. Keasto's educated dogs, the smartest canines before the public, and Ted Letell, eccentric comedian, are feature vaudeville attractions. The admission of five cents allows a seat.

THEATRE VOYONS

The star feature of the bill at the Theatre Voyons today is "Her Dramatic Career" one of the best acted story pictures ever given on the screen. The story is an interesting one full of life and action and the interest is intense from beginning to the end. "Up San Juan Hill" is a second feature and it is an exceptionally good melodrama with some really sensational scenes. A laughable comedy and an instructive industrial picture complete the picture program. A most pleasing duet "In The Twilight" is the musical feature of the show.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The new bill at the Academy which was presented yesterday was a splendid one, every picture and vaudeville act scored a big hit. Marlowe, Myers and Marri in their travesty entitled "A Lesson in Shakespeare," introducing the burlesque balcony scene of "Romeo and Juliet" was a scream from start to finish. Rube Dickenson as the ex-Justice of the police, offered a quaint impersonation of a down east Yankee. Grace Furnside sang "Molly Lee." The feature biograph picture "A Sweet Revenge," a magnificent production which shows that while revenge is sweet still it generally leaves a bad taste, and in this case shows how thankful a girl was when she learned that her revengeful plans had miscarried.

AMERICANS MISSING

They May be Languishing in Nicaraguan Jails

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23.—The Picayune cable from Colon says:

"A wire message from Port Limon, Costa Rica, says the United States cruiser Des Moines has gone to Greytown, Nicaragua, to make an official investigation of the killing of Cannon and Grace, the Americans who were shot by order of Zelaya.

"Passengers arriving from Nicaraguan ports report that a number of Americans who were engaged in business in Nicargua are missing and it is believed they are languishing in Nicaraguan jails.

"President Zelaya has plastered all of that portion of Nicaragua controlled by him with flaming posters denouncing the Americans in the most bitter and violent language. The Americans are accused of fomenting the recent revolutionary movement for the purpose of annexing Nicaragua to the United States. The proclamation calls upon all loyal Nicaraguans to rally around the Nicaraguan flag and urges them to help Zelaya to thwart the 'Gringo' conspiracy."

DYNAMITE USED

To Save a Town From Destruction

WARRENTON, Va., Nov. 23.—Following a fire which threatened to wipe out the town, Warrenton last night was under martial law and four blocks of buildings in the heart of the town are smoking ruins. Only by the use of dynamite was the town saved from complete destruction, for the drought of seven weeks which has prevailed in this part of Virginia, had completely exhausted the water supply and even the water needed for drinking had to be shipped here.

The damage as reported last night, despite the extent of the conflagration, to be but $65,000 or $75,000, with insurance of about $50,000.

Many wealthy Englishmen have fine estates in Warrenton, as have also several Washington and New York society people.

PEOPLE'S CLUB

Election of Officers held Last Night

At the annual meeting of the People's club these officers were chosen: President, A. G. Cumnock; vice-presidents, Jacob Rogers, Mrs. D. B. Bartlett, Horace B. Coburn; directors, Albert S. Guild, Hugh F. Gillon, W. E. Badger, Walter Coburn, Henry A. Smith, Haven C. Perham, F. A. Flather, Charles F. Young, Mrs. George F. Richardson, Mrs. Charles D. Palmer, Mrs. Wm. Nichols, Miss A. E. Anderson, Miss N. P. H. Robbins, Mrs. Franklin Nourse, Mrs. Jude C. Wadleigh; secretary and clerk, Miss G. A. Wood; treasurer, George L. Hooper.

The report of Miss Grace A. Wood, the secretary, showed that the club had a prosperous season. In the men's branch reading room, open from October 1, 1908, to May 1, 1909, there were 10,325 visitors, an average of 53 each evening, and the books read were 3790. The amusement room had an average attendance of 57 and a total of 11,396. There were about 200 members in the women's branches classes, and a great deal of good work was done.

The rooms are open every week night. The men's rooms are in the Nesmith block, and the women's in the Runels building.

MAN'S SKELETON

Was Found in Swamp at Spencer

SPENCER, Nov. 23.—The skeleton of a man was found yesterday afternoon in a marsh in the north part of Spencer about a quarter of a mile west of S. W. Parker's house. Alfred Goodrich and Allen Robinson of North Spencer were cutting wood in the locality for the Spencer Wire company's plant, when Goodrich discovered a human skull and shoe protruding from the earth. Medical Examiner E. W. Norwood was called and the bones were taken to the Kingsley morgue for examination.

It is the opinion of Dr. Norwood that the skeleton had lain there for two years or more. Little remained of the clothing, except that the shirt seemed to be a blue and white stripe, size 15, and marked "The Grant." The shoes were laced, size 6 1-2. The teeth in the upper jaw were complete, except that one molar was missing on each side and a couple of the teeth showed amalgam fillings. The man was probably under middle age.

The only clue as to who the man might be was furnished by Harry S. Kingsley, who recalled that about two or three years ago a man named Samuel Johnson came from West Springfield to visit his brother-in-law, Edward Hoar, at that time fireman on the B. & A. branch, but since deceased. Johnson was last seen walking toward North Spencer and there all trace of him was lost. His general description would answer the meagre details given out by the medical examiner.

The most plausible theory is that Johnson or some other person wandered into the swamp and either became lost or caught in the mire. The body had apparently laid in a natural posture for sleeping, however.

MRS. SNOWDEN

FAILED TO HAVE INTERVIEW WITH PRES. TAFT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Philip Snowden, wife of a Liberal member of the British parliament and a noted suffragette, tried to see President Taft yesterday. She failed. Protesting that she does not belong to the militant branch of the organization which has made the lives of British statesmen miserable for the past few months, Mrs. Snowden left the White House announcing that she would endeavor to again run the gauntlet that shut her off from the chief executive of the United States.

"I am desirous of meeting President Taft," she said, "because I met your former president, Mr. Roosevelt, and found him to be most charming. I am anxious, therefore, to have the privilege of knowing his successor."

Mrs. Snowden called at the White House with Representative David J. Foster of Vermont and his daughter, Miss Mabel Foster, who is president of the College Equal Suffrage league of the United States. The party was met at the door by the vigilant guardians of the president, who were promptly informed that Mrs. Snowden was an English suffragette.

"We're extremely sorry," apologized one of the officers to Mr. Foster and the two women, "but the president is very busy. I feel that he cannot be disturbed at the present time. Possibly you might call again."

He looked at Mrs. Snowden appealingly, and at the same time, hopefully. "At some later date he may be able to give you audience, which I know he must regret that he is unable to do today."

Mrs. Snowden was something of a disappointment to the members of the Women's suffrage movement here. In a lecture tonight at the Masonic Temple she declared that American women could not entertain the movement seriously. This, she explained, was because there are some two millions more men than women in this country and the women here are treated so well that they fail to appreciate their political slavery. In England, she added, the women outnumber the men by 1,500,000 and the situation is reversed.

DRACUT

The democrats will be able to hold their regular spring caucus next year to nominate candidates for the various town officers at the annual election, despite the fact that Dracut democrats did not hold the regular fall caucus at which a democratic town committee should have been chosen.

There has been considerable conjecture as to what would happen because of the failure of the democrats to name the committee this fall and many were of the opinion that it would mean that that party would be unable to nominate candidates for the town meeting, but it has been learned that the town committee of 1909 is empowered to act until its successor has been chosen and has duly organized.

TAFT'S CABINET

To Discuss the Nicaraguan Affair Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Taft will take up at the meeting of his cabinet today the Nicaraguan problem and it is expected that there will be something definite to discuss in the way of a program of action to be adopted in handling the Zelayan government.

While it has been the practice for the administration to leave such questions to the state department, the gravity of the situation inevitably will lead to its consideration by the members of Mr. Taft's official family. The matter has reached the point where preparations are being made to compel respect for the United States and its citizens on the part of the fiery little Central American republic. In the meantime work is being rushed in preparing the Prairie at the League Island navy yard to transport four hundred marines now at that yard to Panama. These will reinforce the 380 marines on duty in the canal zone and a reliable force of tried fighters will be close to Nicaragua in case the United States decides that prompt and vigorous action is necessary.

GRAND LARCENY

John R. Dobbins Was Found Guilty

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 23.—The jury in the case of John R. Dobbins on trial for grand larceny in connection with the loss by T. W. Ballew, a Princeton, Mo. banker, of $30,000 on a fake horse race in this city more than a year ago, returned a verdict of guilty early today. Dobbins' case was the first of several brought in connection with the alleged fleecing of many victims throughout the country by J. C. Maybray and his associates. Ballew was a banker and testified that he bet $30,000 on a horserace which he later discovered was "fixed" and declared that Dobbins "steered" him into the game. The maximum penalty is five years' imprisonment.

Many other cases connected with the operations of Maybray and his associates are scheduled for next month in the United States courts where nearly ninety persons were recently indicted for fraudulent use if the mails.

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Campaign statements were filed with Secretary of State Koenig yesterday by the republican county committee of New York, Tammany hall and the Business Men's Municipal Association of New York. Contributions to the republican committee amounted to $214,766; Tammany hall had a fund of $140,126, and the Business Men's association raised $20,235.

The heaviest contributors to the republican fund were J. Pierpont Morgan, who gave $7000; Robert Bacon, $5000; Frank A. Vanderlip, $5000; Union League club, $4000; John D. Rockefeller, $2500; Andrew Carnegie, $2000; Robert W. De Forest, $2500.

Among the contributors to the Tammany Hall fund were: J. Sargent Cram, $3000; James R. Keene, $2500; Samuel Untermyer, $1500. Several gave $1000, including Herman Ridder, Rhinelander Waldo, Francis Burton Harrison, Daniel F. Cosan and Timothy Sullivan.

TO DROP CLARKSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Secretary MacVeagh announced last night that he would not re-appoint Gen. James L. Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York upon the expiration of Clarkson's term January 1. The position carries a salary of $8000 a year. Clarkson has been long prominent in politics, and from 1890 to 1892 was chairman of the republican national committee. Clarkson is an Iowa man and it is understood that prominent upper New York state republican politicians desire the office for patronage.

CAMPEAU COUNCIL, C. O. F.

At a special meeting held last night at Ricard hall, Campeau council, C. O. F., was reorganized upon a new basis, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year:

Supreme chief, Frank Ricard; vice supreme chief, Michel Buot; secretary and treasurer, L. J. Cornellier; recording secretary, J. J. Bellemare; directors, Michael Lalleur, Denis Deschenaux and J. H. Gregoire.

AIR THAT KILLS GERMS

Don't be stubborn. Don't be prejudiced. There is not a particle of morphine, cocaine, or any injurious or habit-forming drug in Hyomei.

Give it a trial at Carter & Sherburne's risk. It is made of eucalyptus and other grand antiseptics. It will cleanse away the misery of catarrh or any affliction of the nose and throat in five minutes.

Go to Carter & Sherburne today and ask them for a Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) outfit. It only costs $1.00, and consists of a hard rubber pocket inhaler, which can be carried in vest pocket, a bottle of Hyomei a medicine dropper, and simple directions for use. Extra bottles 50c.

If you could go to the Eucalyptus forests of inland Australia you would quickly get rid of catarrh. Hyomei brings the identical air of these forests direct to your home. It is a most wonderful catarrh remedy.

MI-O-NA

Cures Indigestion

It relieves stomach misery, sour stomach, belching, and cures all stomach disease or money back. Large box of tablets 50 cents. Druggists in all towns.

FIRST BLIZZARD

Of the Season Reported in Michigan

DETROIT, Nov. 23.—The first blizzard of the season was reported from several parts of Michigan last night. At Saginaw the temperature has taken a decided fall and the fine snow is driven by a high gale.

At Lapeer the rain which had been falling for 24 hours, turned to snow and traffic is suspended.

Traverse City reports six inches of wet snow with considerable delay to rail traffic.

A fierce gale is blowing at Port Huron. Snow and sleet are falling and Lake Huron is wilder than it has been at any other time this year.

BILLERICA

Rev. Charles H. Williams gave an interesting lecture on his personal experiences on the labor problem last night before the men's bible class of the North Billerica church. Prior to the entrance of Rev. Mr. Williams to the ministry he was connected with a national labor organization and is well qualified to speak on the subject. Alexander Allan, president of the class, presided during the meeting, and there were selections by a quartet composed of James Ritchie, Guy Richardson, Burton O. Sanford and Herbert B. Ellis; recitations by Joseph Ellis; comic songs by H. B. Ellis. A collation was served at the close of the meeting. Several entertainments, similar to the one provided last evening will be given during the coming winter by the class.

WAR CRIMINAL

Tolstoi Appeals to the People

GENEVA, Nov. 23.—Count Leo Tolstoi, by way of Switzerland, has given another message to the world. At an anti-military meeting held at Bienne, when 100 Swiss and foreign delegates were assembled, Count Tolstoi's appeal to the people was read amid great enthusiasm.

The appeal was specially written for the recent peace congress at Stockholm, and would have been greatly embarrassing, on account of its violence, to the Swedish authorities, who were saved by the timely strike which caused a postponement of the congress. Later it was arranged to read the appeal at Berlin. The largest hall in that city was engaged and all the tickets were sold, but the police prohibited the reading.

Count Tolstoi appeals to the good sense of the world's peoples to refuse to serve as soldiers, either voluntarily or under pressure, even if that refusal entails punishment. Killing by soldiers, he asserts, is a criminal act.

The message appeals, not to governments, but directly to peoples and their good sense to stop the growth of armies and navies.

SENIORS WON

The class championship in the interclass series of basket ball games at the Textile chool was won by the seniors yesterday when that team defeated the freshmen team by a score of 12 to 10. The game was well contested in the first half, the score at the end of the period being 8 to 8. But in the second period the seniors demonstrated their ability and scored two baskets to one made by the freshmen.

The summary:

Seniors		Freshmen
Keough, rf		rf North
Gale lf		lf Preston-McDuff
Manning c		rg McCleary
Hale lg		lg Allen

Goals from the floor—Gale 3, Keough 2, Watson, Preston 2, North 2. Hartford. Referee—Church. Time—Holt.

THE ALSOP CLAIM

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 23.—The Chilean government has again announced its desire to subscribe to a protocol submitting the Alsop claim to the Hague tribunal for arbitration and has deposited in London $1,000,000 to the order of the Hague permanent court. The government, however, will insist upon a complete examination into all the details of the question, without the least restriction.

DOUBLE WEDDING

Sisters Married in St. Louis' Church

A very pretty double marriage ceremony took place yesterday morning at St. Louis' church when two sisters, Misses Albina and Anna Vanasse, were united in marriage, the former marrying Mr. Euclide Page, while Miss Anna was married to Mr. Joseph Pratte.

Messrs. L. O. Beauregard and Alfred Pratte served as witnesses for both couples. The double ceremony took place at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Jacques, the pastor. Both brides wore white silk, with veil, and carried white roses. During the mass, the choir of the children of Mary sodality, of which both brides were members, gave an appropriate musical program. Miss Ida Mongrain played the organ.

After the ceremony breakfast was served at the home of the brides' mother, Mrs. Isaac Vanasse, 103 Ennell street. In the evening a reception was held at the home of Mr. Alfred Pratte.

COURT DECISION

Says Woman Cannot be Stopped From Talking

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—"How can you stop a woman from talking?" asked Judge Richardson of counsel for the complainant in the unusual bill brought by Charles H. Shapley of Leominster for an injunction to restrain his sister-in-law, Sarah C. Shapley, from talking about the estate of her husband Geo. Shapley, or about the settlement of the estate or the complainant, to any persons in Fitchburg, Leominster or Acton, and from visiting those places.

In the end it was agreed by counsel for Mrs. Shapley, widow of George H. Shapley, that until further order of the court she will not enter the clothing store conducted by the complainant in Leominster or in any way interfere with the business.

George H. Shapley of Newton died Feb. 13. In his will he named the complainant executor. They had been in partnership in the clothing business 20 years in Leominster.

Mrs. Shapley has claimed the business belonged solely to her husband, but the appraisers, in their inventory, say the estate owns two-thirds interest in the partnership business.

The complainant alleges Mrs. Shapley has talked to people in the city and towns named about the business affairs and the complainant wants to stop her from continuing to make the assertions that he alleges she has made respecting the matter.

A CLOSE SHAVE

Many of Them Happening Every Day But Soon Forgotten

Close shaves would be of more frequent occurrence but for the tender faces of many men, which will not permit of shaving often. Heretofore, nothing has been said in these columns about poslam, a new skin discovery, in connection with its use after shaving. Its publicity and sales have been confined almost exclusively to its remarkable properties as an eczema cure; it stops the itching at once and cures the worst cases in a few days. While the application of poslam after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimples, the complexion, etc., shavers will find it a revelation, as it does for abrasions, roughness, and severe scrapings what it does for all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. It is the only article possessing real antiseptic and curative value that has ever been exploited for this purpose, and will soothe and tone up the skin as no toilet preparation could possibly do.

Poslam can be had for fifty cents at any reliable druggist's, particularly Falls & Burkinshaw's and Carter & Sherburne's, who make a specialty of it. Or the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West 25th street, New York City, will send a trial supply free by mail to anyone who will write for it. This is sufficient to show results in 24 hours.

SWEPT BY STORM

Great Damage Has Been Reported

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Rain and sleet, driven by a wind which at times reached a velocity of 48 miles an hour, marked the storm which has raged all day on lake Michigan and throughout the region of the Great Lakes. Only a few vessels braved the waves which thundered outside the breakwater and dashed in tons of spray many feet over the government pier.

In the morning the government life saving crews from Evanston and Chicago answered the appeal for help from the crew of the freighter Boston, which, after battling all night in the storm on the way from Milwaukee, was thrown rudderless and beyond control upon a sand bar near Wilmette, one of Chicago's north shore suburbs.

Eight of the crew of 18 men elected to leave the vessel, which was fast on the sand, and were taken by the life savers to shore.

The average velocity of the wind was 35 to 40 miles an hour, which makes the storm one of the hardest blows on the lakes this season.

The government forecast is for a continuance of the storm through the night, with snow and colder temperature. Much anxiety is felt for vessels known to be out of reach of safe harbors.

PASTOR MAY DIE

He Met With Serious Accident

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Nov. 23.—Rev. George H. Rogers, pastor of the Methodist church of Plainville, is in a critical condition at his home as the result of an accident last evening in North Attleboro. Rev. Mr. Rogers was riding toward Plainville on his bicycle about 7 o'clock and at Park and Washington streets he collided with a horse and wagon driven by Howard Grant of this town, who was returning from Norfolk.

The minister was thrown from his wheel and the wagon passed over his body. He was picked up in an unconscious state and removed to the office of a local doctor. The physician found the man suffering from serious internal injuries and three broken ribs. He has a slight chance of recovery. After being attended by the physician Rev. Mr. Rogers was removed to his home in Plainville in an ambulance.

Grant said that the accident would not have happened but for the bright searchlight on an electric car that was approaching at the time. He says the light flashed so brightly in his eyes that he was unable to see the cyclist and was unaware of the accident until after the carriage had passed over the man's body.

HATTIE LEBLANC

No Trace Yet of Missing Girl

WALTHAM, Nov. 23.—No traces of the missing Hattie LeBlanc were discovered when the police began their day of investigation. The mystery surrounding the murder of Clarence F. Glover, who, in an ante-mortem statement, accused Miss Leblanc of having shot him on Saturday night, was greater today than at any time since the discovery of the crime. Having found some discrepancies in the last statement of the murdered man, the authorities did not place so much confidence in it today as they did on Saturday night. An investigation of the building of the Waltham Laundry Co., where the shooting occurred, appears to the police to strengthen the theory that a third person was concerned in the case.

Although Glover said in his statement that the laundry office was the scene of the tragedy, no evidences of disorder have been found there. In another department of the laundry there were appearances of a struggle and a sidecomb, belt pin and a man's cap were found. The comb was identified as Hattie LeBlanc's property by the sisters of the missing girl.

COPPER MERGER

Was Denounced by Wm. J. Bryan

GLOBE, Ariz., Nov. 23.—William J. Bryan who was the guest of honor at a banquet here last night denounced the proposed copper merger as a combination which would seriously injure the interests of the smaller producers and the workingmen.

He also criticized President Taft for his reported advice to avoid copying the Oklahoma constitution when the people of this territory came to draft the basic law of the prospective new state.

"Do not let the president of the United States threaten you," he said. "Let me tell you that he does not want a constitution like that of Oklahoma. It is much better that the constitution should fit the people of the new state than the people outside.

"It is my earnest wish for your sake that the constitution or Arizona will be for its people and not for those citizens of Ohio who are simply temporary residents here."

COLLECTOR LOEB

Intends to Dismiss at Least a Dozen Weighers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York, was an early morning caller at the White House today and spent half an hour or more with President Taft. Mr. Loeb stated that the house cleaning in the customs service in New York was about completed. Within the next week he will dismiss a dozen or more weighers. He stated that when they are let out he thought the service would be in first class shape and that no more dismissals in the near future were contemplated. "We will start out with practically a clean slate," said Mr. Loeb, "and we hope for good results."

Mr. Loeb will leave for New York this afternoon.

Mr. Loeb said there was nothing in the story that Richard Parr, the acting deputy surveyor at New York who recently engaged in a controversy with former assistant Secretary of the Treasury Reynolds, had been selected to succeed Surveyor Clarkson. Mr. Loeb, however, confirmed the story that Mr. Clarkson was to retire but intimated that his successor had not been decided upon.

DIED OF POISON

Mrs. Von Marlow appeared in the best of spirits when she retired last night. Mr. Von Marlow was found in an untown hotel. He told the coroner that he and his wife had come to this city last July from Dayton where Mrs. Von Marlow's father, William Jones, was an influential man. He declared his belief that his wife had not taken the poison with suicidal intent as she had nothing to worry about aside from a domestic difference of small moment which had arisen between them a few days ago.

NEWS FROM ASTOR'S YACHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The steam yacht Nourmahal with Col. John Jacob Astor on board arrived at San Juan from Mayaguez on Sunday, Nov. 14, and was still there on the evening of Nov. 17. All were well on board and the Nourmahal was planning to leave soon for Ponce and from there go to some Cuban port before her departure north.

These tidings were brought here by the Insular line steamer Harry Luckenbach which arrived this morning from Porto Rican ports.

Captain Dalton of the Luckenbach, on his arrival at quarantine this afternoon, said that it was reported in San Juan that the yacht Nourmahal was waiting there for a friend of Col. Astor who was on his way there from New York who was a passenger on a steamer. Captain Dalton had no further information concerning the Nourmahal.

The news brought here by the Luckenbach makes it positive that no harm came to the yacht in the storm earlier in the month. The Nourmahal has by this time probably proceeded for Ponce where she would have been reported had cable communication been re-established to that point.

OBJECTS TO FOOTBALL

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Chancellor Day of Syracuse university expressed himself as opposed to football in its present dangerous form. He said:

"It is a question whether football in its present dangerous form should be tolerated. Year after year more and more students are entering colleges who have promised their parents not to engage in this sport. I admire these boys who are tied to their mother's apron strings. I want football modified so that it will become more a contest of brains and less a contest of muscles."

PERJURY CHARGE DISMISSED

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 23.—The report of the grand jury today dismissed the charge of perjury brought by a depositor against Burton E. Southward, J. Albert McAfee and Ernest Elberts, former cashiers of the failed Dorr Street Savings bank. It was alleged that they made false reports to the state auditor as to the bank's condition. The grand jury investigated but returned no indictments.

BURGLARS' TOOLS

Found at the Rear of Saunders' Store

AN ATTEMPT MADE TO ENTER STORE

But the Burglars Were Scared Away by Officer Moore Trying a Gate That Led Into the Alley and Which They Had Securely Fastened

An unsuccessful attempt to enter the store of John F. Saunders at the corner of Gorham and Summer streets late Sunday night or early Monday morning, was frustrated by the police who as a result have in their possession an excellent kit of burglar tools, including a ratchet drill, several steel drills of various sizes, two heavy steel jimmy bars and several other articles used by burglars.

The burglars had succeeded in wrenching the wire screening off one of the windows in the rear of the store, but must have been frightened away while at work and in their hurry to escape left their tools behind them.

When one of the clerks opened the market yesterday morning he saw that a portion of the screening had been torn away. He went into the alleyway and found the bag of tools. The matter was reported to the police and Inspector Martin Maher was detailed to investigate the affair.

Patrolman Frank Moore while passing through Summer street Sunday night found that the gate leading into the rear of the Saunders' store was closed. It took him some time to open the gate. In all probability the burglars after entering the alleyway closed and fastened the gate in order that they might not be disturbed while working and when they heard the officer trying the gate they quit the job and took to their heels.

BLAMES OFFICER

Woman Says He Joined in Hold-up

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—One of the most difficult cases ever taken by a New York lawyer has been placed in the hands of Miss Frieda Thomas by Mrs. E. F. Dunton, a wealthy woman of 561 West 180th street, who was the only witness to what she thinks was a plot of a policeman and a civilian to rob and afterward railroad a young man to the penitentiary on a false charge of burglary.

For three months Mrs. Dunton has endeavored to discover the identity of the young man who was arrested Aug. 19 near her home, but she has been unable to do so. She has now appealed to Miss Thomas, who is not only investigating the law points, but has turned detective to free the young man, if he is still in prison, and to bring the guilty to justice.

"The young man who was robbed," said Miss Thomas yesterday, "was held in a vacant storeroom, across the street from Mrs. Dunton's apartment, and close enough for her to see accurately what was being done. She saw a man rifle the pockets of the young man, who was under the influence of liquor or drugged. Later the man went into a doorway with a policeman, and they talked several minutes.

"The policeman crossed the street and stood in the shadow of a building. The man who had talked with him fired a revolver and the officer ran back across the street and arrested the young man for firing the pistol, although he protested he had not done so.

"Mrs. Dunton believes a charge of burglary was made against him, as several policemen afterward tried the doors of all the stores in the building in which he was arrested.

"Subsequently Mrs. Dunton read in the papers that a young man who had been sentenced to nine years in the penitentiary for burglary tried to commit suicide, and she thought he was probably this young man. I am going to ask Police Commissioner Baker to help me with the case."

GEN'L CLARKSON

Will Not Discuss His Resignation

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Until officially notified that his withdrawal of his resignation was wanted by the government, Gen. James Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York, declined today to make any extended statement in regard to his position in the matter.

"It would be indelicate and improper at this time to refer to any of the government records which might have a bearing on my connection with the sugar frauds, and until all facts can be properly placed before the public, which will come in good time, I do not feel called upon to discuss the termination of my term in office," said Gen. Clarkson.

Collector Loeb is expected back from Washington tomorrow, and it was said today that the announcement of further dismissals and changes in the customs service would probably be made on his return.

Former U. S. Dist. Atty. Stimson, who has charge of the sugar cases against the government weighers, said today that a pertinent statement in regard to the government's investigation of the sugar frauds would be given out either here or in Washington next week.

THE UNDERWRITERS

Refuse Request of Committee on Fire Department

Some time ago the committee on fire department through the clerk of committees, Frank M. Dowling, asked the Lowell Board of Underwriters to supply 50 rubber blankets to be used by the fire departments in covering goods to save or minimize loss by water.

Today Mr. Dowling received a letter from Fred G. Webber, secretary of the board, stating that the request of the committee on fire department had been considered by the Lowell committee of the New England Insurance Exchange and the committee refused to grant the request. Speaking of the committee's action, Mr. Webber says: "Following its general practice in regard to the matter, the committee voted to decline to grant the request."

The decision is of a decidedly disappointing nature as it was confidently expected that the board of underwriters would supply the blankets. Now the city will have to buy them. The board did supply 50 blankets several years ago and inasmuch as the protection of goods from damage by water meant money in the pockets of the insurance companies the committee thought that the board would comply with the request.

In Boston the insurance people pay the total expense of the protective department and in several other cities they bear half of the expense.

GERMAN ADMIRAL DEAD

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—Admiral Gustave Von Seden Bibran, who for 18 years was the chief of Emperor William's private naval cabinet, died today. Death was due to an abscess on the brain. He was born in 1847 and retired from official life in 1906.

WORK OF THE BLACK HAND

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 23.—An explosion of dynamite in the fruit and wine house of Joseph Mascari, 13 Yeats street, early today, damaged twenty-five buildings in the business district today. Mascari, an Italian, believes the Black Hand is responsible for the explosion.

It was at first reported that four men had been killed in the explosion but this is believed to be a mistake. Mascari says when he closed his store shortly after 11 o'clock last night there was no one in it and if any person was killed it was some one who had gone there to touch off the bomb. The ruins caught fire but the flames were quickly extinguished. The damage is estimated at from $50,000 to $75,000.

Mascari declines to make any statement as to the threats made against him. The police have several persons under surveillance.

SON KIDNAPPED

Husband Accused by His Wife

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Edward George Koch, of No. 56 Jane street, has been summoned to the supreme court today to answer his wife's charge that he ran away secretly from San Francisco with her seven-year-old son, Paul, and has since kept the boy hidden in this city. Justice McCall granted her a writ ordering Koch to produce the lad in court.

The Kochs were married in June, 1902, and went to live with the bride's mother. Mrs. Koch alleges her married life has been made miserable by her husband's abuse. She says his conduct so worried her mother that her death in May, 1907, was hastened.

After the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Koch went to California upon the advice of physicians to recover her health. She took the boy with her to San Francisco and later sent him to the home of relatives in San Jose. She earned a livelihood by teaching music.

She was followed to California by Koch, she asserts, who visited the place where the son was staying and induced her relatives to let him take the boy to his mother. Instead of carrying out this proposal, Mrs. Koch charges her husband started east with Paul.

When he reached Nevada the wife asserts Koch mailed a postal card to her reading: "Paul and I bound for New York. You'll never see him again." This announcement made her pack up and start to look for the boy.

Koch has sued his wife for divorce. She denies his charges of misconduct.

NATIONAL CIVIC FEDERATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Profit-sharing insurance, pensions and welfare work for the employe, were discussed at today's session of the National Civic Federation. George Perkins of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. and chairman of the finance committee of the International Harvester company, contributed a paper on the workings of the benefit and pension plan for employes adopted by the Harvester company. The benefits of this plan had been marked, declared Mr. Perkins, "In all parts of the company's business," said he, "the average interest of the individual in the business is greater than formerly. The saving of the waste here, there and everywhere is noticeable. This means profits for the stockholders and extra compensation in various ways for the employes."

PRIMARIES ARE ON

Lively Caucuses Opened at Noon Today

Unusual Crowds of Voters on the Street During Morning Hours — Result Will Not be Known Until Early Morning—Result in Doubt

This is caucus day, and therefore don't forget your duty.

The primaries opened at noon today after as lively an ante-caucus campaign on the democratic end as has ever been held, a campaign remarkable mostly for the good feeling evidenced among the candidates and the practically entire absence of personalities from the contest. It is safe to predict that the caucuses will leave no sore spots behind and that the nominee, whoever he may be, will receive the united party vote on election day.

That there is more than usual interest in the caucuses was evidenced by the large crowds on the streets last evening until a late hour and again this morning, for it was evident by the crowds downtown that hundreds of voters did not go to work today as the result of the general and intense interest in the contests.

The voting opened fairly strong, though there was no rush, as the fact that the polls remain open until nine o'clock tonight would mean a big rush after supper. The candidates were around early in wagons and autos visiting the different polling places, while each had active lieutenants in every precinct.

From the discussions of those downtown or around the polling places it was impossible to get a line that would be anywhere near accuracy on the outcome. The mayoralty contest will be close. It is estimated that the winner will get from 1500 to 1800 votes. The caucuses were conducted exactly as on election day and the results will be turned in as on election day though several hours later. Owing to the large number of candidates, the counting of necessity will take a longer time. The two precincts of ward seven, which broke all previous records at counting in the last state election, expect to make another great showing for speed and accuracy tonight, according to the precinct officers. If all precinct officers could count like the ward seven officials the life of the city hall attaches who take the returns would be easy.

It is not expected that the final returns will be received before breakfast time tomorrow morning. The earliest returns are expected about midnight.

Close of Campaign

The ante-caucus campaign closed last night mid a blaze of red fire and oratory and the shouts of the enthusiastic multitudes. The different mayoralty candidates scoured the city in autos and wagons and made many outdoor speeches. Great crowds greeted the candidate, for hundreds visited the places at which the different candidates were to speak to see the fun. The hotels were crowded with politicians and others discussing the situation but there was comparatively little betting owing to the evenness of the contest.

Reports of all kinds were flying about town. From one section would come a report that there was nothing to it but Meehan. This would be closely followed by another to the effect that it was all O'Donnell and then all Crowley and all Daly, while a widely circulated Maloney boom came along late in the evening. The excitement was all on the democratic end for the republicans were very quiet and the republican city committee rooms usually the mecca of all republican politicians on the eve of the primaries saw a comparatively small crowd and no excitement.

The last speech of the ante-caucus campaign was made by James E. O'Donnell at 12.40 this afternoon to a large gathering at the plant of the American Hide and Leather company.

MARRIAGE OF YOUNG BRIDE WAS ANNULLED

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Following long legal proceedings, Marguerite Merkle McLaughlin, of No. 409 East Fifty-first street, has had her marriage to Philip A. McLaughlin, of Victoria, Texas, annulled. The final order has just been signed by Justice Martin J. Keogh.

The young woman is a daughter of the late Martin Merkle, who years ago was a prosperous furniture dealer in this city. She married McLaughlin in October, 1907, when she was 17 years old. The union was not a happy one, and a few months after the ceremony the husband went to Texas. A year later proceedings were brought through her mother, Mrs. Francis Carlo, as guardian, to annul the marriage. The case was heard before Justice Isaac N. Mills last summer.

The young wife has been allowed to resume her maiden name. Her mother said yesterday that they had never heard from McLaughlin after he went away, and that they had not asked alimony.

MONTH'S MIND MASS

BURNED TO DEATH

His Grandson Aged Six Also a Victim of Fire That Destroyed the De Armond Home—Sketch of His Career

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 23.—Representative David De Armond, one of the oldest democratic members of congress, and his grandson, Waddie, aged 6 were burned to death in a fire that destroyed the DeArmond home at Butler, Mo. early today. The other members of the family escaped and it is believed none was hurt. The body of Congressman De Armond or that of his grandson has not been recovered and it is believed that they have been incinerated.

Other occupants of the house at the time of the fire were Mrs. De Armond and a daughter, aged 35.

The home of Congressman De Armond was situated across the street from that of his son, James De Armond. James started to rush into the burning house in an attempt to save his father, but was restrained by the younger members of the De Armond family and neighbors. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The house was two stories in height and burned fiercely.

Mrs. De Armond, wife of the congressman who escaped in her night clothes unhurt, fainted as soon as she reached the ground. When revived later she became hysterical and it was some time before she could tell what had happened. The first she knew of the fire, she said, was when she heard her grandson, Waddie, call out that the house was on fire. Mrs. De Armond occupied a room on the first floor while Congressman De Armond and the grandson were in rooms on the second floor. The house was of wood and by the time Mrs. De Armond had reached the yard the building was wrapped in flames. Fifteen minutes later it was in ashes.

Mrs. DeArmond said she heard no cry from her husband and nothing is known of his experiences.

Mrs. Hattie Clark, the married daughter of Congressman and Mrs. De Armond and the house servant, a woman, also slept on the first floor and both escaped within a minute or two after the alarm of fire was sounded. Waddie De Armond, the dead boy, was the son of James A. De Armond and was visiting his grandparents.

David A. De Armond was first elected to the house of representatives from the sixth congressional district of Missouri in 1891 and served continuously. He was one of the best known democrats in congress. He was born in Blair county, Pa., March 18, 1844. His early life was spent on his father's farm, receiving his education in the common schools and at Williamsport Dickinson seminary. In his young manhood he practiced law in Butler and in 1884 he was named a presidential elector. He held successively the positions of state senator, circuit judge and Missouri supreme court commissioner.

Congressman De Armond and his his young grandson occupied one room on the south side of the building while Mrs. De Armond and Mrs. Clark were in separate rooms on the opposite side of the house. Nettie Boles, 20 years old, a servant girl, had a room on the west end of the house. Mrs. Clark was awakened by a cry and going to the door of her room saw smoke issuing from the part of the house where Congressman De Armond and Waddie slept.

"Get me out of here!" she heard Waddie cry. "Never mind, son, I will save you," Congressman De Armond answered.

These were the last words either of the victims uttered. A moment later the smoke increased in volume, and Mrs. Clark fled down stairs to the telephone. Within a minute's time she had given the alarm to the telephone office and hurried back to the rooms of her mother.

WAS BRILLIANT ORATOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—In Mr. De Armond the democrats lose one of their leaders on the floor of the house. A member of that body for the past 18 years and a man of education, wide experience and fluent speech, he had become one of the principal resources of his party in all discussions of national questions. He made a specialty of labor subjects, but was never at loss in handling almost any question.

He was a member of the committee on judiciary at the time of his death and had held that post for many years. Previous to the present congress he also was a member of the committee on rules.

While Mr. De Armond will long be remembered for his brilliant oratory and especially for his power of sarcasm and capacity for invectives, he also will long be known on account of his qualities as a party fighter. Inclined to be pugnacious, he often handled subjects as an aggressor rather than a defendant. This quality was the means of getting him into a personal altercation two years ago with John Sharp Williams, then democratic leader of the house. The difference between them arose over Mr. Williams' designation of a Missouri colleague of Mr. De Armond's for a committee position in the organization of the 60th congress. They came to blows, but neither was badly hurt.

LARCENY CHARGE

Young Man Sent to Reformatory

Edward Belanger, 21 years of age, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of three planes, a saw and three wrenches, all of the value of $3.70, the property of Fred N. Burnham, who conducts a boarding and livery stable in Merrimack street. Belanger pleaded guilty and after the court had considered the case Belanger was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory at Concord.

Some time ago Belanger was sent to the reformatory for being a stubborn child and was released from that institution about two months ago. When he came back to Lowell he was engaged by Mr. Burnham to do odd jobs about the stable. Of late Mr. Burnham has found that different tools have been missing and suspicion immediately rested upon Belanger. An investigation showed that the young man was the person who had been taking the implements.

In court this morning he admitted that he was guilty and when asked why he didn't report regularly to the Concord Reformatory his answer was, "Just because I didn't, that's all." He was ordered returned to the reformatory.

Raised a Disturbance

Eugene Perrin, while under the influence of liquor yesterday afternoon, visited the Academy of Music. During the progress of the show he took exceptions to a joke that was being passed on the stage and rising to his feet used vulgar language. Patrolman Michael Rourke, who is stationed at the Academy, was summoned and tried to quiet the young man, but the latter continued to talk out loud and use abusive language. He was placed under arrest and in court this morning was charged with being drunk, the other charge not being pressed. He was fined $6, which he paid.

Drunken Offenders

There were seven first offenders who were fined $2 each.

YOUNG GIRL DEAD

Police are Searching for Woman

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 23.—Mary Jones, 21, of East Taunton is dead at the Rhode Island hospital and the police of Taunton are looking for a woman, who it is alleged gave her some medicine for a criminal operation. An autopsy on the body will be made today.

LOSS IS $15,000

Fire Was Fought by Volunteers

ARCTIC, R. I., Nov. 23.—A band of volunteer firemen equipped with a couple of hose reels and an old fashioned hand engine saved this village, the business center of Pawtuxet valley district, from destruction by fire early today. Although the flames threatened at one time to spread throughout the village effective work by the fire fighters confined the blaze to two large wooden business blocks owned by Joseph Archambault on Quidnick street. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

SOME PENN AND CORNELL GLADIATORS WHO WILL CLASH ON THANKSGIVING DAY

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—The game between Pennsylvania and Cornell on Thanksgiving day will practically close the football season, which has been the most successful in the history of the game. Notwithstanding the clamor that the several fatalities have caused, there is more popular interest in football right now at the close of the season of 1909 than there ever was before. It is believed that the game on Franklin field on Thanksgiving day will bring out a gigantic crowd despite the poor condition of the Pennsylvania team. The Penn coaches are working with might and main to get the several injured men in condition for the contest, and, while they have a wholesome respect for the prowess of Cornell, they are more than hopeful of victory. A majority score for Penn over Cornell this year after the rocky time the team has had would be something for the Quakers to boast of, and they are out for blood. Ramsdell and Miller are both improving and in all probability will be in the game. Phenomenal drop kicking by O'Connor is one of the features of practice at Cornell, and the big guard looms up as a possible scoring quality for the Red team in the clash with Penn.

1,000 ARMED NICARAGUANS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23.—A dispatch from Port Limon, Costa Rica, says that passengers arriving at Punta Arenas report a great movement of troops in Salvadorean ports. It is said that General Prudencio Alfaro is at the head of 1000 well armed Nicaraguans. The revolutionists are said to be in possession of Castillo Viejo.

In a San Jose paper it is predicted that the invasion of Salvador by Nicaraguans may precipitate a general uprising in Central America.

HAS NOT RESIGNED

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—"I have not resigned," said President Winchell of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific R. R. Co. on his return to New York today from a visit to the west.

Reports of President Winchell's resignation have been current for some time past. President Winchell would not make any further statement regarding Rock Island affairs.

CHAIRMAN CONNERS

Says That Gaynor Should be Named for President

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—"William J. Gaynor is one of the biggest men, if not the biggest man, in the country. He is big enough to be president, and I shall be surprised if he is not the democratic nominee in 1912," said Chairman William J. Conners, of the democratic state committee, at the Waldorf-Astoria last night.

Conners lunched and spent several hours with the mayor-elect at the Gaynor country home, St. James, L. I., Sunday. His practical declaration for Gaynor for president was in response to the question:

"It is reported you have transferred your affections from McClellan to Gaynor and that you will favor Gaynor's nomination for governor next fall."

"I am not transferring my affections from any one man to another," was Conner's first answer. "I am very fond of Mayor McClellan, and have frequently said so. Judge Gaynor and I have also been very warm friends for many years. We have met very frequently and we have always agreed on questions of democratic party policy.

"You will recall that I did my utmost to secure Gaynor's nomination for vice president at Denver a year ago. Had the New York delegation as I hoped it would, stood firm for him, he would have been named, and perhaps Bryan would be president and Gaynor vice president today. But the western democrats were too powerful for us. They forced the selection of Kern, of Indiana, and we were swamped."

"Is it fair to assume that you would support McClellan for governor next year, and Gaynor for president two years later" was asked.

"I am not making candidates. I merely say Gaynor is big enough to be president."

"You discussed politics with Judge Gaynor during your visit at St. James?"

"Why, of course not, my boy. I simply went down there to lunch upon the judge's invitation. We had a lot to talk about as we had not seen one another for a long time."

"One report has it that you requested him to take care of friends who owe their places on the Ashokan Dam Commission to your influence with Mayor McClellan?"

"Not at all. We did not talk about patronage. The mayor-elect can be trusted to appoint good men in office, and if I can be of any service in making his administration the best the city ever had, why I will co-operate any way I can.

"Did Judge Gaynor indicate whether he would aid you to retain the chairmanship of the state committee?"

"I told you we did not talk politics. I am abundantly satisfied that no movement headed by men who seek to assume proprietary rights over the democracy can secure control of the party or unseat me. I am going to Buffalo tonight, content with the situation.

MORE WARSHIPS

May be Ordered to Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Silence almost to an ominous degree prevailed at the state department today. Sec'y Knox left the state department for the cabinet meeting shortly before 11 o'clock and Assistant Sec'y Wilson was at his home presumably engaged on some phase of the Nicaraguan situation. Assistant Secretary Adee, who was the spokesman of the party in the absence of the secretary, and Mr. Wilson stated that nothing had been received by the department that changed the Nicaraguan status in any degree. The navy department is in a condition of preparedness for any eventuality. Overtime work has resulted in putting the troopship Prairie, now at the Philadelphia navy yard, in a condition to sail at any moment after Thursday of this week with 400 marines who are immediately available for transportation to Nicaragua. If necessary this number can be increased within a few hours' notice to seven hundred or even eight hundred.

Although the naval officials disclaim any knowledge of what the state department is doing in a diplomatic way in connection with the Nicaraguan situation it is known that they are hourly in expectation of receiving orders to direct the Prairie to sail and they would not be in the least surprised if other warships were ordered to the Nicaraguan coast.

Everywhere in the state and navy departments there is a feeling of expectancy, everyone believing that the United States is about to take a decided step with respect to Nicaragua.

Of the Fate of Astor Yacht Which is Missing

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 23.—The government wireless station here was unable to get into communication with San Juan, P. R., again this morning owing to atmospheric conditions. Later in the day another effort will be made to verify the report that Col. John Jacob Astor's yacht Nourmahal had safely anchored in the harbor there.

That a confirmation or denial of the report of Col. Astor's presence in the harbor of San Juan has not been obtained so far is due to the ignorance of the operator at San Juan of the anxiety that exists in the United States over Col. Astor and his friends. The operator at Key West in asking the San Juan operator as to the presence of Mr. Astor expected an answer within ten minutes or at least an hour. Evidently the San Juan man after acknowledging the messages sent him went out to investigate and when he returned communication was broken. All efforts to re-establish it since have failed. It is stated here that the wireless station at San Juan is on an isolated point and that the operator would not likely have known of the presence of the Nourmahal in San Juan harbor.

The rumor current here early today that Mr. Astor had landed at some obscure point and had gone to his big game preserve at Astor, Lake county, in the interior of Florida, could not be verified.

At 6 o'clock this morning the Guantanamo wireless station was raised and reported that no communication had been reached with San Juan within the last twenty-four hours.

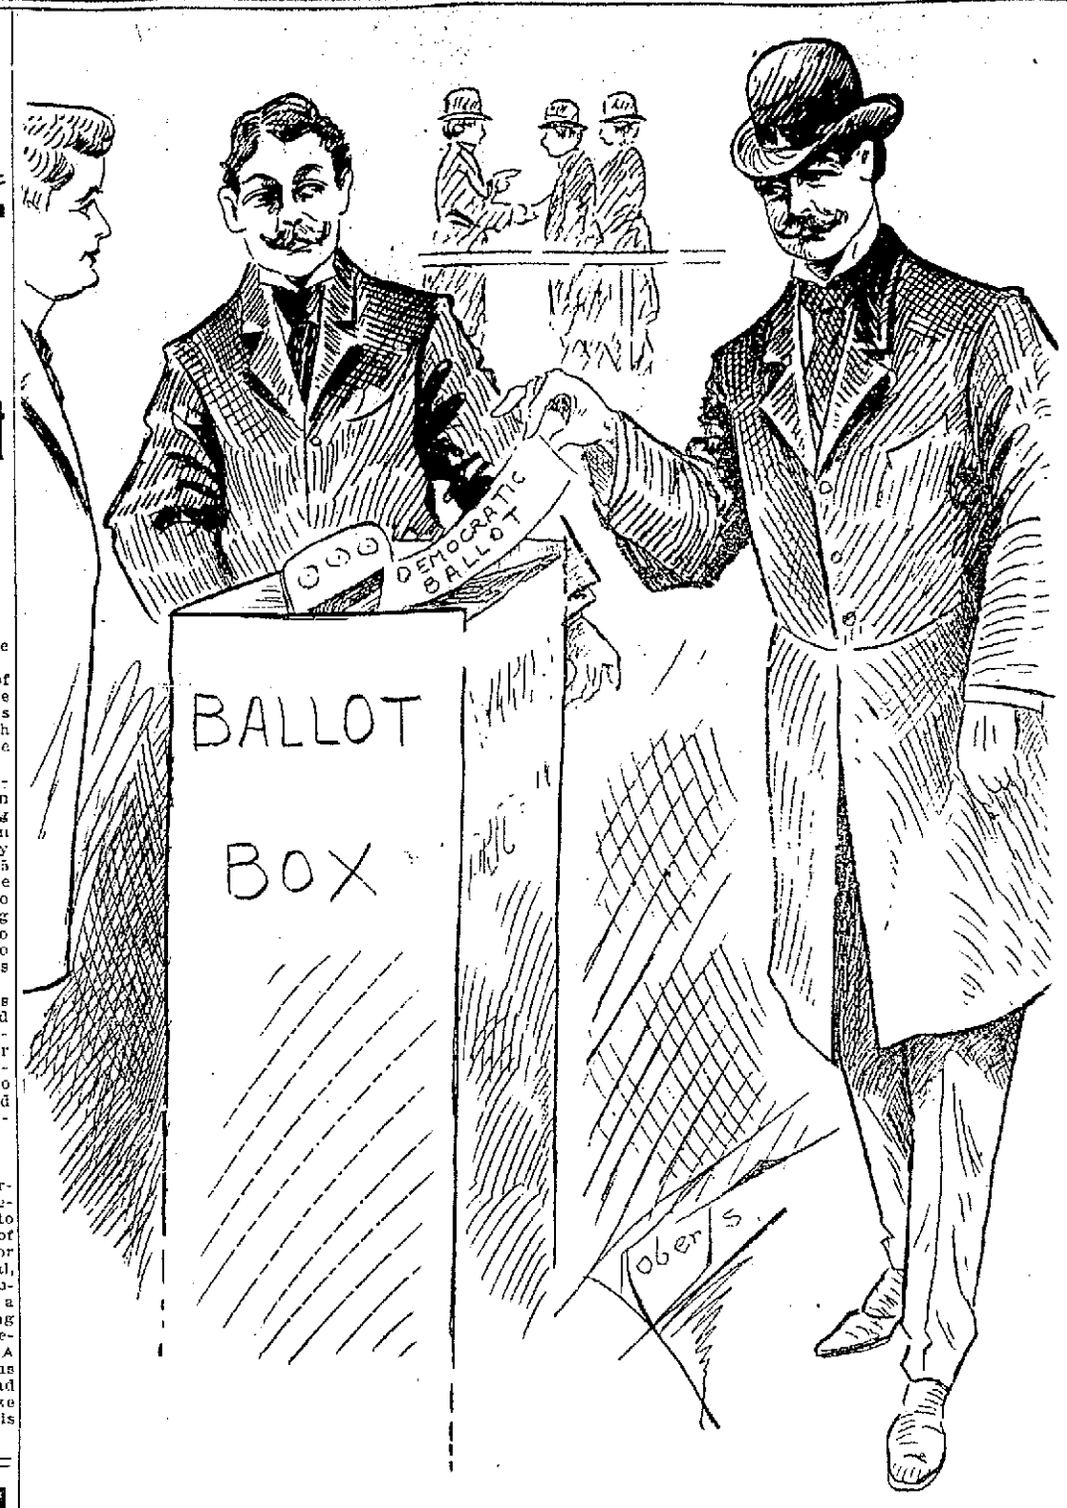
Those here familiar with the port of San Juan are not disposed to believe that a yacht the size of Mr. Astor's could have put in there for any length of time without some report being made through the regular channels.

Twenty-four hours of ceaseless endeavor on the part of the wireless men have been without result in locating the Nourmahal. The wireless station at this point and the station at Key West have called continuously since 5 o'clock yesterday morning when the San Juan station was "lost" but up to shortly before 8 o'clock this morning had not been able to raise the Porto Rico station. This is evidently due to the heavy atmosphere which prevails over the gulf and Caribbean sea.

At midnight atmospheric conditions were such that both Key West and Tampa stations discontinued all efforts to raise either Guantanamo or San Juan. Early this morning, however, conditions were cleared up to such an extent that both Tampa and Key West again began calling at intervals for San Juan.

FRESH RUMORS RUN DOWN

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 23.—Efforts during the night to communicate by wireless telegraph with San Juan, Porto Rico, to obtain absolute confirmation of the presence there of John Jacob Astor and friends on the yacht Nourmahal, were without avail owing to disturbed atmospheric conditions but at a quarter of eight o'clock this morning the wireless operator here secured responses to his calls for San Juan. A reply is expected soon. A rumor was afloat this morning that Col. Astor had gone to his shooting preserves in Lake county, Florida, but little credence is placed in this report.



THE SOVEREIGN CITIZEN DECIDES ALL THE PRIMARY CONTESTS TODAY

BOARD OF HEALTH

Asks the Mayor to Have Dirty Streets Watered

Believing that the dust blowing from the smooth paved streets in the busy part of the city constitutes a menace to health, the board of health has sent the following letter, recommending the watering of these streets, to the mayor:

Health Department,
Lowell, Mass., Nov. 20, 1909.

Hon. George H. Brown, Mayor, City of Lowell.

Dear Sir—The board of health believes that the accumulation of dried manure and dust upon the smooth paved streets in the busy part of the city contiguous to Merrimack square, because of the many people who are constantly obliged to breathe it, constitutes a menace to health, which can easily be reduced to a minimum, by the free use of water. We, therefore, recommend that the portion of Central street from Tower's corner to Merrimack square, Merrimack street from Dutton to Merrimack square, and Bridge street from Central bridge to Merrimack square be thoroughly washed, not less than once a week, to the end that accumulated germs of disease may be carried into the sewers.

We believe that there will be few weeks during the winter when a day cannot be found which will be warm enough for this work. We request that you take the necessary steps to bring this action about promptly.

Yours truly,
Board of Health,
F. A. Bates, Agent.

The board intended to include Middlesex street in its recommendations, but by mistake the street name was omitted. All of the board members say that the watering process should be carried into Middlesex street, as that is a much traveled street and paved with the same paving as Merrimack and Bridge streets.

BIG CONTRACT

HAS BEEN AWARDED TO AMERICANS

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—The Lokal Anzeiger learns from an authoritative source that the Russian government intends to close a contract with an American syndicate to develop the Trans-Siberian railroad, which will be double tracked throughout its whole length.

The project involves hundreds of millions of dollars, and, according to the paper, representatives of the syndicate are now in Europe awaiting the Emperor's return to St. Petersburg from Livadia. They will then proceed to St. Petersburg to complete the contract.

ITCHING SKIN EASILY SOOTHED

Old and Tried Remedy Convinces Sufferers on First Trial

That awful, agonizing itch, torturing day and night!—then suddenly the skin calmed, soothed and refreshed.

That is what any eczema sufferer can accomplish in two minutes by the use of the right treatment; just oil of wintergreen, mixed with thymol, glycerine and other healing ingredients in liquid form. While a smeary salve would only close up the pores of the skin, driving the disease germs in still deeper, the medicine in liquid form penetrates the epidermis, kills and washes out the eczema germs and stops the itching instantly.

We recommend this D. D. D. Prescription heartily, and we guarantee that a trial bottle at 25 cents will convince you.

SHERMAN'S CHILD

Has Entered Suit for Divorce

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Mary Sherman McCallum, adopted daughter of the late John Sherman, former secretary of state and senator from Ohio, filed suit yesterday in the district supreme court for absolute divorce from James I. McCallum. The couple were married here in 1894, and have two children, John Sherman, aged 13, and Cecilia Sherman, 11. Both live with her.

The petition charges violation of the marriage vow in July and August, 1908. Since learning of her husband's alleged actions, Mrs. McCallum says she has not lived with him. She asks for the custody of the children.

Mrs. McCallum inherited about $100,000 from her foster father, much of which, it is understood, has been profitably invested in this city.

IMPERIAL EDICT

PEKING, Nov. 23.—An imperial edict was issued today dismissing three high government officials, including Tuan Fang, viceroy of Pe Chi Li for offenses committed in connection with the funeral of the late dowager empress. Chen Kwei Lung, governor of Sze Chuen, succeeds Tuan Fang and in turn is succeeded in his former office by Jui Cheng. Wu Chang succeeds Jui Cheng as provisional treasurer of Nanking.

MARITAL WOES

Heard by Judge Sanderson Again Today

The principal case before Judge Sanderson in the divorce court this morning was that of Ella F. Parker vs. Alfred S. Parker for cruel and abusive treatment. The husband filed a cross-libel through his counsel, William H. Bent, and the case was set down on the contested list. When the case was called this morning, however, the cross-libel was dismissed after a conference with the court on agreement of counsel. The original libel was then heard, Messrs. Nathan D. Pratt and Joseph D. Loughran appearing for Mrs. Parker, the libellant. The latter and several women witnesses testified to acts of severe cruelty and abuse on the part of the libellee.

Mrs. Blanche M. Tarbox of Newton, wife of the Boston coal man, Bernard L. Tarbox, who eloped with Miss Gertrude Devine of Dorchester last June, was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Sanderson. The sensational departure of the husband led to a chase that led those in pursuit into Canada. The last heard of Tarbox and Miss Devine they were still in Canada.

Miss Devine was 19 years of age at the time and had been Tarbox's stenographer. They went to Pawtucket in the young man's automobile and were married there by a clergyman.

Mrs. Tarbox was Miss Blanche P. Matthews of Bath, Me. She told the story of her marriage and desertion by her husband and named Miss Devine in her suit. There was no contest.

The case of Grace M. Pierce of Cambridge vs. George H. Pierce was heard. The libellant said that while intoxicated her husband pinched her neck until the blood came and an abscess resulted. The libellee was called in the cases of David Farquhar of Cambridge, vs. Grace Maud Farquhar, Ernest W. Taylor of Waltham, vs. Grace B. Taylor; Virginia A. Cooper of Lowell, vs. Henry Cooper, Mrs. Cooper testified to her husband's habits of drunkenness, and said she had to support him the biggest part of the time, and he pawned the furniture for drink. Marie Perron of Lowell, vs. Severe Perron. In this case the woman named as co-respondent appeared in court and testified that she received notice and was the person named therein. Mr. Lew, who runs a dye house in John street, testified that he let a room to the libelee and the co-respondent, on the representation that they were man and wife.

William F. Robinson of Malden vs. Winnifred I. Robinson. Mr. Robinson is about 40 years old, and he married the daughter of a clergyman, aged 22. They lived together only a few months, and the father of the co-respondent came into court and testified for the libellant.

HUMAN FLESH

Was Sent to Justice of Peace

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 23.—Justice of the Peace Tombs yesterday received two pieces of human flesh through the mails. Accompanying them was a note explaining that they had been taken from a smallpox patient, the writer expressing the wish that the judge might catch the disease and die.

Judge Tombs has reported the matter to the federal authorities for investigation. He is unaware of the existence of any enemy unless it be some one upon whom he has inflicted punishment in his official capacity.

BATTLESHIP MISSOURI

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The battleship Missouri came into port today from Newport, R. I. and anchored off Tompkinsville, S. I.

Various surmises were aroused by the hurry orders to the Missouri in connection with the troublous Nicaraguan situation. It was stated at the Brooklyn navy yard today, however, that the Missouri so far as known, was merely dropping in here on her way to the battleship rendezvous at Hampton Roads where a fleet is under orders to assemble on December 1 in the course of the usual winter naval procedure.

IS NOT GUILTY

Father Accused of Beating Son

PITTSBURG, Nov. 23.—J. J. Seelar, aged 70, president of the Iron City automobile company, was arraigned in court yesterday morning on a charge of aggravated assault on the person of his 28-year-old son Chester J. Seelar, who has been in a hospital for repairs for two weeks.

It was brought out in the evidence that the father and son had some trouble and decided to settle it with their fists, and the old gentleman gave his husky son a fearful drubbing, breaking his nose and blacking both his eyes.

The son maintained that his father had used a desk phone and an iron brace to beat him, but this was not proven.

The aggressive Seelar was found not guilty by the jury, but was ordered to pay the costs of suit.

DOUBLE FUNERAL

Wife Survived Her Husband Two Hours

WORCESTER, Nov. 23.—James A. Laverty, one of the city's oldest residents, died yesterday morning at eight in the state hospital from infirmities incident to old age, and at ten o'clock his wife followed him in death at the family home, 18 Colton street. Her death was also due to old age. They were members of Sacred Heart church almost from its establishment. They are survived by two sons, Robert S. and James W., and one daughter, Mrs. Abbie A. Markey. The double funeral will be Wednesday, with services in Sacred Heart church.

McKEE IS SUED

THE DAMAGES ARE SET AT $25,000

PITTSBURG, Nov. 23.—D. C. Neary, a New York attorney, sued here yesterday for a writ of foreign attachment against A. Hart McKee, now living in Paris, to recover $25,000 for services said to have been rendered when Mrs. Lydia Sutton McKee divorced her husband.

There are rumors that Neary's suit may bare some of the secrets so carefully guarded at the time of McKee's first divorce and his hasty marriage to Mrs. Cornelia Baxter Tevis, who has divorced him in Paris.

OUT ON STRIKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—In pursuance of resolutions passed at meetings last night, several thousand shirtwaist operators in shops all over the city went out on strike today. It is expected that ultimately all the shops in the city employing 40,000 persons will be involved.

The workers' demands are for an increase in the wage scale and shorter hours.

SCORES OF MINERS

Believed to be Alive in the Shaft at Cherry, Ill.

CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 23.—Cherry rested for a brief period early today before beginning the crucial work to rescue the living or carry the dead from the five hundred foot level of the St. Paul coal mine.

At midnight boy miners had forced their way into the third vein, preparing the way for a rush of their comrades to the same vein today. They declared the air in the gallery stagnant but capable of sustaining life, the water but a few inches deep and all indications favorable to prolonging the life of those imprisoned in the depths.

The youths, Robert McFadden and Barney Dougherty, had scarcely emerged from the shaft when tidings were spread that the fire in the second vein had broken out anew.

Rescue work was halted while Chicago firemen attacked the blaze which now threatened the main shaft.

The two boys penetrated 120 feet into the vein and shouted, but no response came. Then they hurried back to the cage.

"There is no reason why they should not be alive," said Dougherty.

After learning that the lower shaft contained and not too impure to sustain life, many reasons were advanced to show that the men still may be alive.

"There is plenty of water there," said William Smith, one of the few miners in the vein to escape after the fire, "the air is endurable and there was plenty of corn in the mule stables. They have some of the shrewdest and nerviest miners in the country down there. We'll find them barricaded and ready for another week's wait when we reach them."

This optimism of the miners was not lower level was the almost unanimous assertion of miners who listened to the story of McFadden and Dougherty. No miners were seen and the one object indicating their occupancy of the vein was a dead mule that had been seen lying in the escape shaft through which the rescuers entered.

$100,000 DAMAGE

Caused by Fire in Utica, New York

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Fire did $100,000 damage in the heart of the village of Canastota this morning. The Bruce Opera house block and the Grant block adjoining it were burned and the Bemis block across the street was damaged.

BALLOT BOXES

Piled From Floor to Ceiling

About all activity at the city hall centered in the basement this forenoon. The cause of the unusual stir in the basement was the removal of the ballot boxes that were piled from floor to ceiling. There was a policeman to every box and the Moody street side of the hall was lined with job wagons in which the boxes were taken to the various precincts.

DOWAGER DUCHESS BURIED

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The body of Consuelo, dowager Duchess of Manchester, was buried today at Kimbelton, Huntingdonshire, the family seat of the Manchesters, in the presence of the family and many intimate friends. A memorial service was held in the chapel royal at St. James palace where the Prince and Princess of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught were represented by officials of their households. The congregation included many distinguished friends of the deceased, among them American Ambassador Reid.

PURITAN WAS DISABLED

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 23.—The Evening Press wireless station today picked up the following message from the steamer Puritan which all day yesterday and last night drifted helplessly about Lake Michigan with a broken rudder:

"The Puritan was this morning picked up by a tug and safely towed into South Chicago harbor."

ANNIVERSARY MASS

There will be an anniversary high mass of requiem at St. Peter's church Thursday morning at 8.45 for the repose of the soul of the late James Boyle.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Waldo R. Cumings and Miss Margaret Molloy were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at five o'clock at the parochial residence of St. Patrick's church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Callahan. The couple were attended by a brother and sister of the bride, Mr. Frank and Miss Tessie Molloy.

The bride was gowned in heavy white silk and carried bride roses. Her sister wore steel silk and also carried roses. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Cumings have left for a short wedding trip and will be at home at 98 Marginal street after December 1.

SCANLON—DEAN

Mr. John Scanlon and Miss Julia Dean were united in marriage in the chapel at the parochial residence of the Sacred Heart church, Sunday evening, at 7.30 o'clock. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I. The best man was Mr. Albert Nichols, and the bridemaid was Miss Alice Dean.

Dancing from 8 to 12 at Y. M. C. I. party, Associate hall, Wed. night.

SHOT BY YEGGMEN

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 23.—Driving into the dooryard of his home in Bow last night with the exclamation "I'm shot," Charles H. Fellows, a well known groceryman of this city, fell dead in the arms of his wife as she went to his assistance. It is supposed that Fellows was the victim of yeggmen, who intended to rob him. If that was the motive of the shooting, the attempt was unsuccessful, for, according to Mrs. Fellows, a large amount of money which her husband always carried was found untouched on his person.

Fellows was 50 years old. For many years he had conducted a grocery store on South street in this city and was one of the best known business men in that district. His home was at Wheeler's Corner in the town of Bow, a short distance beyond the city limit. After closing his store last night he started to drive to his home according to his regular custom, and it was about 11.30 o'clock when his wife, who was awaiting his arrival, heard shots fired and a few minutes later heard a team drive into the dooryard. She ran out of the house to meet her wounded husband.

An examination showed that Fellows had been shot twice, once in the temple and again in the shoulder.

WHITE PLAGUE

What is Being Done to Fight It

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—During the year that has passed since the international congress on tuberculosis met at Washington, one institution or organization for the treatment or prevention of tuberculosis has been established every day, Sundays and holidays included, according to a bulletin of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Fifteen new beds in hospitals or sanatoria have been provided also for every day of the year.

A year ago the rate of increase was one organization or institution every other day, only one-half as fast as now. Less than a year ago there were 40 consumptives for every hospital bed provided. Today the number has been reduced to 30. Nearly 20,000 beds are now provided in institutions for the treatment of consumption, an increase of over 5500. The number of special tuberculosis dispensaries in the United States has more than doubled, the number of anti-tuberculosis associations has increased 68 per cent., and the number of hospitals and sanatoria 43 per cent.

In one branch of anti-tuberculosis work, particularly emphasized by the international congress, a signal advance has been made, that is, in the provision of hospital accommodations for advanced cases. In all parts of the country, state and municipal authorities have been urged to provide hospitals for dangerous cases of tuberculosis, with the result that over 1000 beds have been established in the past year. At the present time there are, however, only 6000 beds, and 75,000 advanced cases which ought to be in hospitals. Fully 75,000 others could be treated at home, but it would be safer for the community to segregate them in institutions. Every advanced case of tuberculosis is a center from which the disease spreads, and unless the patient is taught how to be careful in his habits, and unless he has the proper home surroundings, he should be in a hospital, where he will not be a menace to others.

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis declares that at least 70,000 more beds in hospitals are needed for advanced cases of consumption. Until these are provided tuberculosis cannot be wiped out. If everybody in the United States gave $5 to provide hospitals for the dangerous consumptives, sufficient funds would be procured to destroy forever the threat of tuberculosis from this country.

EX-GOV. GUILD

Raps Descendants of the Pilgrims

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—With a notable list of speakers and an attendance of some 80 members, the annual dinner of the society of the Mayflower descendants was held at the Brunswick last evening, the 289th anniversary of the signing of the compact on the Mayflower in Provincetown harbor, Nov. 21, 1620.

The speakers were ex-Gov. Guild, Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, Pres. William E. Huntington of Boston university, and Atty. Gen. Malone, the first three being descendants from Mayflower passengers and initiated as members of the society.

Others at the head table were Hon. Asa P. French, who presided, and Mrs. Huntington, Mrs. Robert Shaw Russell, Miss Mary E. Wood and Gen. Clinton B. Sears.

Ex-Gov. Guild spoke of the use of historical societies in leading the present generation to see and perpetuate the spirit of the pilgrims with their struggles and sacrifices.

"The pilgrims were immigrants no less than are the Italians of today," he said, "and it is to our shame that it is the descendant of those early immigrants who stays away from primary or caucus and neglects an election for a bridge game while the new immigrant fulfils the duties of the citizen and votes for the officers of his state and country."

Atty. Gen. Malone spoke of the debt we owe to the first setters for freedom of religion and of education and advocated a study of their lives in the schools."

GRANITEVILLE

The anniversary mass for the deceased members of Court Westford, 170, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters, will be celebrated in St. Catherine's church on Thursday morning (Thanksgiving day), at 7.30 o'clock.

COTTON EXPORTS

Made a Great Gain This Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Cotton exports last month exceeded in value those of any earlier month in the history of the cotton trade of the United States. The total value of cotton exported in the month of October, 1909, was, according to the latest reports of the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, $88,883,350, while no other month ever reached the 80-million dollar line in the value of cotton sent out of the country. The value of the cotton exports for the 10 months ending with October, 1909, was $328,526,885, against $316,693,265 in the corresponding period of 1907, the highest record ever attained for a like period.

This highest record of value of cotton exports, made by the month of October and by the 10 months ending with October, 1909, suggests that the value of cotton exported in the calendar year 1909 may probably exceed that of any earlier year in the history of the export trade, and should the figures for November and December equal those of October, the total value of cotton exported would cross the 500-million dollar line.

This high-water mark in the value of cotton exported is the result of the combination of large quantities and high prices. The quantity of cotton exported in the 10 months ending with October, 1909, was 2,979,752,254 pounds, a total larger than that in the corresponding period of any earlier year except 1905, while the October export value per pound was higher than in October of any earlier year, averaging 13.4 cents in October, 1909, against 9.1 cents in October, 1908; 11.6 cents in October, 1907, and 10.8 cents in October, 1906. The average price per pound for the entire 10 months' period was over 11 cents per pound.

Cotton exports show a more rapid growth in recent years than those of any other of the natural products of the United States. In wheat and corn and meats the growth which characterized the closing quarter of the 19th century has been less apparent within the past few years, indicating that the growing home demand for these natural products is reducing the share thereof which we are able to spare for other parts of the world. In the case of cotton, however, while the home consumption has enormously increased, the production has fully kept pace with the home consumption and with the growing demands of the outside world. The quantity of cotton exported, which had never reached 3 billion pounds per annum prior to 1895, has but once fallen below 3 billions per annum since that year, and on two occasions—1905 and 1907—exceeded 4 billion pounds and seems likely to again cross the 4 billion line in the calendar year, 1909. The value of cotton exports never touched the 300 million dollar line until the fiscal year 1901 and has but once since that date fallen below 300 millions, and in the fiscal years 1906, 1907, 1908 and 1909, exceeded in each case 400 million dollars. The value of cotton exported in the decade ending with 1909 was $3,650,577,275, against $2,265,075 in the decade ending with 1899.

Europe is, of course, the principal market for this largest single article of our export trade. Of the 417 million dollars' worth of cotton exported in the fiscal year 1909, 172 3-4 million dollars' worth went to the United Kingdom, 112 1-2 millions to Germany, 51 millions to France, 27 millions to Italy, 14 1-4 millions to Spain, 7 1-4 millions to Belgium, 4 1-2 millions to Russia, and 8 1-2 millions to other sections of Europe; the remainder of the exports of the year being to Japan, 10 1-2 million dollars' value; Canada, 6 1-3 millions, and Mexico 2 1-4 millions.

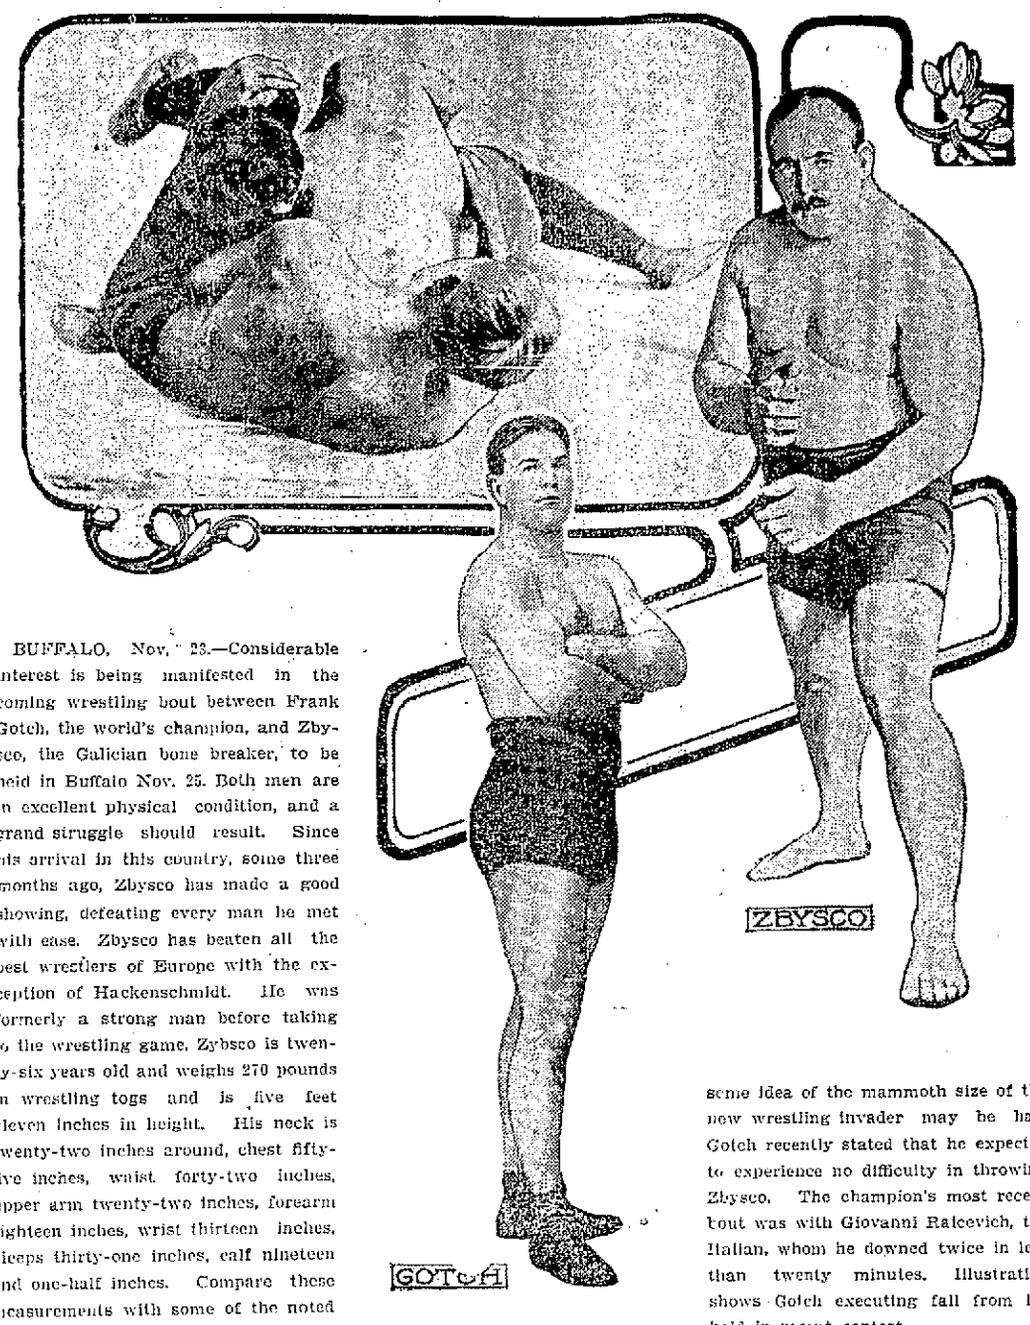
WORLD'S CHAMPION WRESTLER TO MEET ZBYSCO IN BOUT IN BUFFALO



BUFFALO, Nov. 23.—Considerable interest is being manifested in the coming wrestling bout between Frank Gotch, the world's champion, and Zbysco, the Galician bone breaker, to be held in Buffalo Nov. 25. Both men are in excellent physical condition, and a grand struggle should result. Since his arrival in this country, some three months ago, Zbysco has made a good showing, defeating every man he met with ease. Zbysco has beaten all the best wrestlers of Europe with the exception of Hackenschmidt. He was formerly a strong man before taking to the wrestling game. Zybsco is twenty-six years old and weighs 270 pounds in wrestling togs and is five feet eleven inches in height. His neck is twenty-two inches around, chest fifty-five inches, waist forty-two inches, upper arm twenty-two inches, forearm eighteen inches, wrist thirteen inches, biceps thirty-one inches, calf nineteen and one-half inches. Compare these measurements with some of the noted American wrestlers and boxers, and some idea of the mammoth size of the new wrestling invader may be had. Gotch recently stated that he expected to experience no difficulty in throwing Zbysco. The champion's most recent bout was with Giovanni Raicevich, the Italian, whom he downed twice in less than twenty minutes. Illustration shows Gotch executing fall from leg hold in recent contest.

HARRY POLLARD

Elected Treasurer of the Aero Club

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—Aviators and balloonists from many parts of New England listened to tales of the conquest of the air last night in an enthusiastic annual dinner of the Aero Club of New England at which Cortland F. Bishop of New York, president of the Aero Club of America, was the principal guest. Mr. Bishop offered a trophy for the longest balloon flight in 1910 made by a balloon ascending in New England.

HARRY G. POLLARD

Among those who spoke were: Prof. W. H. Pickering of Harvard university, who presided at the banquet; Charles J. Glidden and William Carroll Hill of Boston; H. Helm Clayton, the meteorologist; H. C. Crofts of Pittsfield; J. P. Coghlan, president of the Aero Club of Worcester; Thomas McAuliffe of Fall River; Mayor George H. Brown of Lowell; J. Walter Flagg of Worcester; J. B. Benton of Boston, and Leo Stevens of New York.

At the business meeting preceding the dinner the following officers were elected: President, Charles J. Glidden of Boston; vice presidents, Timothy E. Byrnes and Nathan L. Amster, both of Boston; treasurer, Harry G. Pollard of Lowell; secretary, Alfred R. Shrigley of Boston.

BOARD OF TRADE DINNER

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 23.—The annual dinner of the board of trade was held last evening, at the Parker house, with over 150 members and guests present. The speakers were Captain J. W. Miller, vice president of the Cape Cod Canal company; Charles H. Trent, former United States treasurer; Congressman William S. Greene of Fall River, and Rev. M. C. Julien of this city. President Herbert E. Cushman of the board presided at the dinner.

GREAT RECORD

MADE BY ST. JOHN'S NORMAL COLLEGE ELEVEN

That the St. John's Normal college of Danvers, Mass., which is under the supervision of the Xaverian Brothers, will occupy a prominent position in the sporting annals of the colleges in years of the future can be vouched for by the showing which the athletes of the college have already made in the different branches of sports.

On Thursday of this week the football team is matched to play the strong Prep. team of Boston college and the Danvers lads from what they have heard about their Boston brethren are fully confident of carrying off the victory. This will be the final game of the schedule.

The list of games played to this week is as follows:

St. John's started its record football season by shutting out Ipswich High to the tune of 55 to 0. This game was played on the beautiful and almost perfect grounds of the college team.

The next game saw the Prep. school boys playing the husky Lowell Textiles, on their grounds. Towards the latter part of the fiercely contested struggle the college boys from Danvers pushed the pigskin over for a touchdown, though Geary, the captain, missed the goal.

The third struggle took place on the home grounds of the Beverly High school team. Though Beverly is noted for having a fine squad, yet, after one of the very hardest struggles of the year they could only split even with the St. John's boys, the score being 6 to 6.

Then St. John's journeyed to Glen Forest, Lawrence, to play the so far undefeated veterans of Lawrence High. In a clean, most stubbornly fought battle the Prep. boys were downed by a score of 6 to 0. Though defeated, yet the St. John's boys were not ashamed of their work, for the spectators and officials said it was the best game played on the grounds during the present season.

In its fifth struggle, St. John's went to Brookline to play its first Boston game. In an almost perfectly played game and to the admiration of the hundreds of Greater Boston fans, the strong Brookline lads were shut out 26 to 0. Since this struggle the eyes of the football fans of Boston have eagerly scanned the newspaper narrations of the ensuing victorious struggles of the "Speedy Danvers Lads" as they were termed.

The sixth gridiron battle was fought on the home grounds against Melrose high school. In a very interesting contest, the Melrose high squad was shut out 24 to 0.

In the seventh game, St. John's was matched against the strong team which is scheduled to play Beverly High on Thanksgiving day, viz, the High School of Commerce, of Roxbury. At the close of the hard fought battle, which was witnessed by hundreds, the Roxbury lads found themselves defeated 16 to 0. They said they had never played against such a wonderful back as Joseph Lalor.

The eighth contest was the "annual game" with the old rivals, Danvers High. Great preparation and training were gone through in order to make this encounter a glorious and lasting memorial to the Prep. Boys of 1909. That they succeeded in making it so, was witnessed by the two or three thousand spectators who were gathered at Danvers Park, many coming from Boston, Somerville, and the surrounding cities and towns. After two long periods of 25 minutes each, during which was played the hardest fought game ever witnessed at Danvers park before, and watched by the largest crowd ever before gathered there the college boys were victorious, the score being 15 to 0, thus making themselves the champions of Greater Salem.

The credit of the great success which the Prep. College has had in football this season is not so much due to a few stars, although the school has several, as to the concentrated force, strength, persistence and perseverance, of all its football members, both of the first and second teams, thus verifying the adage that, "In union there is strength." Invaluable assistance has been given by the indefatigableness, perseverance, and foresight of the coach, Arthur Sullivan. Great help has also been received from the sub-coach, Harrison Briggs, the former Salem High Star.

MILLIONS LOST

Sec'y MacVeagh Tells How the United States Was Defrauded

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Institution of criminal prosecutions against perpetrator against "sleeper trunk" customs frauds with ramifications in all parts of the country; the pressing of existing indictments to avoid lapses under the statute of limitations and the customs investigation generally were discussed at a conference at the treasury department yesterday. Sec. of the Treasury MacVeagh, Attorney General Wickersham, Collector Loeb of the port of New York, and United States Dist Atty. Henry Wise of the southern district of New York participated.

Sec'y MacVeagh announced that the $2,000,000 which the American Sugar Refining Co. had paid over to the government on account of evasion of duties was regarded by the government as a complete settlement for all its underweighing frauds but that amount affected no other evasions of duty and in no wise figured as to any other matters, and that the government intended to recover much more money as the result of the frauds the so-called trust had committed.

The conference lasted over two and a half hour. At its end Sec. MacVeagh smilingly referred to the sugar frauds over-shadowing in interest one of the most important phases of the whole affair—frauds by importers bringing in trunks with false bottoms involving losses to the government of millions of dollars.

Collector Loeb explained that where this had been possible in the past rules had been adopted under the present regime which would preclude any such frauds in the future.

THANKSGIVING

Plenty for the Holiday Dinner

Now for Thanksgiving dinner and what are we going to have? This is the question that confronts the housekeeper, and you can make up your mind "right smart" that whatever you select you'll pay well for, yet prices, as a whole, do not show much advance over last year. The following retail prices were gathered this afternoon, and a shortage of turkeys is reported, yet most of the dealers allowed there would be turkeys enough to go 'round: Turkey, 26 to 32 cents a pound; chickens, 25; fowl, 22; ducks, 25; geese, 22; celery, Boston market, 15 a bunch; common, 10; lettuce, 5; butter beans, 15; green beans, 10; white turnips, 25 cents a peck; squash, 3 cents a pound; pumpkins, 3 cents a pound; cranberries, 8 to 10 cents a quart, sweet potatoes, 12 pounds for 25 cents; spinnach 15 cents a peck; pigeons, $3 a dozen; cucumbers, 8 cents apiece; roast pork, 16 cents a pound; nuts, 15 cents a pound, two pounds for 25 cents; best mixture, 18 cents, two pounds for 35 cents; grapes: Concord, 15 cents a basket; Malagas, 15 to 20c; oranges, 20 to 50 cents a dozen; apples from 20 to 40 cents a dozen, or 40 to 75 cents a peck; bananas, 20 to 25 cents a dozen.

ON CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

FREEPORT, Me., Nov. 23.—A co-operative plan for running the shoe factory which has been operated for 20 years by A. W. Shaw of this town and J. W. Amick of Yarmouth was accepted last night at a meeting of the employes, who were given the privilege of buying the preferred stock amounting to $200,000, in a new company, while the owners of the business retain the common stock. $100,000 in all. Mr. Shaw became president of the new company; Mr. Amick treasurer, and Paul D. Bibber, secretary.

The new company will be known as the A. W. Shaw corporation.

The factory employs 350 hands and the payroll amounts to $3500 a week. The company has jobbing houses in Boston, Chicago and Wheeling.

CHRISTIE MACDONALD ASKS DIVORCE FROM HER HUSBAND

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Mrs. William Winter Jefferson, known to the comic opera stage as Christie MacDonald, a gifted and popular actress, has sued her husband, who is a son of the late Joseph Jefferson, for divorce. The suit was filed at Buffalo and has been placed in the hands of a referee. Mr. Jefferson is now touring the southern states in a repertory of the plays made famous by his father, while his wife is with Andrew Mack's company. They were married in May, 1901, at the Jefferson seaside place, Crow's Nest, Buzzards Bay. Europe was visited on the honeymoon, and for some time thereafter Mrs. Jefferson quit the stage. Later, when they found that they were incompatible, she returned to her work. Last July the fact that they were living apart became known, but at that time it was denied that a divorce was contemplated. It was reported that one source of domestic trouble had been Mrs. Jefferson's desire to live with her relatives, while the husband preferred a household of his own.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The death in Newark, N. J., of Henry Colter, who was 70 years old, a veteran of the Civil war has revealed the fact that he devoted the last 30 years of his life searching for a legacy of $200,000 which was bequeathed him by a stranger who had wronged him half a century ago.

The discovery was made by his sister, Mrs. James H. Fleming, who is past 70 and who lives with her son-in-law, Henry Helms, at 224 17th street, Brooklyn. She had not seen her brother in 55 years until she looked upon him in death a few days ago. And in nearly threescore years the only tidings she received of him were borne on a postal card stating that he was "alive and well."

Before he was 20 years old Colter went to Portland, Ore., where, with a man named Lane, he engaged in the wholesale grocery business. They grew rich rapidly. Every few months Colter went to San Francisco by ship to bank the profits.

On one of these journeys, when he had $12,000 in gold in a satchel, and the vessel was only two days out from Portland, Colter was stricken with fever. Realizing that delirium was about to seize him, he intrusted the money to a young friend who shared his stateroom. This companion also took the fever, and fearing to trust the satchel to anyone, he threw it in a dark corner under the berth. That was the last ever seen of it.

The men recovered soon after the ship reached San Francisco. A search was made for the money, but it could not be found. Information that Colter received led him to suspect a Brazilian, who had been a passenger on the vessel. Colter learned that this man had gone to New York, and he followed him east as soon as his health would permit.

Ignorant of the Brazilian's name except that with which the west had supplied him gratuitously, but with an indelible mental picture of the thief, Colter took the trail. He carried on his search alone and after a few months learned that the Brazilian had sailed for his native land.

Colter's funds were about exhausted. He wrote to his partner in Portland for money and waited three months for a reply and none came. Colter could not extend his credit in New York, nor could he borrow money enough to return west.

He was in a quandary what steps to take when war was declared between north and south. Colter enlisted in the union ranks, fought with honor and when peace came he went back west with the pay he had earned as a soldier. Things were greatly changed. He had been given up as dead by his friends.

He was about to engage in business again when he read in a paper of the death of the Brazilian. The man left a confession in which he told of robbing Colter of the $12,000. With this money he had bought a sugar plantation and had amassed a fortune. As recompense for the injury he had done, the planter bequeathed Colter $200,000, the story said.

Colter at once started east, but all attempts to secure the fortune from this end failed. His pension was not sufficient to allow him to go to Brazil. Wounds received in battle left him physically unfit to earn good wages. With what little he managed to save he renewed his efforts to secure the legacy. Scores of letters were written to Brazil, lawyers communicated with, all to no avail.

Tenaciously Colter hoped and worked on. To possess the legacy was the dominant purpose of his life. Death ended the struggle. He had worked silently; not even his closest friends knew the secret. And it might have died with him had not Mrs. Fleming, in going through the papers he left, accidentally found the records of the search.

Mr. Helms said last night that he would now take up the work death had halted and make every effort to get the bequest for Mrs. Fleming.

A. H. CLUER DEAD

Well Known Centralville Resident Passed Away

Arthur H. Cluer, one of Centralville's best known business men, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 3 Wachusetts street, aged 54 years, 7 months. A rupture of a valve of the heart, complicated with dropsy, was the cause of death, and Mr. Cluer had suffered more or less from heart trouble for the past four years, although until about six months ago it did not take on a violent form. About six weeks ago as he was about to pay his last visit of the season to his summer home at Hampton he was seized with a bad attack of heart trouble and taking to his bed never left it again.

Mr. Cluer was born in Canton, April 12, 1855. He was educated in the schools of Stoughton, and in 1872 he went to Littleton, where he learned the trade of harness maker. In the fall of 1875 he came to Lowell and at first went to work for John G. Allen, at that time located in Central street. In 1877 he engaged in the business of harness making for himself, locating at 340 Bridge street, where he remained up to the time of his death.

Mr. Cluer was deeply interested in the affairs of the Middlesex North Agricultural society and had been president of that organization since Oct. 11, 1904. He was also a director of the Dracut Grange. He was the founder of Centralville lodge, I. O. O. F., it being wholly upon his initiative that the organization came into being with a membership of 300. He was also a member of Centralville lodge of Rebekahs; Pilgrim encampment, I. O. O. F.; Canton Pawtucket, Patriarchs Militant; Pentucket lodge, A. F. of M., and of Centralville council, Royal Arcanum. Mr. Cluer was a president and director of the Lowell Co-operative association from 1891 to 1894, and under his administration the company prospered greatly. He was an attendant at High Street Congregational church.

All of his life he was a staunch republican. He was a wonderfully good organizer and demonstrated his capacities many times in this way. He was in the common council two terms, and later was a representative for two terms, 1898 and 1899. For many years he was connected with the republican city committee and was treasurer of that organization many years.

Mr. Cluer is survived by his wife, Mrs. Addie A. Cluer, to whom he was married Jan. 14, 1879; one sister, Mrs. Geo. H. Stone of Claremont, N. H., and one brother, Alvin W. Cluer of this city.

KIDNAPPED GIRL

Found After Search of Three Years

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—After a search of three years, Amelia Johnson, 13 years of age, daughter of Ephraim Johnson, a horse dealer of Elizabeth, N. J., who was kidnapped at Norfolk, Va., in November, 1906, was found yesterday by her father and brothers in a south side rooming house.

Detectives accompanied the girl's relatives and they arrested Zalacha Demitro, a gypsy, and his son, Ephraim Demitro. The elder Demitro is said to be king of a band of gypsies who make a business of kidnapping children for ransom.

LIFE ISN'T WORTH LIVING

When This Statement is Made It May Be Generally Attributed to the Lack of Good Health

We want to talk to people who are nervous, who suffer frequent headaches, who don't enjoy their food, who are irritable, quickly lose their temper, who are so exhausted that they feel they must give up, and have become so despondent that life doesn't seem worth living. We believe we know what is the matter with these people in this condition, and if they will follow our advice we can tell them how to regain good health and that buoyancy of feeling which makes life seem surrounded with happiness and sunshine.

Most of the above described conditions are chiefly caused by what is commonly called catarrh, a "below par" condition of mucous membranes. This delicate lining of certain of the body cavities becomes weakened, inflamed and congested until the whole system is weakened, mental depression ensuing as one of the results. The wise way to overcome this condition is through a treatment of the general system. We have the treatment, and we are so positive it will produce the results we claim for it that we will supply it to any one with the understanding that we will return to them every penny paid us in every instance where the treatment is not in every way satisfactory and beneficial to them.

We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, which is a scientifically devised alterative tonic and body builder, its action being to aid the body in its effort to re-establish the natural and healthy functions of the mucous membranes.

Rexall Mucu-Tone thus acts to expel the "catarrhal poison," restore the mucous cells to good health, tone up the whole body, allay inflammation, remove congestion and stimulate the system to healthy activity. It is splendid for aiding in the building up of flesh and muscle tissue and removing weaknesses.

Come to our store and get a bottle of Mu-cu-Tone, and after giving it a reasonable trial, if you are not satisfied, simply tell us so, and we will hand back your money without question. Surely nothing could be more fair than this. Rexall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Lowell only at our store,—The Rexall Store—Hall & Lyon Co., 67-69 Merrimack street.

COUNTY OFFICIALS

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 23.—After a fruitless night's search for traces of the murderer of Charles Fellows, a grocer at Bow, who was shot as he was about to enter his yard late last night, the assistance of the county authorities was invoked today.

Mr. Fellows kept a store about a mile from his home and was in the habit of driving to and fro with considerable money in his pocket. He returned at 11.30 p. m. and just before he drove into his yard two shots were fired, evidently at close range. One bullet entered the right breast and passed through the body while the other struck the left breast and was found embedded in the shoulder. It was from a 32-calibre weapon. The wounded man staggered into the house and gasping "I am shot" expired in his wife's arms.

The neighbors were immediately aroused and for the rest of the night a constantly increasing force of men searched the vicinity without finding anything more than a few footprints on the soft earth. Measurements were taken of these marks.

The police believe that robbery was the motive and that the highwaymen discovered that Fellows was not killed by the bullets and did not dare to rob him.

Neighboring cities have been asked to look out for suspicious characters although in the absence of any tangible clues the local authorities have little hope of definite results.

FRANK SLAVIN

Issues Challenge to John L. Sullivan

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Frank Slavin has come to life with a challenge from Victoria, B. C., in which he offers to fight Charley Mitchell, John L. Sullivan, Jake Kilrain or Joe Choynski in one night and says that he will guarantee to "stop" them all inside of 10 rounds each for the modest sum of $10,000. If he doesn't stop them he will give his adversaries $10,000.

ALLEGE ATTELL STALLED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 23.—Abe Attell was given the decision over Jimmy Moran, the Brooklyn featherweight in their eight round bout tonight at the Phoenix club. Moran was outclassed in every round, but was game and apparently able to continue for several rounds at the finish. The betting was 10 to 7 that Moran would not be on his feet at the end.

On account of considerable betting and the fact that Attell did not extend himself until the last three rounds, charges were made after the bout that Moran was treated leniently by the featherweight champion. There were no clean knockdowns and the only damage was a bloody nose and a partly closed eye by Moran as a result of frequent jabs by Attell.

In the sixth round Moran slipped and fell to the mat, but was up before the count started. Attell tried for a knockout in the seventh, but fell from the force of his own wild swings. One of the largest houses in the history of local bouts saw the sport. Hock Bones, an undefeated southern welterweight, knocked out Mint Lee in two rounds in the preliminary.

CLOSE CALL FOR COULON

JOHNSTOWN, Penn., Nov. 22.—Johnny Coulon received a blow in the third round of the bout with Patsy Brannigan of Pittsburg tonight which almost made a new champion. Coulon and Brannigan were going six rounds at 114 pounds and Coulon started off like a winner, jabbing and cutting the Pittsburg boy unmercifully.

At the opening of the third round Brannigan got in a vicious right swing which landed flush on the jaw of Coulon and sent him reeling across the ring. The little champion almost went to the floor after he had been stopped by the ropes. He clinched when Brannigan rushed him and by hanging on until the referee pulled them apart, managed to save himself. By the end of the round he was himself again and for the remaining three rounds held his own.

Willie Coulon outpointed Brannigan, the Chicago champion was punished much more and admitted that he was given one of the hardest bouts in his career by the Pittsburg boxer.

SCRATCHED HEAD TILL IT WAS RAW

Eczema Broke Out on Baby's Head Causing All Her Hair to Fall Out —Could Not Sleep—Spread of Fearful Disease Averted and Easy, Economical Cure Effected, for

A FRIEND ADVISED USE OF CUTICURA

"When my little girl was four months old her head broke out with eczema. I tried everything but nothing did her any good. She could not sleep at night and she did nothing but scratch her head, which was like a raw piece of meat. All of her hair fell out. A friend of mine told me about Cuticura and the good it did for her little boy. After the first cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment I used I could see a change. I used just two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and my little girl's head is cured. Her hair is growing fine and long and her skin is like velvet. Friends say that my quick action in using the Cuticura Remedies kept the eczema from spreading all over her body.

"I still use the Cuticura Soap and always keep a box of Cuticura Ointment in the house. I used them for my hands, which were so badly chapped that the skin would crack and bleed. I would cry with pain. My hands are entirely cured now. You certainly have my permission to publish this letter in any paper, for I know how wonderful Cuticura is. Mrs. F. Davis, 209 E. Indiana St., Chicago Ill., Jan. 18, 1909."

Itching Devils Are little patches of eczema on the skin, scalp or hands which are instantly relieved and speedily cured, in the majority of cases, by warm baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle anointings of Cuticura Ointment, purest and sweetest of emollients.

Cuticura Soap (25c.), Cuticura Ointment (50c.) and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole Props., 135 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

THE TEST OF PARTY LOYALTY.

Today the people pass upon the arguments of the several candidates for nomination for office, and those defeated will show their loyalty by accepting the result without murmur or protest and even without feeling the bitterness of disappointment. All the candidates for the mayoralty conducted a clean campaign and all promised to support the nominee so that there should be no shirking that duty. The primaries held tonight do not mark the end of the world and the man who does his duty by the party is likely to be remembered later on, whereas he who adopts a different course will be only placing a greater handicap upon his own political future. It is the duty of every democrat to bow to the will of the majority. Defeat of this kind is the test of party loyalty. Those who accept the decision of the people and support the nominees can come up again as candidates with more favorable prospects of success.

THE PEERS WILL BE DEFEATED.

There is every indication that the lords will go down in defeat in their appeal to the country on the question of rejecting the financial budget prepared by the chancellor of the Exchequer. They will muster all their force at the final vote on November 25th and it is likely that nearly five hundred peers will assemble to vote upon the question. It is expected that at least three-fourths of them will vote against the budget.

That will make a general election throughout the United Kingdom inevitable. The British premier will make the issue upon whether the house of lords will continue to dominate popular legislation by use of the veto power or whether the power of the upper house will be so restricted that it will not operate in defeating measures demanded by the people and especially financial measures.

It is expected by the most astute politicians in England that the liberals will win a signal victory. Such a victory will be interpreted as a mandate from the people to curtail the privileges of the peers, and that undoubtedly will be done. The liberal party will then be able to carry out its program of reform, financial and otherwise, including the cession of home rule to Ireland, a matter upon which the liberal party stands pledged for some time past.

The defeat of the lords will also give effect to the new system of taxation under which the privileged class will be forced to contribute to a much greater extent to the support of the government. This will be the first blow to hereditary privilege as represented in the house of lords. In all probability the whole constitution of the upper house will be changed and an arrangement made by which the members will be elected by the people or at least chosen in some representative way so that men will not inherit seats and hold the same for life wholly regardless of whether they have any qualification for the place.

ABOLISH THE LOBBY.

The lobby maintained at the state house is a republican institution, maintained as an offshoot or adjunct to the republican state committee for influencing legislation by the usual methods, or speaking more plainly, for the primary purpose of fleecing public service and other corporations on pretence of controlling legislation in their favor by the use of money among the members of the legislature.

Under fire from the democratic candidates in the recent campaign some of the men who have been most prominent in the lobby have been sent to the rear and among these is J. Otis Wardell of Haverhill. This gentleman has been a member of the state committee for a quarter of a century and fell by the wayside at the last state election.

In 1908 Mr. Wardell, a member of the state committee and a dominant force in controlling legislation, reported that he had received the following sums:—

From Lloyd's Plate Glass and Insurance company, $2000.

Charter, French King Rapids Power company, $2500.

Chadwick—Boston Lead company, $1000.

Sale of Electricity, annual salary . . .

It would be interesting to know how much he received as "salary" for the "Sale of Electricity" or as salary for the Boston Elevated Railway. These were probably his largest items. These amounts were given as payment for using his influence to promote legislation favoring these interests or else to defeat legislation opposed to the same interests.

What was done with the money is not stated. There is no accounting of its distribution. That is left to conjecture, but it is supposed to be used where it will do the "most good." It is well that a body maintained openly for such purposes should be abolished.

Another lobbyist of considerable note is Charles F. Choate, Jr., also a prominent member of the republican state committee and legislative counsel for the New Haven railroad. For his services as counsel during the year 1908 he received the sum of $19,018.29. These companies do not hand out large amounts for nothing and Mr. Choate undoubtedly earned his money or he would not have received it.

It is not in accord with public policy for such corporations to hire men to influence legislation. These returns show that the custom of maintaining a lot of politicians at the state house to influence legislation by the use of money or otherwise is a source of political corruption that should be banished. Were the lobbyists outlawed in the state house we presume they would establish headquarters close by in order to be within easy reach of the legislators and so that they could continue their work. But even that would not be nearly so flagrant an abuse as the lobby as it present form.

KEEP ON SMILING

"Whatever the weather may be," says he—
"Whatever the weather may be,
That's a-making the sun shine everywhere;
An' the world of gloom is a world of glee,
Wid the bird in the bush, an' the bud in the tree,
An' the fruit on the stim o' the bough," says he,
"Whatever the weather may be," says he—
James Whitcomb Riley.

A story is told of a king who went into his garden one morning and found everything withering and dying. He asked an oak that stood near the gate what the trouble was. He found that it was sick of life and determined to die, because it was not tall and beautiful like the pine. The pine was out of heart because it could not bear grapes like the vine; the vine was going to throw its life away because it could not stand erect and have as fine fruit as the pomegranate; and so on throughout the garden. Coming to the heart's-ease, the king found its bright face uplifted, as full of cheerfulness as ever. Said the king: "Well, heart's-ease, I am glad to find one brave little flower in this general discouragement and dying. You don't seem one bit disheartened." "No, your majesty. I know I am of small account; but I concluded you wanted a heart's-ease when you planted me. If you had wanted an oak, or a pine, or a vine, or a pomegranate you would have set one out. So I am bound to be the best heart's-ease that ever I can."

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Miss Ethel M. Arnold, granddaughter of Dr. Arnold of Rugby, niece of Matthew Arnold and sister of Mrs. Humphrey Ward, will return to America next January for her second lecture tour.

President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton university has been made a trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York. He is said to be the first college president admitted to the board of any of the larger life companies.

By the will of Mrs. Elizabeth Goddard Heald of Newton, the sum of $500 has been left to Abbot academy. The bequest was without conditions. Mrs. Heald also bequeathed to the school a set of books, the "Library of the World's Best Literature," edited by Charles Dudley Warner.

Prof. Albert A. Michelson of the University of Chicago, to whom was awarded the Nobel prize for important researches in the measurement of light waves, received the honorary degree of master of liberal arts and doctor of philosophy from the University of Leipsic on the occasion of the celebration of its fiftieth anniversary.

Fraulien Winkler, founder of the German American Friendship club, has just returned to New York from Germany. She brought back a trunk filled with contributions to the bazaar which the club will hold in its rooms during the last week of this month. Among the contributions was a collection of China from the royal porcelain works at Berlin. This was sent by the Empress of Germany, who only recently extended her patronage to the club. The American Countess von Waldersee, who is the protectress of the German branch of the work, gave a money contribution to buy things made in Germany. Count Zeppelin sent autograph cards with pictures of airships on them, and the Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin sent china.

The Princess zu Schonaich-Carolath selected a number of articles from her own personal belongings as her contribution and added a boy's vest, knit by herself. The self-supporting women of the empire contributed a collection of embroidery, lace and other fine needlework. The club is composed entirely of young women and its purpose is to extend a helping hand to young German women on arrival in this country.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde" was presented before a fair sized audience at the Opera House last evening and it was well received. The cast was an extraordinarily strong one and Frederick W. Pierce in the dual role of "Jekyl" and "Hyde" was exceptionally strong.

The play tells of the discovery of a drug by "Dr. Jekyl" which will bring out a second nature. The doctor experiments on himself. When under the influence of this drug he goes about as "Hyde," a demon who delights in killing and torturing.

The piece is a very heavy one and demands a good actor. Mr. Pierce played well and was supported by a fine company.

"THE CONVICT'S DAUGHTER."

Tonight at the Opera House "The Convict's Daughter" will be seen. Although in its fourth season, the play has been witnessed by larger audiences than any other melodrama written in previous years. It appeals to every class of theatregoers, from the boy in the gallery to the mother of the family; to sweethearts and sisters, and the father who loves his home.

The first act opens at Col. Gould's home, with its pretty homelike cottage, beautiful flowers and shade trees, and the air of perfect happiness and contentment. One commences to feel its sunshine and warmth from the very beginning, and the interest never flags from the first to the fifth and final acts. One is carried from one scene to another with keen excitement, and a desire that right shall succeed and wrong shall reap its just reward, and sympathy for the innocent child of the convict and her downtrodden father.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD".

Those who love sweet music and those who enjoy the scent of new mown hay can have their several tastes gratified by a visit to "The Old Homestead." This charming play has been before the public for twenty-three years, and is now on its twenty-fourth annual tour. It is the same simple story of rural life in New England that it was away back in 1885 when it was first produced as a finished drama at the Boston theatre. And for eleven years prior to that Mr. Thompson had been presenting a play called "Joshua Whitcomb," in which he portrayed the sturdy old farmer, Uncle Josh. And even before that time Mr. Thompson had given for some years in the variety halls a sketch having Uncle Josh as its central figure. So, taking it altogether, the character of the kindly New England farmer, Uncle Josh, has been before the theatregoing public for nearly forty years. The dramatic critic hesitates when he attempts to write anything new of "The Old Homestead." When a character has become so identified with the American stage as has Uncle Josh by a life of nearly two score years, the pen may well falter in the effort to say anything new. And yet this much may be said: Denman Thompson, in presenting to the American stage a typical American character as it had never been presented before, endeared himself to the theatregoing public and made for himself a niche in the Temple of Fame as an actor and author.

"EAST LYNNE"

Local theatregoers will be interested in the announcement of the appearance next Thursday, Nov. 25, of the favorite emotional drama, "East Lynne," the greatest of all emotional plays. The company has been selected with discrimination and in the matter of scenic equipment and accessories the presentation of "East Lynne" will measure up to a high standard. The engagement at the Opera House is for matinee and night only.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM"

"Ten Nights in a Barroom," which comes to the Opera House next Friday and Saturday, is a play full of human interest and bubbling over with quaint humor, laughable situations and comedy types of characters that have made the whole world laugh, and is a play true to life, sentiment and laughter being happily blended. There are many features in "Ten Nights in a Barroom" that make it a play with everlasting life.

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

"Brewster's Millions," a clever dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's entertaining story, which scored a pronounced success here last season, will be the attraction at the Opera House soon. Robert Ober will be seen in the character of "Monty" Brewster.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

A Chinese act in which not a word but the purest of English is spoken is the headliner at Hathaway's theatre this week. The scene of the play is a street in Chinatown of San Francisco, and there's enough of the "chink" atmosphere and surroundings to force the belief that one is in the heart of Chinatown. But it is the language that makes you sit up and take notice. It is good English, beautifully embellished, and it is spoken with fine diction. To say that it is an innovation in vaudeville is putting it mildly. The name of the piece is "Suey San," and it is called a "Chinese classic." It was written by Carlyle Moore, and is presented by Mabel Bardine & Co. It is a courageous departure from anything that has held the boards in vaudeville and criticism is necessarily limited, not only because of its newness, but there does not seem to be a great deal to build upon. Its very newness, the boldness of its departure from the erstwhile Chinese acts, that are rarely great favorites, will further its appeal to the public. The very nature of the music bespeaks a tragedy, and everybody knows beforehand that murder will be committed. You may like "Suey San" and you may not—it all depends, but it's the day's best bet that you will like Mabel Bardine, who plays the character of "Suey San."

The valley of Nanking in China couldn't boast of a prettier girl than "Suey San," and she loved "Cho Sang" even better than she loved the waving fields of rice. "Cho Sang," was only a laundryman, but he was noble, good and true, and he loved "Suey San." She was to him the sweetest flower in the valley of Nanking and he came to America to open the way for a more profitable future than was possible at home. He settled in San Francisco. "Chan Lee," the keeper of the worst of gambling houses, coveted the fair "Suey San," and determined that he would make her his slave. "Chan Lee," too, settled in 'Frisco, and he was cock of the walk because his gambling house netted him untold profit. "Cho Sang" had a laundry next door to Lee's home and to that miserable place came "Suey San." "Lee" had succeeded in having her decoyed to America, to his hell home. "Suey San" knew what was in store for her, but she was beautifully defiant. "Lee" locked her in his house while he went to his gambling joint a little way down the valley. "Suey San" opened a window and sang and prayed. "Cho Sang" was working in his laundry. He heard her voice and finally located her. She told him her story and then everybody knew there would be something doing. The keeper of the gambling hell was on his way to "Suey San" but he never reached her. "Cho Sang" leaped upon him and in less time than it takes to tell it there was one less gambler in 'Frisco's Chinatown. "Sang" put "Lee's" body in a laundry basket and just then a policeman came along. He told "Cho Sang," who stood in the door of his laundry, calmly smoking his pipe to take his laundry in off the street. "Cho Sang" grabbed the basket and the load was about all that he could carry. He got away with it, however, without the cop getting on and then the curtain went down. The piece has a prologue spoken by a Chinese girl. Miss Bardine plays splendidly the character of the Chinese girl. George Gebhardt makes a good Chinese gambler, and William Morris as the lunkerman is all that the part calls for.

Anna Chandler is heard in songs and imitations and she is very clever. She is the best singing comedienne we have heard for many moons but it is a toss up as to whether it is her singing or her bewitching mannerisms that win her the applause that was accorded her yesterday. She gives a very good imitation of a "male baritone," and boy soprano. Anna Chandler has you going from the moment she appears until she throws you the parting kiss. There's a naughty little twinkle in her eye and she appeals to one as being chock full of good natured fun and humor. It's worth a day in the garden to hear her do the "Wilderbish Rag." Her last offering last night was a coon song. It was refreshingly new and very pleasing. Gracie Emmett and her second and elongated husband is here again. Gracie hasn't gained in flesh and her husband hasn't lost any. It's fat he didn't have any to lose. . . . doesn't make any difference how many times Gracie Emmett & Co. may come to Lowell they will be always welcome. They open a barrel of fun every time they come. Their act is good and if there wasn't another thing on the bill at Hathaway's this week those who have seen "Mrs. Murphy's Second Husband" before would go to see it again. It is one round of continuous laughter and what is really good never grows old. Supporting Miss Emmett are Miss Nellie Collins, Ben J. Miles and George F. Webster.

The Great Ergotti and his two Lilliputians close the performance and the closing act is a pretty one. It is an acrobatic act and is called a "European Risley Novelty." The foot work of Ergotti rivals the best of Japanese foot balancing and the way that he handles the Lilliputians is a caution.

Marron and Helges pass out some ragtime mistrelsy and they are good. Their laughing song is the piece de resistance. El Barto is booked as "The Merry Wizard," and there certainly is some class to El Barto. He's a magician all right and his explanations of how a trick is done are more complicated than the trick itself. The bill is opened by Burt and Lottie Walton, who indulge in dancing and acrobatics. They are very, very good and were given a warm reception at both performances yesterday. The motion pictures are good. Taking it all in all, this week's bill is exceptionally good. Performances will be given every afternoon and evening throughout the remainder of the week, with special seats at the matinees for women.

STAR THEATRE

The amateur actors will hold a rally at the Star theatre tonight, which will be lively, funny and as well attended as any of the political rallies in and about the town. In the first place the boys will rally around the footlights, and the crowd will rally around the theatre. It is nothing unusual to listen to a discourse on "Politics" by one of the characters. Kensto's educated dogs, the smartest canines before the public, and Ted Lotell, eccentric comedian, are feature vaudeville attractions. The admission of five cents allows a seat.

THEATRE VOYONS

The star feature of the bill at the Theatre Voyons today is "Her Dramatic Career" one of the best acted story pictures ever given on the screen. The story is an interesting one full of life and action and the interest is intense from beginning to the end. "Up San Juan Hill" is a second feature and it is an exceptionally good melodrama with some really sensational scenes. A laughable comedy and an instructive industrial picture complete the picture program. A most pleasing duet "In The Twilight" is the musical feature of the show.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The new bill at the Academy which was presented yesterday was a splendid one, every picture and vaudeville act scored a big hit. Marlowe, Myers and Murri in their travesty entitled "A Lesson in Shakespeare," introducing the burlesque balcony scene of "Romeo and Juliet" was a scream from start to finish. Rube Dickenson as the ex-justice of the peace, offered a quaint impersonation of a down east Yankee, Grace Furnside sang "Molly Lee." The feature biograph picture "A Sweet Revenge," a magnificent production which shows that while revenge is sweet still it generally leaves a bad taste, and in this case shows how theatrical a girl was when she learned that her revengeful plans had miscarried.

CANNOT AGREE

No Progress Towards Strike Settlement

BARRE, Vt., Nov. 23.—The strike or lockout of the 4000 granite cutters in this vicinity, which has been on for a week, will continue indefinitely, committees from the Barre Granite Manufacturers' Association and from the Northfield Cutters' Union having made no progress toward a settlement at a conference held last night. Neither side was prepared to make any concessions, each insisting that the other had broken the agreements. The only means of settling the controversy appears to lie in the drawing up of a new agreement, although there would still be much wrangling over this, probably.

There have been no disturbances since the inception of the trouble. Many cutters are leaving the affected places for quarries in other sections of the state and the affected manufacturers are forced to see orders of considerable value go to others. The railroads, too, have felt the effects of the strike, laying off all the night yard and freight crews as a result of the lessening of shipments.

THEEE OIL KINGS, HOME OF TRUST, LAWYER AND JUDGE WHO RULED AGAINST COMBINE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—It is believed in Washington that the decision written by Judge Walter H. Sanborn of the United States circuit court of the eastern district of Missouri dissolving the Standard Oil company of New Jersey for violation of the Sherman antitrust law will be upheld by the United States supreme court, for the decision is along the lines of that rendered in the case of the Northern Securities company. Moritz Rosenthal, the attorney who has fought the case out so far for the oil trust, gave immediate notice that it would be appealed to the supreme court. Here are the names of the seven multi-millionaires mentioned in the decision; John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Henry M. Flagler, Henry H. Rogers (deceased), John D. Archbold, Oliver H. Payne and Charles M. Pratt. The thirty-seven subsidiary corporations affected by the ruling are: Anglo-American Oil company, limited; Atlantic Refining company, Buckeye Pipe Line company, Borne-Scrymser company, Chesebrough Manufacturing company, consolidated; Cumberland Pipe Line company, Colonial Oil company, Continental Oil company, Crescent Pipe Line company, Henry C. Folger, Jr., and Calvin N. STRONG PROTEST

Against Tuberculosis Camp

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 23.—The controversy over the establishment of a tuberculosis preventorium for children in the cottage occupied by the late Grover Cleveland here, resulted yesterday in the arrest of Supt. Wheelwright of the institution. He was charged with "importing children into the state" under a law passed in 1907 and aimed principally at immigrants. Until a legal test is made, however, it may prevent a group of well known philanthropists from bringing children here.

FAVORS STORROW

"Jim" Donovan Wants Him for Mayor

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—President James Donovan of the democratic city committee and his ward 9 political organization, the Quincy club, with its membership of 300, unanimously indorsed James J. Storrow's candidacy for mayor at a meeting held last night at the Columbia theatre building.

Donovan's action will, it is believed, cause widespread surprise among his followers in the democratic city machine, but it was no such surprise to John F. Fitzgerald, who declared that Donovan realized he was not welcome in any other camp.

While Donovan and his supporters in his home ward were convening for the purpose of endorsing Storrow as an anti-Fitzgerald candidate, Senator James H. Doyle, his ablest lieutenant in the democratic city machine, was declaring for Fitzgerald for mayor.

To the rank and file of the democracy in Boston, Doyle's action was as much of a surprise as that of Donovan. His example will be followed by several of the other leaders who were pledged to fight Fitzgerald for mayor if former Congressman Joseph H. O'Neil, John R. Murphy or Congressman John A. Keliher had been selected by Donovan's machine as the mayoralty candidate.

Following the announcement last night that Donovan had joined the Storrow forces, came another announcement that Congressman Keliher, disgusted with the condition of affairs, had decided to return to Washington without interfering in the mayoralty campaign. Congressman Keliher, his friends say, was ready to run for mayor if Donovan said the word.

Donovan's action in indorsing the Storrow candidacy was the most cheering information that the campaign committee of the Citizens' League candidate has received since the nomination a week ago. With Donovan's support, Manager Billings is confident Mr. Storrow can defeat Hibbard, Fitzgerald and any other mayoralty candidate who remains in the fight. Within the next few days Donovan will be tendered a position with Manager Billings in organizing a strong Storrow movement in every section of the city.

Politicians about the city last night predicted that Donovan's declaration in favor of Candidate Storrow would aid in simplifying the fight and that from now on lines would be closely drawn among Hibbard, Fitzgerald and Storrow. Several of Donovan's closest supporters in the anti-Fitzgerald movement for the past year declared last night that he would be unable to carry any of the ward leaders with him except Chairman D. F. McGillicuddy of ward 10.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Cardin May be Accused of Being an Accessory

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Nov. 23.—When Eugene L. Cardin appears in the fourth district court to be sentenced for larceny of $300 worth of jewelry from the G. K. Webster company's factory, where he was for several years employed, he will find a second count of even graver importance awaiting him. According to the police he will be charged with being an accessory to the highway robbery of Arthur S. Greene, a messenger of the Webster company, on Aug. 22, 1906, three years ago.

Cardin, it is alleged, was one of the leading figures in that bold crime and it was mainly through his information, it is claimed, that young Greene was assaulted while returning from the bank and relieved of the company's payroll of over $3000.

On the day in question Greene left the National bank about 11 in the morning and was riding about Bank street on his bicycle. Suddenly three men stepped out from behind some trees, and, pointing a revolver at Greene, demanded the money.

Greene resisted. The thugs then knocked the money from his hands and at the same time dealt the boy four savage blows on the head with a blackjack. The boy sank unconscious and the thugs escaped, but while running they were frightened and threw the money into some bushes. There the bundle was later found.

A few days later William Bibeau of Valley Falls was arrested and found to be the leader of the gang. He is now serving a 12 year sentence in jail.

The allegation is that Cardin gave to the men the exact time that the messenger boy would go after the payroll, described the route and furnished other data. Suspicions have been against Cardin for some time, but not until yesterday afternoon did the police secure the foundation for bringing the serious charge.

Cardin is at present in Taunton jail, being unable to furnish the $1000 bonds ordered by Judge Byram on the larceny charge of last week, which was continued until today for sentence, the young man having pleaded guilty after much of the stolen jewelry had been found in his possession.

Cardin belongs in Pawtucket, but has worked here for years.

GRANITEVILLE FIRE

Two Barns Burned and Other Property Threatened

Fire which broke out in West Graniteville about 8 o'clock last night destroyed two barns belonging to Mrs. Rachel Reed and threatened to destroy other valuable property in the vicinity.

The fire was discovered about 8 o'clock by Charles McLenna, who sounded the alarm. The local apparatus responded promptly and later the Edward Abbott company of Westford and the John Edwards company of Forge Village were on the scene and rendered valuable assistance.

The fire had its inception in a small barn, whose lower floor was occupied by William Lambert as a fish market. The upper floor was filled with hay, and it was in the hay that the fire started.

In a short time the flames spread to the big barn, 40 by 60 feet, which was about 50 feet away from the smaller one and which had been used as a store house by Victor Pigeon.

At one time flying embers started a fire on the roof of the house occupied by J. E. York, but the firemen, after strenuous work, extinguished that blaze and the only damage to the house was a slight scorching.

It is estimated that Mrs. Reed's loss will be in the vicinity of $5000. William H. Beebe, who had property stored in the barn, lost about $200.

MRS. STETSON

Has Resigned From the First Church

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, of this city, who has been living in seclusion since her excommunication recently by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, generally referred to as the Mother church, announced last night that she had resigned from the membership of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, New York, of which she was formerly first reader. After her ex-communication in Boston she continued to be a member of the church here, although it was reported that the board of trustees would eventually drop her.

In announcing her resignation last night, after referring to the action of the Mother church, Mrs. Stetson says:

"As this may place the members of your board in an embarrassing position, I have decided to resign from membership of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, New York city, and I now request that my name be dropped from the membership roll. I shall continue to make it my sole effort to obey the principles and to follow our beloved leader, Mary Baker Eddy."

With her resignation, Mrs. Stetson declines to accept hereafter the annual payment of $5000 which she received for her services in the church. Money is neither useful nor desirable to me," she says, "unless it comes as a grateful recognition of services rendered to those from whom it comes—and it would seem undesirable that this payment be continued."

She closes her statement with a plea that the church here may be united in harmony and devotedly follow "our beloved leader's voice."

HORACE VOSE, RHODE ISLAND TURKEY KING, AND HIS THANKSGIVING GIFT TO MR. TAFT

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 23.—Horace Vose of Westerly, R. I., who has been sending a turkey to the White House as a gift to the president at every Thanksgiving time since General Grant was president, broke all his former records in the size of the presidential turkey this year. He told his neighbors last fall that if Mr. Taft was elected he would send the biggest fowl ever grown on his turkey ranch to the White House this year. He is credited with knowing more about turkeys than any other man in this country and takes great pride in sending a bird of genuine quality to the chief magistrate of the nation each year. His aim this year was to produce the biggest turkey ever raised for the largest of all the presidents, and the accompanying snapshots of the gobbler that he selected for Mr. Taft prove that he did not fall far short of his aim. Mr. Vose did not give out at the time the photographs were taken just how much the turkey weighed, but it is in the neighborhood of fifty pounds. So Mr. Taft is assured of probably the finest turkey that will be served on Thanksgiving day throughout all the country.

Addressed the Brockton K. of C. on Sunday

At the solemn vesper service held in St. Patrick's church, Brockton, Sunday evening by Seville council, Knights of Columbus, in memory of the deceased members of the council, the preacher was Rev. John T. O'Brien of St. Peter's church, this city. The Brockton Enterprise had the following:

The sermon was delivered by Rev. John T. O'Brien of Lowell. Fr. O'Brien is one of the most able preachers in the diocese and spoke on the church and death, the great consolations offered by the Catholic church at the hour of death and when the heart is torn with grief at the passing away of loved ones. He said in part:

"It is indeed a pleasure that I come here tonight at the invitation of your rector and Seville council and unite with Knights of Columbus in this illustrious service in memory of their dead. The story of death goes on forever. From every house and every home we have seen our dead carried out. On every hillside we find the graves of many years. But as life does not end with the grave it is but fitting that we should turn our thoughts to the church. There we are taught resignation to the will of God. Death has been called the king of terrors but not so now since Christ has robbed it of its sting. We are taught to mourn our dead, not like one without hope but as one who has gone ahead, one whom we shall meet and know when we too have passed into the great beyond."

Fr. O'Brien said that it is well for men to remember their dead at this season, when autumn winds are singing requiems for the summer which has passed and nature has donned its most sombre garb. Happy is the Catholic, he declared, whose faith gives such sweet consolation to the bereft as the doctrine of the communion of saints. He prays for his dead, and if the souls be in the dim borderland of purgatory they are helped by the prayers, and if in heaven their prayers help him.

"Thus teaches the Catholic church today as when the apostles were on earth and to Laplander, Jap, negro, Indian, and white man the same. No ambitious or insufficient man may alter or amend that doctrine. Withstanding the attacks of open enemies, false friends and ungrateful children, the church has come through the centuries like a mighty, silent stream, growing constantly in volume and strength, unchanging and unchanged. It is still and will remain a refuge for sinners. Within it no man may say of his fellows, 'This one is righteous; this one unjust.' Only the angel of the harvest may separate the wheat from the chaff and until that final act none may condemn. Before the Catholic ever are the words of Christ, 'I am the resurrection and the life.'"

THE FINAL REPORT

On Auto Carnival Soon to be Issued

The board of governors of the Lowell Automobile club met yesterday afternoon at the club's headquarters in the Richardson hotel. President J. O. Heinze was in attendance, as were Messrs. Coburn, Robertson, Bean, Lee and McKenna.

It was announced that nearly all of the outstanding bills have now been presented and the statement will, in all probability, be made public in two or three weeks. It was decided to have the statement published in pamphlet form.

AMERICANS MISSING

They May be Languishing in Nicaraguan Jails

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23.—The Picayune cable from Colon says:

"A wire message from Port Limon, Costa Rica, says the United States cruiser Des Moines has gone to Greytown, Nicaragua, to make an official investigation of the killing of Cannon and Grace, the Americans who were shot by order of Zelaya.

"Passengers arriving from Nicaraguan ports report that a number of Americans who were engaged in business in Nicargua are missing and it is believed they are languishing in Nicaraguan jails.

"President Zelaya has plastered all of that portion of Nicaragua controlled by him with flaming posters denouncing the Americans in the most bitter and violent language. The Americans are accused of fomenting the recent revolutionary movement for the purpose of annexing Nicaragua to the United States. The proclamation calls upon all loyal Nicaraguans to rally around the Nicaraguan flag and urges them to help Zelaya to thwart the 'Gringo' conspiracy."

DYNAMITE USED

To Save a Town From Destruction

WARRENTON, Va., Nov. 23.—Following a fire which threatened to wipe out the town, Warrenton last night was under martial law and four blocks of buildings in the heart of the town are smoking ruins. Only by the use of dynamite was the town saved from complete destruction, for the drought of seven weeks which has prevailed in this part of Virginia, had completely exhausted the water supply and even the water needed for drinking had to be shipped here.

The damage as reported last night, despite the extent of the conflagration, to be but $65,000 or $75,000, with insurance of about $50,000.

Many wealthy Englishmen have fine estates in Warrenton, as have also several Washington and New York society people.

PEOPLE'S CLUB

Election of Officers held Last Night

At the annual meeting of the People's club these officers were chosen: President, A. G. Cumnock; vice-presidents, Jacob Rogers, Mrs. D. B. Bartlett, Horace B. Coburn; directors, Albert S. Guild, Hugh F. Gillon, W. E. Badger, Walter Coburn, Henry A. Smith, Haven C. Perham, F. A. Flather, Charles F. Young, Mrs. George F. Richardson, Mrs. Charles D. Palmer, Mrs. Wm. Nichols, Miss A. E. Anderson, Miss N. P. H. Robbins, Mrs. Franklin Nourse, Mrs. Jude C. Waldeigh; secretary and clerk, Miss G. A. Wood; treasurer, George L. Hooper.

The report of Miss Grace A. Wood, the secretary, showed that the club had a prosperous season. In the men's branch reading room, open from October 1, 1908, to May 1, 1909, there were 10,226 visitors, an average of 53 each evening, and the books read were 3790. The amusement room had an average attendance of 57 and a total of 11,305. There were about 200 members in the women's branches classes, and a great deal of good work was done.

The rooms are open every week night. The men's rooms are in the Nesmith block, and the women's in the Runels building.

MAN'S SKELETON

Was Found in Swamp at Spencer

SPENCER, Nov. 23.—The skeleton of a man was found yesterday afternoon in a marsh in the north part of Spencer about a quarter of a mile west of S. W. Parker's house. Alfred Goodrich and Allen Robinson of North Spencer were cutting wood in the locality for the Spencer Wire company's plant, when Goodrich discovered a human skull and shoe protruding from the earth. Medical Examiner E. W. Norwood was called and the bones were taken to the Kingsley morgue for examination.

It is the opinion of Dr. Norwood that the skeleton had lain there for two years or more. Little remained of the clothing, except that the shirt seemed to be a blue and white stripe, size 15, and marked "The Grant." The shoes were laced, size 6 1-2. The teeth in the upper jaw were complete, except that one molar was missing on each side and a couple of the teeth showed amalgam fillings. The man was probably under middle age.

The only clue as to who the man might be was furnished by Harry S. Kingsley, who recalled that about two or three years ago a man named Samuel Johnson came from West Springfield to visit his brother-in-law, Edward Hoar, at that time fireman on the B. & A. branch, but since deceased. Johnson was last seen walking toward North Spencer and there all trace of him was lost. His general description would answer the meagre details given out by the medical examiner.

The most plausible theory is that Johnson or some other person wandered into the swamp and either became lost or caught in the mire. The body had apparently laid in a natural posture for sleeping, however.

MRS. SNOWDEN

FAILED TO HAVE INTERVIEW WITH PRES. TAFT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Philip Snowden, wife of a Liberal member of the British parliament and a noted suffragette, tried to see President Taft yesterday. She failed. Protesting that she does not belong to the militant branch of the organization which has made the lives of British statesmen miserable for the past few months, Mrs. Snowden left the White House announcing that she would endeavor to again run the gauntlet that shut her off from the chief executive of the United States.

"I am desirous of meeting President Taft," she said, "because I met your former president, Mr. Roosevelt, and found him to be most charming. I am anxious, therefore, to have the privilege of knowing his successor."

Mrs. Snowden called at the White House with Representative David J. Foster of Vermont and his daughter. Miss Mabel Foster, who is president of the College Equal Suffrage league of the United States. The party was met at the door by the vigilant guardians of the president, who were promptly informed that Mrs. Snowden was an English suffragette.

"We're extremely sorry," apologized one of the officers to Mr. Foster and the two women, "but the president is very busy. I feel that he cannot be disturbed at the present time. Possibly you might call again."

He looked at Mrs. Snowden appealingly, and at the same time, hopefully. "At some later date he may be able to give you audience, which I know he must regret that he is unable to do today."

Mrs. Snowden was something of a disappointment to the members of the Women's suffrage movement here. In a lecture tonight at the Masonic Temple she declared that American women could not entertain the movement seriously. This, she explained, was because there are some two millions more men than women in this country and the women here are treated so well that they fail to appreciate their political slavery. In England, she added, the women outnumber the men by 1,500,000 and the situation is reversed.

DRACUT

The democrats will be able to hold their regular spring caucus next year to nominate candidates for the various town officers at the annual election, despite the fact that Dracut democrats did not hold the regular fall caucus at which a democratic town committee should have been chosen.

There has been considerable conjecture as to what would happen because of the failure of the democrats to name the committee this fall and many were of the opinion that it would mean that that party would be unable to nominate candidates for the town meeting, but it has been learned that the town committee of 1909 is empowered to act until its successor has been chosen and has duly organized.

TAFT'S CABINET

To Discuss the Nicaraguan Affair Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Taft will take up at the meeting of his cabinet today the Nicaraguan problem and it is expected that there will be something definite to discuss in the way of a program of action to be adopted in handling the Zelayan government.

While it has been the practice for the administration to leave such questions to the state department, the gravity of the situation inevitably will lead to its consideration by the members of Mr. Taft's official family. The matter has reached the point where preparations are being made to compel respect for the United States and its citizens on the part of the fiery little Central American republic. In the meantime work is being rushed in preparing the Prairie at the League Island navy yard to transport four hundred marines now at that yard to Panama. These will reinforce the 380 marines on duty in the canal zone and a reliable force of tried fighters will be close to Nicaragua in case the United States decides that prompt and vigorous action is necessary.

GRAND LARCENY

John R. Dobbins Was Found Guilty

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 23.—The jury in the case of John R. Dobbins on trial for grand larceny in connection with the loss by T. W. Ballew, a Princeton, Mo. banker, of $30,000 on a fake horse race in this city more than a year ago, returned a verdict of guilty early today. Dobbins' case was the first of several brought in connection with the alleged fleecing of many victims throughout the country by J. C. Mayhray and his associates. Ballew was a banker and testified that he bet $30,000 on a horserace which he later discovered was "fixed" and declared that Dobbins "steered" him into the game. The maximum penalty is five years' imprisonment.

Many other cases connected with the operations of Mayhray and his associates are scheduled for next month in the United States courts where nearly ninety persons were recently indicted for fraudulent use if the mails.

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Campaign statements were filed with Secretary of State Koenig yesterday by the republican county committee of New York, Tammany hall and the Business Men's Municipal Association of New York. Contributions to the republican committee amounted to $214,766; Tammany hall had a fund of $140,126, and the Business Men's association raised $80,235.

The heaviest contributors to the republican fund were J. Pierpont Morgan, who gave $7000; Robert Bacon, $5000; Frank A. Vanderlip, $5000; Union League club, $4000; John D. Rockefeller, $2500; Andrew Carnegie, $2000; Robert W. De Forest, $2500.

Among the contributors to the Tammany Hall fund were: J. Sargent Cram, $3000; James R. Keene, $2500; Samuel Untermyer, $1500. Several gave $1000, including Herman Ridder, Rhinelander Waldo, Francis Burton Harrison, Daniel F. Cosan and Timothy Sullivan.

TO DROP CLARKSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Secretary MacVeagh announced last night that he would not re-appoint Gen. James L. Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York upon the expiration of Clarkson's term January 1. The position carries a salaty of $8000 a year. Clarkson has been long prominent in politics, and from 1890 to 1892 was chairman of the republican national committee. Clarkson is an Iowa man and it is understood that prominent upper New York state republican politicians desire the office for patronage.

CAMPEAU COUNCIL, C. O. F.

At a special meeting held last night at Ricard hall, Campeau council, C. O. F., was reorganized upon a new basis, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year:

Supreme chief, Frank Ricard; vice supreme chief, Michel Buot; secretary and treasurer, L. J. Cornellier; recording secretary, J. J. Bellemare; directors, Michael Lafleur, Denis Descheneaux and J. H. Gregoire.

AIR THAT KILLS GERMS

Don't be stubborn. Don't be prejudiced. There is not a particle of morphine, cocaine, or any injurious or habit-forming drug in Hyomei.

Give it a trial at Carter & Sherburne's risk. It is made of eucalyptus and other grand antiseptics. It will cleanse away the misery of catarrh or any affliction of the nose and throat in five minutes.

Go to Carter & Sherburne today and ask them for a Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) outfit. It only costs $1.00, and consists of a hard rubber pocket inhaler, which can be carried in vest pocket, a bottle of Hyomei a medicine dropper, and simple directions for use. Extra bottles 50c.

If you could go to the Eucalyptus forests of inland Australia you would quickly get rid of catarrh. Hyomei brings the identical air of these forests direct to your home. It is a most wonderful catarrh remedy.

MI-O-NA

Cures Indigestion

It relieves stomach misery, sour stomach, belching, and cures all stomach disease or money back. Large box of tablets 50 cents. Druggists in all towns.

FIRST BLIZZARD

Of the Season Reported in Michigan

DETROIT, Nov. 23.—The first blizzard of the season was reported from several parts of Michigan last night. At Saginaw the temperature has taken a decided fall and the fine snow is driven by a high gale.

At Lapeer the rain which had been falling for 24 hours, turned to snow and traffic is suspended.

Traverse City reports six inches of wet snow with considerable delay to rail traffic.

A fierce gale is blowing at Port Huron. Snow and sleet are falling and Lake Huron is wilder than it has been at any other time this year.

BILLERICA

Rev. Charles H. Williams gave an interesting lecture on his personal experiences on the labor problem last night before the men's bible class of the North Billerica church. Prior to the entrance of Rev. Mr. Williams to the ministry he was connected with a national labor organization and is well qualified to speak on the subject. Alexander Allan, president of the class, presided during the meeting, and there were selections by a quartet composed of James Ritchie, Guy Richardson, Burton O. Sanford and Herbert B. Ellis; recitations by Joseph Ellis; comic songs by H. B. Ellis. A collation was served at the close of the meeting. Several entertainments, similar to the one provided last evening will be given during the coming winter by the class.

WAR CRIMINAL

Tolstoi Appeals to the People

GENEVA, Nov. 23.—Count Leo Tolstoi, by way of Switzerland, has given another message to the world. At an anti-military meeting held at Bienne, when 100 Swiss and foreign delegates were assembled, Count Tolstoi's appeal to the people was read amid great enthusiasm.

The appeal was specially written for the recent peace congress at Stockholm, and would have been greatly embarrassing, on account of its violence, to the Swedish authorities, who were saved by the timely strike which caused a postponement of the congress. Later it was arranged to read the appeal at Berlin. The largest hall in that city was engaged and all the tickets were sold, but the police prohibited the reading.

Count Tolstoi appeals to the good sense of the world's peoples to refuse to serve as soldiers, either voluntarily or under pressure, even if that refusal entails punishment. Killing by soldiers, he asserts, is a criminal act.

The message appeals, not to governments, but directly to peoples and their good sense to stop the growth of armies and navies.

SENIORS WON

The class championship in the interclass series of basket ball games at the Textile chool was won by the seniors yesterday when that team defeated the freshmen team by a score of 12 to 10. The game was well contested in the first half, the score at the end of the period being 8 to 8. But in the second period the seniors demonstrated their ability and scored two baskets to one made by the freshmen.

The summary:

Seniors		Freshmen
Keough, rf		rf North
Gale lf		lf Preston-McDuff
Manning c		rg McCleary
Hale lg		lg Allen

THE ALSOP CLAIM

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 23.—The Chilean government has again announced its desire to subscribe to a protocol submitting the Alsop claim to the Hague tribunal for arbitration and has deposited in London $1,000,000 to the order of the Hague permanent court. The government, however, will insist upon a complete examination into all the details of the question, without the least restriction.

DOUBLE WEDDING

Sisters Married in St. Louis' Church

A very pretty double marriage ceremony took place yesterday morning at St. Louis' church when two sisters, Misses Albina and Anna Vanasse, were united in marriage, the former marrying Mr. Euclide Page, while Miss Anna was married to Mr. Joseph Pratte. Messrs. L. O. Beauregard and Alfred Pratte served as witnesses for both couples. The double ceremony took place at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Jacques, the pastor. Both brides wore white silk, with veil, and carried white roses. During the mass, the choir of the children of Mary sodality, of which both brides were members, gave an appropriate musical program. Miss Ida Mongrain played the organ.

After the ceremony breakfast was served at the home of the brides' mother, Mrs. Isaac Vanasse, 103 Ennell street. In the evening a reception was held at the home of Mr. Alfred Pratte, of 122 Ennell street, father of one of the bridegrooms, and tonight another one will take place at the home of Mrs. Francois Page, 309 West Sixth street, mother of the other bridegroom.

Both young couples have received many gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Pratte will reside at 103 Ennell street, and Mr. and Mrs. Page, at 209 West Sixth street.

COURT DECISION

Says Woman Cannot be Stopped From Talking

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—"How can you stop a woman from talking?" asked Judge Richardson of counsel for the complainant in the unusual bill brought by Charles H. Shapley of Leominster for an injunction to restrain his sister-in-law, Sarah C. Shapley, from talking about the estate of her husband Geo. Shapley, or about the settlement of the estate or the complainant, to any persons in Fitchburg, Leominster or Acton, and from visiting those places.

In the end it was agreed by counsel for Mrs. Shapley, widow of George H. Shapley, that until further order of the court she will not enter the clothing store conducted by the complainant in Leominster or in any way interfere with the business.

George H. Shapley of Newton died Feb. 13. In his will he named the complainant executor. They had been in partnership in the clothing business 20 years in Leominster.

Mrs. Shapley has claimed the business belonged solely to her husband, but the appraisers, in their inventory, say the estate owns two-thirds interest in the partnership business.

The complainant alleges Mrs. Shapley has talked to people in the city and towns named about the business affairs and the complainant wants to stop her from continuing to make the assertions that he alleges she has made respecting the matter.

A CLOSE SHAVE

Many of Them Happening Every Day But Soon Forgotten

Close shaves would be of more frequent occurrence but for the tender faces of many men, which will not permit of shaving often. Heretofore, nothing has been said in these columns about poslam, a new skin discovery, in connection with its use after shaving. Its publicity and sales have been confined almost exclusively to its remarkable properties as an eczema cure; it stops the itching at once and cures the worst cases in a few days. While the application of poslam after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimples, the complexion, etc., shavers will find it a revelation, as it does for abrasions, roughness, and severe scrapings what it does for all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. It is the only article possessing real antiseptic and curative value that has ever been exploited for this purpose, and will soothe and tone up the skin as no toilet preparation could possibly do.

Poslam can be had for fifty cents at any reliable druggist's, particularly Falls & Burkinshaw's and Carter & Sherburne's, who make a specialty of it. Or the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West 25th street, New York City, will send a trial supply free by mail to anyone who will write for it. This is sufficient to show results in 24 hours.

SWEPT BY STORM

Great Damage Has Been Reported

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Rain and sleet, driven by a wind which at times reached a velocity of 48 miles an hour, marked the storm which has raged all day on lake Michigan and throughout the region of the Great Lakes. Only a few vessels braved the waves which thundered outside the breakwater and dashed in tons of spray many feet over the government pier.

In the morning the government life saving crews from Evanston and Chicago answered the appeal for help from the crew of the freighter Boston, which, after battling all night in the storm on the way from Milwaukee, was thrown rudderless and beyond control upon a sand bar near Wilmette, one of Chicago's north shore suburbs.

Eight of the crew of 18 men elected to leave the vessel, which was fast on the sand, and were taken by the life savers to shore.

The average velocity of the wind was 35 to 40 miles an hour, which makes the storm one of the hardest blows on the lakes this season.

The government forecast is for a continuance of the storm through the night, with snow and colder temperature. Much anxiety is felt for vessels known to be out of reach of safe harbors.

PASTOR MAY DIE

He Met With Serious Accident

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Nov. 23.—Rev. George H. Rogers, pastor of the Methodist church of Plainville, is in a critical condition at his home as the result of an accident last evening in North Attleboro. Rev. Mr. Rogers was riding toward Plainville on his bicycle about 7 o'clock and at Park and Washington streets he collided with a horse and wagon driven by Howard Grant of this town, who was returning from Norfolk.

The minister was thrown from his wheel and the wagon passed over his body. He was picked up in an unconscious state and removed to the office of a local doctor. The physician found the man suffering from serious internal injuries and three broken ribs. He has a slight chance of recovery. After being attended by the physician Rev. Mr. Rogers was removed to his home in Plainville in an ambulance.

Grant said that the accident would not have happened but for the bright searchlight on an electric car that was approaching at the time. He says the light flashed so brightly in his eyes that he was unable to see the cyclist and was unaware of the accident until after the carriage had passed over the man's body.

HATTIE LEBLANC

No Trace Yet of Missing Girl

WALTHAM, Nov. 23.—No traces of the missing Hattie LeBlanc were discovered when the police began their day of investigation. The mystery surrounding the murder of Clarence F. Glover, who, in an ante-mortem statement, accused Miss Leblanc of having shot him on Saturday night, was greater today, than at any time since the discovery of the crime. Having found some discrepancies in the last statement of the murdered man, the authorities did not place so much confidence in it today as they did on Saturday night. An investigation of the building of the Waltham Laundry Co., where the shooting occurred, appears to the police to strengthen the theory that a third person was concerned in the case.

Although Glover said in his statement that the laundry office was the scene of the tragedy, no evidences of disorder have been found there. In another department of the laundry there were appearances of a struggle and a sidecomb, belt pin and a man's cap were found. The comb was identified as Hattie LeBlanc's property by the sisters of the missing girl.

COPPER MERGER

Was Denounced by Wm. J. Bryan

GLOBE, Ariz., Nov. 23.—William J. Bryan who was the guest of honor at a banquet here last night denounced the proposed copper merger as a combination which would seriously injure the interests of the smaller producers and the workingmen.

He also criticized President Taft for his reported advice to avoid copying the Oklahoma constitution when the people of this territory came to draft the basic law of the prospective new state.

"Do not let the president of the United States threaten you," he said. "Let me tell you that he does not want a constitution like that of Oklahoma. It is much better that the constitution should fit the people of the new state than the people outside.

"It is my earnest wish for your sake that the constitution or Arizona will be for its people and not for those citizens of Ohio who are simply temporary residents here."

A NARROW ESCAPE

Special Train Bearing President Truesdale Nearly Wrecked

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 23.—A special train carrying President Truesdale of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railway and other officers on an inspection tour of the Bloomsburg division of the railroad had a narrow escape from being wrecked last night by a mine locomotive which had been stolen and run into the main tracks. A collision was narrowly averted. Thomas Teal of Kingston, near here is accused of having taken the locomotive and was held under bail today on several charges. Teal, according to his story, was drinking last night and calling at the Avondale colliery where the engine was stationed represented himself as the master mechanic and directed that the engine be prepared for a special run. About midnight he took the engine out on the main track and had a wild joy ride. The whistle of Truesdale's special, however, warned him of danger and by a quick dash he reached a switch just in time to avoid a collision.

SILVER WEDDING

Of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Whiteley Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Whiteley of 730 Lawrence street observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage at their home last evening, a large party of friends calling upon them to tender their congratulations and assist in the celebration of the event. Refreshments were served during the evening and a musical and literary program was given under the direction of Mr. Sam Holgate, assisted by Mr. John W. Foster. Songs were given by Mrs. Unsworth, Mrs. Paul, Miss E. Paul, Miss K. Jennings, Miss R. Richards, Miss Whiteley, Misses Evelyn and Emma Pearson, Mr. W. Shackelton, Mr. G. Battye and Mr. A. Cawthra; readings by John W. Foster; gramaphone selections by Messrs. E. Calvert and A. Tempest. Mr. J. H. Moss was the accompanist of the occasion, assisted by Mrs. Moss. Mr. A. E. Schoen, on behalf of those present, extended best wishes for long life and prosperity. The success of the pleasant affair was due to a committee consisting of Miss E. Whiteley, Miss A. Bayman, Mrs. C. Wood, Miss Emma Pearson, Mr. A. Atkinson and Mr. F. Calvert. Mr. and Mrs. Whiteley were married in Yorkshire, England, Nov. 22, 1884, and came to Lowell 23 years ago.

SIG. MARATO

OBSERVED 50TH BIRTHDAY ON SUNDAY

Sig. Vincent Marato of No. 1 Winter street observed his 50th birthday on Sunday evening with a dinner to a party of friends at his home. There was turkey, spaghetti, macaroni, vermicelli, chianti, lacrymachristi and other things dear to the Italian palate and to the palates in general. Sig. Angelo Palato was master of ceremonies and toastmaster, and the speech of the evening was delivered by Sig. H. Frederico Finnerty, also from the old world, who addressed the party on the broad and helpful laws of the land as observed while serving on a jury. Sig. Finnerty's remarks were most attentively listened to and it was the opinion of his hearers that he would make a most acceptable candidate for chief magistrate of one of our municipalities. Toasts were drunk to the president, the king of Italy and to Sig. Finnerty. Dimodana's and Grossi's combined orchestra provided music.

NEW BUILDINGS

Several Applications for Permits

The fact that the old Tremont house, numbered 488 Merrimack street, was to be turned into a moving picture theatre was announced in these columns yesterday and today George Hasson made application at the office of the inspector of buildings for a permit to make the necessary alterations to the building. The permit was granted.

Jacques Boisvert has been granted a permit to build a two-family dwelling in Beaulieu avenue and a permit has been issued the city of Lowell to make alterations in the office building in the Edson cemetery. The alterations will include a waiting room, toilet, etc.

Dolphus Belville will build a three-family dwelling in Cumberland road. The estimated cost is $3500. Annie L. Guckily has been granted a permit to build a two-family dwelling in Westford street. The estimated cost is $4000.

The Lawson C. S. S. Co. has made application for a permit to make alterations in its plant in Walker street. The alterations will include the raising of a portion of the building from one to two stories.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place at the parochial residence of the Immaculate Conception church this afternoon when Mr. Grattan C. Sheridan, an employe of the Manchester & Concord Express company, and a popular young man, was united in marriage to Miss Mary A. Gallagher, a well known young lady of the Immaculate Conception parish.

The ceremony took place at 4.30 o'clock and was performed by Rev. Fr. Nolin, O. M. I., pastor of the church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Sarah Gallagher while Mr. Chas. Johnson acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple went to the depot where they boarded a train for Woodstock, N. B., the home of the bride, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan were the recipients of many beautiful and appropriate presents.

BURGLARS' TOOLS

Found at the Rear of Saunders' Store

AN ATTEMPT MADE TO ENTER STORE

But the Burglars Were Scared Away by Officer Moore Trying a Gate That Led Into the Alley and Which They Had Securely Fastened

An unsuccessful attempt to enter the store of John F. Saunders at the corner of Gorham and Summer streets late Sunday night or early Monday morning, was frustrated by the police who as a result have in their possession an excellent kit of burglar tools, including a ratchet drill, several steel drills of various sizes, two heavy steel jimmy bars and several other articles used by burglars.

The burglars had succeeded in wrenching the wire screening off one of the windows in the rear of the store, but must have been frightened away while at work and in their hurry to escape left their tools behind them.

When one of the clerks opened the market yesterday morning he saw that a portion of the screening had been torn away. He went into the alleyway and found the bag of tools. The matter was reported to the police and Inspector Martin Maher was detailed to investigate the affair.

Patrolman Frank Moore while passing through Summer street Sunday night found that the gate leading into the rear of the Saunders' store was closed. It took him some time to open the gate. In all probability the burglars after entering the alleyway closed and fastened the gate in order that they might not be disturbed while working and when they heard the officer trying the gate they quit the job and took to their heels.

BLAMES OFFICER

Woman Says He Joined in Hold-up

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—One of the most difficult cases ever taken by a New York lawyer has been placed in the hands of Miss Frieda Thomas by Mrs. E. F. Dunton, a wealthy woman of 561 West 180th street, who was the only witness to what she thinks was a plot of a policeman and a civilian to rob and afterward railroad a young man to the penitentiary on a false charge of burglary.

For three months Mrs. Dunton has endeavored to discover the identity of the young man who was arrested Aug. 19 near her home, but she has been unable to do so. She has now appealed to Miss Thomas, who is not only investigating the law points, but has turned detective to free the young man, if he is still in prison, and to bring the guilty to justice.

"The young man who was robbed," said Miss Thomas yesterday, "was held in a vacant storeroom, across the street from Mrs. Dunton's apartment, and close enough for her to see accurately what was being done. She saw a man rifle the pockets of the young man, who was under the influence of liquor or drugged. Later the man went into a doorway with a policeman, and they talked several minutes.

"The policeman crossed the street and stood in the shadow of a building. The man who had talked with him fired a revolver and the officer ran back across the street and arrested the young man for firing the pistol, although he protested he had not done so.

"Mrs. Dunton believes a charge of burglary was made against him, as several policemen afterward tried the doors of all the stores in the building in which he was arrested.

"Subsequently Mrs. Dunton read in the papers that a young man who had been sentenced to nine years in the penitentiary for burglary tried to commit suicide, and she thought he was probably this young man. I am going to ask Police Commissioner Baker to help me with the case."

MAN AND CHILD

Buried Under a Load of Tobacco

NATIONAL CIVIC FEDERATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Profit-sharing insurance, pensions and welfare work for the employe, were discussed at today's session of the National Civic Federation. George Perkins of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. and chairman of the finance committee of the International Harvester company, contributed a paper on the workings of the benefit and pension plan for employes adopted by the Harvester company. The benefits of this plan had been marked, declared Mr. Perkins, "in all parts of the company's business," said he, "the average interest of the individual in the business is greater than formerly. The saving of the waste here, there and everywhere is noticeable. This means profits for the stockholders and extra compensation in various ways for the employes."

THE UNDERWRITERS

Refuse Request of Committee on Fire Department

Some time ago the committee on fire department through the clerk of committees, Frank M. Dowling, asked the Lowell Board of Underwriters to supply 50 rubber blankets to be used by the fire departments in covering goods to save or minimize loss by water.

Today Mr. Dowling received a letter from Fred G. Webber, secretary of the board, stating that the request of the committee on fire department had been considered by the Lowell committee of the New England Insurance Exchange and the committee refused to grant the request. Speaking of the committee's action, Mr. Webber says: "Following its general practice in regard to the matter, the committee voted to decline to grant the request."

The decision is of a decidedly disappointing nature as it was confidently expected that the board of underwriters would supply the blankets. Now the city will have to buy them. The board did supply 50 blankets several years ago and inasmuch as the protection of goods from damage by water meant money in the pockets of the insurance companies the committee thought that the board would comply with the request.

In Boston the insurance people pay the total expense of the protective department and in several other cities they bear half of the expense.

MAN CONFESSED

That He Attacked a Young Girl

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—One of the four young men who attacked Mamie Sullivan on Sunday afternoon in a deserted house in Paterson, N. J., was arrested last night in Astoria, L. I., and confessed his guilt. Through him the police expect to get three others, and avenge the pretty young girl, who is in a precarious condition at her home from injuries received in jumping out of a window to escape.

The prisoner is John Mendola, seventeen years old, whose home is at No. 591 River street, Paterson, next door to the old house into which he and the others lured the girl. He was caught in a curious manner.

On Sunday night an Astoria citizen who understood the Italian language, became interested in the talk of two young men who sat next to him at a moving picture show. He heard one of them tell the other that he had been obliged to flee from Paterson because the police were after him.

The citizen followed the two youths when they left the theatre and saw them enter No. 312 Lockwood street. He then notified the police, and yesterday, after a postman had delivered a letter there addressed to Mendola, they entered the house and arrested him.

Mendola confessed without hesitation. He said his companions Sunday were George Lumberto and Theodore Spangeli, who live near by him, and another youth, whose name he did not know. He admitted attacking the girl himself.

After she jumped from the window, he said, the four left the house by a rear door, and ran to the railroad station where they took the 4.45 train for New York, separating when they got here. Where the others went he did not know, he said, but the police believe he does know and will try to make him tell them.

The letter he received in Astoria was from his sister, and advised him to keep out of sight of all policemen, as the Sullivan girl was likely to die, and he was wanted badly in Paterson.

PRESIDENT'S PIE

Was Baked in Newark, N. J., Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—President Taft's Thanksgiving mince pie which in point of size at least excels "the kind that mother made" was baked today in a Newark bake shop. Tomorrow this monster pie will be taken to Washington by a committee of the Bakers union.

The Taft pie was six hours baking and half a dozen pie experts kept careful watch on the pastry. The pie, calculated to kill any appetite, presidential or otherwise, is 26 inches in diameter, three inches in depth and weighs 15 pounds.

Halifax Solicitor Seeks Information in Lowell

Halifax, Nov. 17, 1909.

To the Postmaster, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir—Enclosed please find a letter which I wish to reach the widow of William Spriggs, formerly of Fall River, Halifax, Co., N. S. I have heard she has since married and that there were three children by her first husband, but no one here knows her present name. I think I have heard she married an Andrews. Her maiden name was Aggie Sedley. She is wanted in reference to some property left by an uncle of her first husband. All the information I can get here is that she is in Lowell, Mass. If you would kindly try to get the enclosed delivered to her you would greatly oblige one who is trying to trace the heirs so that they will get what is coming to them.

Yours very truly,

A. J. Crosby,

PRIMARIES ARE ON

Lively Caucuses Opened at Noon Today

Unusual Crowds of Voters on the Street During Morning Hours — Result Will Not be Known Until Early Morning—Result in Doubt

This is caucus day, and therefore don't forget your duty.

The primaries opened at noon today after as lively an ante-caucus campaign on the democratic end as has ever been held, a campaign remarkable mostly for the good feeling evidenced among the candidates and the practically entire absence of personalities from the contest. It is safe to predict that the caucuses will leave no sore spots behind and that the nominee, whoever he may be, will receive the united party vote on election day.

That there is more than usual interest in the caucuses was evidenced by the large crowds on the streets last evening until a late hour and again this morning, for it was evident by the crowds downtown that hundreds of voters did not go to work today as the result of the general and intense interest in the contests.

The voting opened fairly strong, though there was no rush, as the fact that the polls remain open until nine o'clock tonight would mean a big rush after supper. The candidates were around early in wagons and autos visiting the different polling places, while each had active lieutenants in every precinct.

From the discussions of those downtown or around the polling places it was impossible to get a line that would be anywhere near accuracy on the outcome. The mayoralty contest will be close. It is estimated that the winner will get from 1500 to 1800 votes. The caucuses were conducted exactly as on election day and the results will be turned in as on election day though several hours later. Owing to the large number of candidates, the counting of necessity will take a longer time. The two precincts of ward seven, which broke all previous records at counting in the last state election, expect to make another great showing for speed and accuracy tonight, according to the precinct officers. If all precinct officers could count like the ward seven officials the life of the city hall attaches who take the returns would be easy.

It is not expected that the final returns will be received before breakfast time tomorrow morning. The earliest returns are expected about midnight.

Close of Campaign

The ante-caucus campaign closed last night mid a blaze of red fire and oratory and the shouts of the enthusiastic multitudes. The different mayoralty candidates scoured the city in autos and wagons and made many outdoor speeches. Great crowds greeted the candidate, for hundreds visited the places at which the different candidates were to speak to see the fun. The hotels were crowded with politicians and others discussing the situation but there was comparatively little betting owing to the evenness of the contest.

Reports of all kinds were flying about town. From one section would come a report that there was nothing to it but Meehan. This would be closely followed by another to the effect that it was all O'Donnell and then all Crowley and all Daly, while a widely circulated Maloney boom came along late in the evening. The excitement was all on the democratic end for the republicans were very quiet and the republican city committee rooms usually the mecca of all republican politicians on the eve of the primaries saw a comparatively small crowd and no excitement.

The last speech of the ante-caucus campaign was made by James E. O'Donnell at 12.40 this afternoon to a large gathering at the plant of the American Hide and Leather company.

A visit to four polling booths about 1.30 o'clock this afternoon showed that in two places the vote was larger than last year, in one it was normal, while in the fourth it was less.

At ward 7, precinct 2, the number of ballots cast was 78, which is considered normal.

At precinct three of ward two, 102 had been cast, which is about 25 ahead of last year.

There were but 93 ballots cast at ward two, precinct two, which number is slightly behind the number cast at that time last year.

TWO LIVES LOST

Men Drowned in Merrimack River

NEWBURYPORT, Nov. 23.—Two men were drowned and two rescued from a capsized dory in the Merrimack river today. The dead are David McKenzie, 30 years old, of Boston, and an Italian. Mr. McKenzie took three workmen out in a dory to pick up an anchor rope and a wind squall overturned the little craft. McKenzie and the Italian disappeared almost immediately while the other workmen were taken from the water in an exhausted condition.

BUDGET DEBATE

Was Resumed by Lord Cromer

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Lord Cromer resumed the debate on the budget when the house of lords met this afternoon. He said that he was opposed to many provisions of the finance measure and was unable to support Lord Lansdowne's motion for rejection. This motion was received with much interest and it is thought to indicate the attitude of the free trade unionists of whom Lord Cromer is one of the leaders.

The house was crowded again today.

BURNED TO DEATH

His Grandson Aged Six Also a Victim of Fire That Destroyed the De Armond Home—Sketch of His Career

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 23.—Representative David De Armond, one of the oldest democratic members of congress, and his grandson, Waddie, aged 6 were burned to death in a fire that destroyed the DeArmond home at Butler, Mo. early today. The other members of the family escaped and it is believed none was hurt. The body of Congressman De Armond or that of his grandson has not been recovered and it is believed that they have been incinerated.

Other occupants of the house at the time of the fire were Mrs. De Armond and a daughter, aged 35.

The home of Congressman De Armond was situated across the street from that of his son, James De Armond. James started to rush into the burning house in an attempt to save his father, but was restrained by the younger members of the De Armond family and neighbors. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The house was two stories in height and burned fiercely.

Mrs. De Armond, wife of the congressman who escaped in her night clothes unhurt, fainted as soon as she reached the ground. When revived later she became hysterical and it was some time before she could tell what had happened. The first she knew of the fire, she said, was when she heard her grandson, Waddie, call out that the house was on fire. Mrs. De Armond occupied a room on the first floor while Congressman De Armond and the grandson were in rooms on the second floor. The house was of wood and by the time Mrs. De Armond had reached the yard the building was wrapped in flames. Fifteen minutes later it was in ashes.

Mrs. DeArmond said she heard no cry from her husband and nothing is known of his experiences.

Mrs. Hattie Clark, the married daughter of Congressman and Mrs. De Armond and the house servant, a woman, also slept on the first floor and both escaped within a minute or two after the alarm of fire was sounded. Waddie De Armond, the dead boy, was the son of James A. De Armond and was visiting his grandparents.

David A. De Armond was first elected to the house of representatives from the sixth congressional district of Missouri in 1891 and served continuously. He was one of the best known democrats in congress. He was born in Blair county, Pa., March 18, 1844. His early life was spent on his father's farm, receiving his education in the common schools and at Williamsport Dickinson seminary. In his young manhood he practiced law in Butler and in 1884 he was named a presidential elector. He held successively the positions of state senator, circuit judge and Missouri supreme court commissioner.

Congressman De Armond and his his young grandson occupied one room on the south side of the building while Mrs. De Armond and Mrs. Clark were in separate rooms on the opposite side of the house. Nellie Boles, 20 years old, a servant girl, had a room on the west end of the house. Mrs. Clark was awakened by a cry and going to the door of her room saw smoke issuing from the part of the house where Congressman De Armond and Waddie slept.

"Get me out of here!" she heard Waddie cry. "Never mind, son, I will save you," Congressman De Armond answered.

These were the last words either of the victims uttered. A moment later the smoke increased in volume, and Mrs. Clark fled down stairs to the telephone. Within a minute's time she had given the alarm to the telephone office and hurried back to the rooms of her mother.

also was a member of the committee on rules.

While Mr. De Armond will long be remembered for his brilliant oratory and especially for his power of sarcasm and capacity for invectives, he also will long be known on account of his qualities as a party fighter. Inclined to be pugnacious, he often handled subjects as an aggressor rather than a defendant. This quality was the means of getting him into a personal altercation two years ago with John Sharp Williams, then democratic leader of the house. The difference between them arose over Mr. Williams' designation of a Missouri colleague of Mr. De Armond's for a committee position in the organization of the 60th congress. They came to blows, but neither was badly hurt.

WAS BRILLIANT ORATOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—In Mr. De Armond the democrats lose one of their leaders on the floor of the house. A member of that body for the past 19 years and a man of education, wide experience and fluent speech, he had become one of the principal resources of his party in all discussions of national questions. He made a specialty of labor subjects, but was never at loss in handling almost any question.

He was a member of the committee on judiciary at the time of his death and had held that post for many years. Previous to the present congress he

LARCENY CHARGE

Young Man Sent to Reformatory

Edward Belanger, 21 years of age, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of three planes, a saw and three wrenches, all of the value of $3.70, the property of Fred N. Burnham, who conducts a boarding and livery stable in Merrimack street. Belanger pleaded guilty and after the court had considered the case Belanger was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory at Concord.

Some time ago Belanger was sent to the reformatory for being a stubborn child and was released from that institution about two months ago. When he came back to Lowell he was engaged by Mr. Burnham to do odd jobs about the stable. Of late Mr. Burnham has found that different tools have been missing and suspicion immediately rested upon Belanger. An investigation showed that the young man was the person who had been taking the implements.

In court this morning he admitted that he was guilty and when asked why he didn't report regularly to the Concord Reformatory his answer was, "Just because I didn't, that's all." He was ordered returned to the reformatory.

Raised a Disturbance

Eugene Perrin, while under the influence of liquor yesterday afternoon, visited the Academy of Music. During the progress of the show he took exceptions to a joke that was being passed on the stage and rising to his feet used vulgar language. Patrolman Michael Rourke, who is stationed at the Academy, was summoned and tried to quiet the young man, but the latter continued to talk out loud and use abusive language. He was placed under arrest and in court this morning was charged with being drunk, the other charge not being pressed. He was fined $6, which he paid.

Drunken Offenders

There were seven first offenders who were fined $2 each.

YOUNG GIRL DEAD

Police are Searching for Woman

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 23.—Mary Jones, 21, of East Taunton is dead at the Rhode Island hospital and the police of Taunton are looking for a woman, who it is alleged gave her some medicine for a criminal operation. An autopsy on the body will be made today.

LOSS IS $15,000

Fire Was Fought by Volunteers

ARCTIC, R. I., Nov. 23.—A band of volunteer firemen equipped with a couple of hose reels and an old fashioned hand engine saved this village, the business center of Pawtuxet valley district, from destruction by fire early today. Although the flames threatened at one time to spread throughout the village effective work by the fire fighters confined the blaze to two large wooden business blocks owned by Joseph Archambault on Quidnick street. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

SOME PENN AND CORNELL GLADIATORS WHO WILL CLASH ON THANKSGIVING DAY

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—The game between Pennsylvania and Cornell on Thanksgiving day will practically close the football season, which has been the most successful in the history of the game. Notwithstanding the clamor that the several fatalities have caused, there is more popular interest in football right now at the close of the season of 1909 than there ever was before. It is believed that the game on Franklin field on Thanksgiving day will bring out a gigantic crowd despite the poor condition of the Pennsylvania team. The Penn coaches are working with might and main to get the several injured men in condition for the contest, and, while they have a wholesome respect for the prowess of Cornell, they are more than hopeful of victory. A majority score for Penn over Cornell this year after the rocky time the team has had would be something for the Quakers to boast of, and they are out for blood. Ramsdell and Miller are both improving and in all probability will be in the game. Phenomenal drop kicking by O'Connor is one of the features of practice at Cornell, and the big guard looms up as a possible scoring quality for the Red team in the clash with Penn.

1,000 ARMED NICARAGUANS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23.—A despatch from Port Limon, Costa Rica, says that passengers arriving at Punta Arenas report a great movement of troops in Salvadorean ports. It is said that General Prudencio Alfaro is at the head of 1000 well armed Nicaraguans. The revolutionists are said to be in possession of Castillo Viejo.

In a San Jose paper it is predicted that the invasion of Salvador by Nicaraguans may precipitate a general uprising in Central America.

HAS NOT RESIGNED

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—"I have not resigned," said President Winchell of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific R. R. Co. on his return to New York today from a visit to the west.

Reports of President Winchell's resignation have been current for some time past. President Winchell would not make any further statement regarding Rock Island affairs.

CHAIRMAN CONNERS

Says That Gaynor Should be Named for President

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—"William J. Gaynor is one of the biggest men, if not the biggest man, in the country. He is big enough to be president, and I shall be surprised if he is not the democratic nominee in 1912," said Chairman William J. Conners, of the democratic state committee, at the Waldorf-Astoria last night.

Conners lunched and spent several hours with the mayor-elect at the Gaynor country home, St. James, L. I., Sunday. His practical declaration for Gaynor for president was in response to the question:

"It is reported you have transferred your affections from McClellan to Gaynor, and that you will favor Gaynor's nomination for governor next fall."

"I am not transferring my affections from any one man to another," was Conner's first answer. "I am very fond of Mayor McClellan, and have frequently said so. Judge Gaynor and I have also been very warm friends for many years. We have met very frequently and we have always agreed on questions of democratic party policy.

"You will recall that I did my utmost to secure Gaynor's nomination for vice president at Denver a year ago. Had the New York delegation as I hoped it would, stood firm for him, he would have been named, and perhaps Bryan would be president and Gaynor vice president today. But the western democrats were too powerful for us. They forced the selection of Kern, of Indiana, and we were swamped."

"Is it fair to assume that you would support McClellan for governor next year and Gaynor for president two years later" was asked.

"I am not making candidates. I merely say Gaynor is big enough to be president."

"You discussed politics with Judge Gaynor during your visit at St. James?"

"Why, of course not, my boy. I simply went down there to lunch upon the judge's invitation. We had a lot to talk about as we had not seen one another for a long time."

"One report has it that you requested him to take care of friends who owe their places on the Ashokan Dam Commission to your influence with Mayor McClellan?"

"Not at all. We did not talk about patronage. The mayor-elect can be trusted to appoint good men in office, and if I can be of any service in making his administration the best the city ever had, why I will co-operate any way I can.

"Did Judge Gaynor indicate whether he would aid you to retain the chairmanship of the state committee?"

"I told you we did not talk politics. I am abundantly satisfied that no movement headed by men who seek to assume proprietary rights over the democracy can secure control of the party or unseat me. I am going to Buffalo tonight, content with the situation.

MORE WARSHIPS

May be Ordered to Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Silence almost to an ominous degree prevailed at the state department today. Sec'y Knox left the state department for the cabinet meeting shortly before 11 o'clock and Assistant Sec'y Wilson was at his home presumably engaged on some phase of the Nicaraguan situation. Assistant Secretary Aden, who was the spokesman of the party in the absence of the secretary, and Mr. Wilson stated that nothing had been received by the department that changed the Nicaraguan status in any degree—cided step with respect to Nicaragua.

The navy department is in a condition of preparedness for any eventuality. Overtime work has resulted in putting the troopship Prairie, now at the Philadelphia navy yard, in a condition to sail at any moment after Thursday of this week with 400 marines who are immediately available for transportation to Nicaragua. If necessary this number can be increased within a few hours' notice to seven hundred or even eight hundred.

Although the naval officials disclaim any knowledge of what the state department is doing in a diplomatic way in connection with the Nicaraguan situation it is known that they are hourly in expectation of receiving orders to direct the Prairie to sail and they would not be in the least surprised if other warships were ordered to the Nicaraguan coast.

Everywhere in the state and navy departments there is a feeling of expectancy, everyone believing that the United States is about to take a de-

NO TIDINGS YET

Of the Fate of Astor Yacht Which is Missing

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 23.—The government wireless station here was unable to get into communication with San Juan, P. R., again this morning owing to atmospheric conditions. Later in the day another effort will be made to verify the report that Col. John Jacob Astor's yacht Nourmahal had safely anchored in the harbor there.

That a confirmation or denial of the report of Col. Astor's presence in the harbor of San Juan has not been obtained so far is due to the ignorance of the operator at San Juan of the anxiety that exists in the United States over Col. Astor and his friends. The operator at Key West in asking the San Juan operator as to the presence of Mr. Astor expected an answer within ten minutes or at least an hour. Evidently the San Juan man after acknowledging the messages sent him went out to investigate and when he returned communication was broken. All efforts to re-establish it since have failed. It is stated here that the wireless station at San Juan is on an isolated point and that the operator would not likely have known of the presence of the Nourmahal in San Juan harbor.

The rumor current here early today that Mr. Astor had landed at some obscure point and had gone to his big game preserve at Astor, Lake county, in the interior of Florida, could not be verified.

At 6 o'clock this morning the Guantanamo wireless station was raised and reported that no communication had been reached with San Juan within the last twenty-four hours.

Those here familiar with the port of San Juan are not disposed to believe that a yacht the size of Mr. Astor's could have put in there for any length of time without some report being made through the regular channels.

Twenty-four hours of ceaseless endeavor on the part of the wireless men have been without result in locating the Nourmahal. The wireless station at this point and the station at Key West have called continuously since 5 o'clock yesterday morning when the San Juan station was "lost" but up to shortly before 8 o'clock this morning had not been able to raise the Porto Rico station. This is evidently due to the heavy atmosphere which prevails over the gulf and Caribbean sea.

At midnight atmospheric conditions were such that both Key West and Tampa stations discontinued all efforts to raise either Guantanamo or San Juan. Early this morning, however, conditions were cleared up to such an extent that both Tampa and Key West again began calling at intervals for San Juan.

FRESH RUMORS RUN DOWN

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 23.—Efforts during the night to communicate by wireless telegraph with San Juan, Porto Rico, to obtain absolute confirmation of the presence there of John Jacob Astor and friends on the yacht Nourmahal, were without avail owing to disturbed atmospheric conditions but at a quarter of eight o'clock this morning the wireless operator here secured responses to his calls for San Juan. A reply is expected soon. A rumor was afloat this morning that Col. Astor had gone to his shooting preserves in Lake county, Florida, but little credence is placed in this report.

SCORES OF MINERS

Believed to be Alive in the Shaft at Cherry, Ill.

CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 23.—Cherry rested for a brief period early today before beginning the crucial work to rescue the living or carry the dead from the five hundred foot level of the St. Paul coal mine.

At midnight boy miners had forced their way into the third vein, preparing the way for a rush of their comrades to the same vein today. They declared the air in the gallery stagnant but capable of sustaining life, the water but a few inches deep and all indications favorable to prolonging the life of those imprisoned in the depths.

The youths, Robert McFadden and Barney Dougherty, had scarcely emerged from the shaft when tidings were spread that the fire in the second vein had broken out anew.

Rescue work was halted while Chicago firemen attacked the blaze which now threatened the main shaft.

That scores of men are alive in the lower level was the almost unanimous assertion of miners who listened to the story of McFadden and Dougherty. No miners were seen and the one object indicating their occupancy of the vein was a dead mule that had been seen lying in the escape shaft through which the rescuers entered.

The two boys penetrated 120 feet into the vein and shouted, but no response came. Then they hurried back to the cage.

"There is no reason why they should not be alive," said Dougherty.

After learning that the lower shaft contained and not too impure to sustain life, many reasons were advanced to show that the men still may be alive.

"There is plenty of water there," said William Smith, one of the few miners in the vein to escape after the fire, "the air is endurable and there was plenty of corn in the mule stables. They have some of the shrewdest and nerviest miners in the country down there. We'll find them barricaded and ready for another week's wait when we reach them."

BOARD OF HEALTH

Asks the Mayor to Have Dirty Streets Watered

Believing that the dust blowing from the smooth paved streets in the busy part of the city constitutes a menace to health, the board of health has sent the following letter, recommending the watering of these streets, to the mayor:

Health Department,
Lowell, Mass., Nov. 20, 1909.

Hon. George H. Brown, Mayor, City of Lowell.

Dear Sir—The board of health believes that the accumulation of dried manure and dust upon the smooth paved streets in the busy part of the city contiguous to Merrimack square, because of the many people who are constantly obliged to breathe it, constitutes a menace to health, which can easily be reduced to a minimum, by the free use of water. We, therefore, recommend that the portion of Central street from Tower's corner to Merrimack square, Merrimack street from Dutton to Merrimack square, and Bridge street from Central bridge to Merrimack square be thoroughly washed, not less than once a week, to the end that accumulated germs of disease may be carried into the sewers.

We believe that there will be few weeks during the winter when a day cannot be found which will be warm enough for this work. We request that you take the necessary steps to bring this action about promptly.

Yours truly,
Board of Health,
F. A. Bates, Agent.

The board intended to include Middlesex street in its recommendations, but by mistake the street name was omitted. All of the board members say that the watering process should be carried into Middlesex street, as that is a much traveled street and paved with the same paving as Merrimack and Bridge streets.

BIG CONTRACT

HAS BEEN AWARDED TO AMERICANS

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—The Lokal Anzeiger learns from an authoritative source that the Russian government intends to close a contract with an American syndicate to develop the Trans-Siberian railroad, which will be double tracked throughout its whole length.

The project involves hundreds of millions of dollars, and, according to the paper, representatives of the syndicate are now in Europe awaiting the Emperor's return to St. Petersburg from Livadia. They will then proceed to St. Petersburg to complete the contract.

ITCHING SKIN EASILY SOOTHED

That awful, agonizing itch, torturing day and night!—then suddenly the skin calmed, soothed and refreshed.

That is what any eczema sufferer can accomplish in two minutes by the use of the right treatment! Just oil of wintergreen, mixed with thymol, glycerine and other healing ingredients in liquid form. While a smeary salve would only close up the pores of the skin, driving the disease germs in still deeper, the medicine in liquid form penetrates the epidermis, kills and washes out the eczema germs and stops the itching instantly.

We recommend this D. D. D. Prescription heartily, and we guarantee that a trial bottle at 25 cents will convince you.

SHERMAN'S CHILD

Has Entered Suit for Divorce

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Mary Sherman McCallum, adopted daughter of the late John Sherman, former secretary of state and senator from Ohio, filed suit yesterday in the district supreme court for absolute divorce from James I. McCallum. The couple were married here in 1894, and have two children, John Sherman, aged 10, and Cecilia Sherman, 11. Both live with her.

The petition charges violation of the marriage vow in July and August, 1908. Since learning of her husband's alleged actions, Mrs. McCallum says she has not lived with him. She asks for the custody of the children.

Mrs. McCallum inherited about $100,000 from her foster father, much of which, it is understood, has been profitably invested in this city.

IMPERIAL EDICT

PEKING, Nov. 23.—An imperial edict was issued today dismissing three high government officials, including Tuan Fang, viceroy of Pe Chi Li for offenses committed in connection with the funeral of the late dowager empress. Chen Kwei Lang, governor of Sze Chuen, succeeds Tuan Fang and in turn is succeeded in his former office by Jui Cheng. Wu Chang succeeds Jui Cheng as provisional treasurer of Nanking.

MARITAL WOES

Heard by Judge Sanderson Again Today

The principal case before Judge Sanderson in the divorce court this morning was that of Ella F. Parker vs. Alfred S. Parker for cruel and abusive treatment. The husband filed a cross-libel through his counsel, William H. Bent, and the case was set down on the contested list. When the case was called this morning, however, the cross-libel was dismissed after a conference with the court on agreement of counsel. The original libel was then heard, Messrs. Nathan D. Pratt and Joseph D. Loughran appearing for Mrs. Parker, the libellant. The latter and several women witnesses testified to acts of severe cruelty and abuse on the part of the libellee.

Mrs. Blanche M. Tarbox of Newton, wife of the Boston coal man, Bernard L. Tarbox, who eloped with Miss Gertrude Devine of Dorchester last June, was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Sanderson. The sensational departure of the husband led to a chase that led those in pursuit into Canada. The last heard of Tarbox and Miss Devine they were still in Canada.

Miss Devine was 19 years of age at the time and had been Tarbox's stenographer. They went to Pawtucket in the young man's automobile and were married there by a clergyman.

Mrs. Tarbox was Miss Blanche P. Matthews of Bath, Me. She told the story of her marriage and desertion by her husband and named Miss Devine in her suit. There was no contest.

The case of Grace M. Pierce of Cambridge vs. George H. Pierce was heard. The libellant said that while intoxicated her husband pinched her neck until the blood came and an abscess resulted. The libellee was called in the cases of David Farquhar of Cambridge, vs. Grace Maud Farquhar, Ernest W. Taylor of Waltham, vs. Grace B. Taylor; Virginia A. Cooper of Lowell, vs. Henry Cooper, Mrs. Cooper testified to her husband's habits of drunkenness, and said she had to support him the biggest part of the time, and he pawned the furniture for drink. Marie Perron of Lowell, vs. Severe Perron. In this case the woman named as co-respondent appeared in court and testified that she received notice and was the person named therein. Mr. Lew, who runs a dye house in John street, testified that he let a room to the libelee and the co-respondent, on the representation that they were man and wife.

William F. Robinson of Malden vs. Winnifred I. Robinson. Mr. Robinson is about 40 years old, and he married the daughter of a clergyman, aged 22. They lived together only a few months, and the father of the co-respondent came into court and testified for the libellant.

HUMAN FLESH

Was Sent to Justice of Peace

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 23.—Justice of the Peace Tombs yesterday received two pieces of human flesh through the mails. Accompanying them was a note explaining that they had been taken from a smallpox patient, the writer expressing the wish that the judge might catch the disease and die.

Judge Tombs has reported the matter to the federal authorities for investigation. He is unaware of the existence of any enemy unless it be some one upon whom he has inflicted punishment in his official capacity.

BATTLESHIP MISSOURI

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The battleship Missouri came into port today from Newport, R. I. and anchored off Tompkinsville, S. I.

Various surmises were aroused by the hurry orders to the Missouri in connection with the troublous Nicaraguan situation. It was stated at the Brooklyn navy yard today, however, that the Missouri so far as known, was merely dropping in here on her way to the battleship rendezvous at Hampton Roads where a fleet is under orders to assemble on December 1 in the course of the usual winter naval procedure.

IS NOT GUILTY

Father Accused of Beating Son

PITTSBURG, Nov. 23.—J. J. Seelar, aged 70, president of the Iron City automobile company, was arraigned in court yesterday morning on a charge of aggravated assault on the person of his 28-year-old son Chester J. Seelar, who has been in a hospital for repairs for two weeks.

It was brought out in the evidence that the father and son had some trouble and decided to settle it with their fists, and the old gentleman gave his husky son a fearful drubbing, breaking his nose and blacking both his eyes.

The son maintained that his father had used a desk phone and an iron brace to beat him, but this was not proven.

The aggressive Seelar was found not guilty by the jury, but was ordered to pay the costs of suit.

Wife Survived Her Husband Two Hours

WORCESTER, Nov. 23.—James A. Laverty, one of the city's oldest residents, died yesterday morning at eight in the state hospital from infirmities incident to old age, and at ten o'clock his wife followed him in death at the family home, 18 Colton street. Her death was also due to old age. They were members of Sacred Heart church almost from its establishment. They are survived by two sons, Robert S. and James W., and one daughter, Mrs. Abbie A. Markey. The double funeral will be Wednesday, with services in Sacred Heart church.

McKEE IS SUED

THE DAMAGES ARE SET AT $25,000

PITTSBURG, Nov. 23.—D. C. Neary, a New York attorney, sued here yesterday for a writ of foreign attachment against A. Hart McKee, now living in Paris, to recover $25,000 for services said to have been rendered when Mrs. Lydia Sutton McKee divorced her husband.

There are rumors that Neary's suit may bare some of the secrets so carefully guarded at the time of McKee's first divorce and his hasty marriage to Mrs. Cornelia Baxter Tevis, who has divorced him in Paris.

OUT ON STRIKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—In pursuance of resolutions passed at meetings last night, several thousand shirtwaist operators in shops all over the city went out on strike today. It is expected that ultimately all the shops in the city employing 40,000 persons will be involved.

The workers' demands are for an increase in the wage scale and shorter hours.

$100,000 DAMAGE

Caused by Fire in Utica, New York

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Fire did $100,000 damage in the heart of the village of Canastota this morning. The Bruce Opera house block and the Great block adjoining it were burned and the Bemis block across the street was damaged.

BALLOT BOXES

Piled From Floor to Ceiling

About all activity at the city hall centered in the basement this forenoon. The cause of the unusual stir in the basement was the removal of the ballot boxes that were piled from floor to ceiling. There was a policeman to every box and the Moody street side of the hall was lined with job wagons in which the boxes were taken to the various precincts.

DOWAGER DUCHESS BURIED

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The body of Consuelo, dowager Duchess of Manchester, was buried today at Kimbolton, Huntingdonshire, the family seat of the Manchesters, in the presence of the family and many intimate friends. A memorial service was held in the chapel royal at St. James palace where the Prince and Princess of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught were represented by officials of their households. The congregation included many distinguished friends of the deceased, among them American Ambassador Reid.

PURITAN WAS DISABLED

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 23.—The Evening Press wireless station today picked up the following message from the steamer Puritan which all day yesterday and last night drifted helplessly about Lake Michigan with a broken rudder:

"The Puritan was this morning picked up by a tug and safely towed into South Chicago harbor."

ANNIVERSARY MASS

There will be an anniversary high mass of requiem at St. Peter's church Thursday morning at 8.45 for the repose of the soul of the late James Boyle.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Waldo R. Cumings and Miss Margaret Molloy were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at five o'clock at the parochial residence of St. Patrick's church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Callahan. The couple were attended by a brother and sister of the bride, Mr. Frank and Miss Tessie Molloy.

The bride was gowned in heavy white silk and carried bride roses. Her sister wore steel silk and also carried roses. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Cumings have left for a short wedding trip and will be at home at 98 Marginal street after December 1.

SCANLON—DEAN

Mr. John Scanlon and Miss Julia Dean were united in marriage in the chapel at the parochial residence of the Sacred Heart church, Sunday evening, at 7.30 o'clock. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I. The best man was Mr. Albert Nichols, and the bridemaid was Miss Alice Dean.

Dancing from 8 to 12 at Y. M. C. I. party, Associate hall, Wed. night.

ATTENTION!

COLLECTOR LOEB

Intends to Dismiss at Least a Dozen Weighers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York, was an early morning caller at the White House today and spent half an hour or more with President Taft. Mr. Loeb stated that the house cleaning in the customs service in New York was about completed. Within the next week he will dismiss a dozen or more weighers. He stated that when they are let out he thought the service would be in first class shape and that no more dismissals in the near future were contemplated. "We will start out with practically a clean slate," said Mr. Loeb, "and we hope for good results."

Mr. Loeb will leave for New York this afternoon.

Mr. Loeb said there was nothing in the story that Richard Parr, the acting deputy surveyor at New York who recently engaged in a controversy with former assistant Secretary of the Treasury Reynolds, had been selected to succeed Surveyor Clarkson. Mr. Loeb, however, confirmed the story that Mr. Clarkson was to retire but intimated that his successor had not been decided upon.

DIED OF POISON

Mrs. Von Marlow appeared in the best of spirits when she retired last night. Mr. Von Marlow was found in an uptown hotel. He told the coroner that he and his wife had come to this city last July from Dayton where Mrs. Von Marlow's father, William Jones, was an influential man. He declared his belief that his wife had not taken the poison with suicidal intent as she had nothing to worry about aside from a domestic difference of small moment which had arisen between them a few days ago.

NEWS FROM ASTOR'S YACHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The steam yacht Nourmahal with Col. John Jacob Astor on board arrived at San Juan from Mayaguez on Sunday, Nov. 14, and was still there on the evening of Nov. 17. All were well on board and the Nourmahal was planning to leave soon for Ponce and from there go to some Cuban port before her departure north.

These tidings were brought here by the Insular line steamer Harry Luckenbach which arrived this morning from Porto Rican ports.

Captain Dalton of the Luckenbach, on his arrival at quarantine this afternoon, said that it was reported in San Juan that the yacht Nourmahal was waiting there for a friend of Col. Astor who was on his way there from New York who was a passenger on a steamer. Captain Dalton had no further information concerning the Nourmahal.

The news brought here by the Luckenbach makes it positive that no harm came to the yacht in the storm earlier in the month. The Nourmahal has by this time probably proceeded for Ponce where she would have been reported had cable communication been re-established to that point.

GERMAN ADMIRAL DEAD

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—Admiral Gustave Von Seden Bibran, who for 18 years was the chief of Emperor William's private naval cabinet, died today. Death was due to an abscess on the brain. He was born in 1847 and retired from official life in 1906.

SON KIDNAPPED

Husband Accused by His Wife

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Edward George Koch, of No. 56 Jane street, has been summoned to the supreme court today to answer his wife's charge that he ran away secretly from San Francisco with her seven-year-old son, Paul, and has since kept the boy hidden in this city. Justice McCall granted her a writ ordering Koch to produce the lad in court.

The Kochs were married in June, 1902, and went to live with the bride's mother. Mrs. Koch alleges her married life has been made miserable by her husband's abuse. She says his conduct so worried her mother that her death in May, 1907, was hastened.

After the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Koch went to California upon the advice of physicians to recover her health. She took the boy with her to San Francisco and later sent him to the home of relatives in San Jose. She earned a livelihood by teaching music.

She was followed to California by Koch, she asserts, who visited the place where the son was staying and induced her relatives to let him take the boy to his mother. Instead of carrying out this proposal, Mrs. Koch charges her husband started east with Paul.

When he reached Nevada the wife asserts Koch mailed a postal card to her reading: "Paul and I bound for New York. You'll never see him again." This announcement made her pack up and start to look for the boy.

Koch has sued his wife for divorce. She denies his charges of misconduct.

GEN'L CLARKSON

Will Not Discuss His Resignation

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Until officially notified that his withdrawal of his resignation was wanted by the government, Gen. James Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York, declined today to make any extended statement in regard to his position in the matter.

"It would be indelicate and improper at this time to refer to any of the government records which might have a bearing on my connection with the sugar frauds, and until all facts can be properly placed before the public, which will come in good time, I do not feel called upon to discuss the termination of my term in office," said Gen. Clarkson.

Collector Loeb is expected back from Washington tomorrow, and it was said today that the announcement of further dismissals and changes in the customs service would probably be made on his return.

Former U. S. Dist. Atty. Stimson, who has charge of the sugar cases against the government weighers, said today that a pertinent statement in regard to the government's investigation of the sugar frauds would be given out either here or in Washington next week.

PERJURY CHARGE DISMISSED

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 23.—The report of the grand jury today dismissed the charge of perjury brought by a depositor against Burton E. Southward, J. Albert McAfee and Ernest Elberts, former cashiers of the failed Dorr Street Savings bank. It was alleged that they made false reports to the state auditor as to the bank's condition. The grand jury investigated but returned no indictments.

OPENING DEALS

IN THE STOCK MARKET WERE SMALL

Prices Fell Below Yesterday's Closing—Extra Dividend on Central Railway—American Snuff Took a Drop

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Opening dealings in stocks were small in most cases but there were large transactions in Reading at an advance of ⅛. Brooklyn Union Gas rose 1½; Utah Copper 1¼ and Consolidated Gas 1. The price changes in the general list were small and mixed.

The show of strength made by a few stocks was taken advantage of to press sales under which prices fell violently to below yesterday's closing. Pressure was particularly severe against the copper stocks and Reading. There was a demonstration of strength in the Gould stocks which lifted Texas & Pac. and Wabash pfd 1⅝. In the heavy liquidation which broke out again before eleven o'clock Amal. Copper slumped 4½ points, Reading 2⅞, Am. Smelting and Anaconda 2¼ and many prominent stocks a point or more.

The rally ran to a point in Reading and Amal. Copper 1½ in Anaconda and 1¾ in Utah Copper. Stocks were unloaded again and U. P. sold below 200. The feverish and violent fluctuations discouraged efforts to trade and the dealings became dull. Bonds were easy.

The report of an extra dividend on Central Railway of N. J. caused an active buying movement in Reading which soon made up its previous loss. The movement in this stock strengthened the whole market again and some of the coppers rallied a point or more from their low prices. Railroad stocks were not very responsive and were quiet.

American Snuff dropped 9½ and American Car 2 points.

An attack on Reading drove it down to near the low point, the price falling two points below yesterday's closing. The rest of the list was only slightly affected and when the Pacifics and Wabash pfd were marked up the whole list hardened. U. P., Southern Pac., St. Paul and other western stocks sold fractionally over last night 3¾. Reading also scored a pretty good recovery but broke rapidly again at 2 o'clock.

After the sharp early morning decline there was a subsequent rally in prices which held well throughout the day and the market closed with prices in the more active issues from a half point to 1½ points above the bottom.

The market closed firm. Buying from uncovered shorts kept the market quite steady although Reading's fluctuations were very irregular. Southern Pacific and Western Union gained a point and Consolidated Gas 2.

Boston Copper Market

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—Copper shares opened with generally firm tone today but quickly weakened in sympathy with the break in Amalgamated. The selling of Amalgamated in the Boston market was almost entirely by arbitrage houses.

Slump in Copper Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Following a quiet, though somewhat feverish opening of the stock market today there developed in the first hour an outburst of selling orders in the securities of Amalgamated Copper which went from 91¾ to 87¼. The sharp slump in Amal. adversely affected other active issues.

Accompanying the outpour of stocks were signs of operations for the short account. Reports that the proposed merger of the copper properties would have to be abandoned because of the federal court's decision in the Standard Oil case were said to be responsible for the sudden decline in the market. A rally followed the extreme points of the decline.

A Thanksgiving Gift

of two per cent. which was declared to

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Stockholders of the Central Railroad of New Jersey received an unexpected Thanksgiving gift in the shape of a special dividend of two per cent. which was declared today by directors of the railroad.

The declaration was made following an initial dividend of 6½ per cent. declared on the stock of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Co. which is controlled by the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

THE GRAND JURY

Returned Indictments Against Brokers

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23.—The county grand jury today indicted five brokers accusing each of conducting a bucket shop. Their offices recently were raided.

Those indicted are: W. J. North, manager of the Rex Commission Co.; J. F. Meaney, manager of the J. F. Meaney Co.; C. V. Tuttle, associated with the Meaney Co.; R. B. Hartwick of the R. B. Hartwick Co. and E. B. Newman of the Rex Commission Co. Indictments against eight have been returned since the crusade against alleged bucket shops began last week.

BODY OF SAILOR

Recovered From Waters of Jamaica Bay

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A clue to the fate of Washington Hull, the Brooklyn architect, who disappeared mysteriously with his yacht, the Commodore, on Nov. 3 last, was discovered today with the recovery from the waters of Jamaica bay of the body of a sailor believed to have been with Mr. Hull on the missing yacht. The name Alcatorda on the sweater worn by the man whose body floated in toward the shore of the bay today indicated that he was Tryvo Wold, a sailor of the yacht Alcatorda, whom Mr. Hull engaged to accompany him when he started with the yacht Commodore from Lawrence, L. I., for Bayonne, N. J., to lay up the yacht for the winter.

FEAR AN UPRISING

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Nov. 23.—Robert Cooper and two nephews arrived today from Oraibi on the Arizona-New Mexico boundary bringing information that settlers were fleeing from a threatened uprising of the Hopi Indians.

All the homesteaders who have not left the country have sent their families away and have united to protect their cattle.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 23.—The consistory of the First Reformed Protestant (Dutch) church last evening accepted the resignation of the Rev. George Lunn, D. D., as pastor. Dr. Lunn's socialistic utterances caused a dissension in the church, the oldest in the city, and he sought a vote of confidence by resigning. He was chaplain of Bryan's regiment during the Spanish war.

TAYLOR IS FREE

He Was Released From Cranston Jail

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 23.—After sojourning in Cranston for twenty-one months in default of $350,000 bail Thomas D. Taylor of Boston, formerly president of the defunct New England Trust company of Providence was released today by direction of the receiver of the company, J. P. Beagan.

Taylor signed a two years' note for $50,000 shortly after noon and walked out of the jail a free man.

Taylor was the originator of several financial institutions in this state and Massachusetts. One of them, the New England Trust company of Providence, went to the wall a few months after the financial panic of 1907. In his report to the court Receiver Beagan stated that he found that the securities of one company had been used as the assets of another and so on through the chain of banks. Receiver Beagan sought to recover from Taylor through the courts, placing the amount due at $350,000 and Taylor's arrest followed in February, 1908. Under the Rhode Island law the defendant must furnish bail equal to the damages named in the suit. Taylor was unable to raise the necessary $350,000 bail in default of which he was sent to jail.

GOV. HADLEY INJURED

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 23.—Gov. Hadley, who has been hunting in the Taney county hunting preserve, was forced to leave for Jefferson City last night on account of a badly swollen hand caused by a fall. Physicians advised the governor to return home at once, as they feared blood poisoning.

THE CABINET MEETING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—At the end of a two and a half hour session of the cabinet today it was announced by members of the president's official family that neither the Nicaraguan situation, the Standard Oil decision, nor the sugar trust fraud situation in New York had been considered. It is presumed that some part of the session was devoted to a discussion of the features of the president's forthcoming message to congress.

Although he has the material for the message pretty well in hand the president has not as yet begun the dictation of any part of it and it is extremely doubtful if the message will be concluded earlier than two or three days before it is to be read to the senate and the house.

STORM WARNINGS DOWN

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 23.—The gale which swept over the Great Lakes last night wrecked a few boats, sent others to shelter and was the cause of a miniature tornado in southern Ohio, now has spent its force. The storm warnings on the lake were taken down today and the vessels ventured out again.

ASK NEW TRIAL

Mantir and Delorey File Petition

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 23.—James Mantir and Peter Delorey who were convicted last week of murder in the second degree and manslaughter, respectively, in causing the death of Annie Mullins at Arlington in March, 1908 filed motions for a new trial through their counsel with the clerk of the Middlesex superior court today. The motions recite that the verdict was against the evidence. Several legal exceptions also are taken.

THE MAYOR ELECT

Said to Have Violated Statute

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—The Marion county grand jury today began an investigation of charges that Samuel Lewis Shank, republican mayor-elect, had violated a state statute which makes it a criminal offence for a candidate to obtain the assistance of an elector by promise of appointment to office.

F. W. Eppert, a member of the council, and J. O. Barrett, who it is alleged received from Shank promises of the presidency of the board of public works and a membership of the board of public safety, respectively, were called before the grand jury today. They were not appointed.

Shank's appointments generally since his election have not agreed with the "slate" arranged by him with his political adherents before the election, according to the public statements of prominent politicians and a political feud of a bitterness unexampled in the history of this city has arisen.

BIG AVIATION MEET

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—There was no decision today at the Aero club of America on the conference now being held between the directors of the club and the commissioners here from Baltimore and Washington who are trying to secure for their respective cities the international aviation meet to be held in 1910. The offers of both cities will be considered but no contract is probable it was said at the club until all bids are in. Baltimore and Washington each guarantee $100,000.

HAS HEART FAILURE

Bridget Briscoe, of Cross street, who has suffered from heart failure for some time, received an attack while passing along Merrimack street, near the corner of Worthen street this afternoon. The ambulance was summoned and she was taken to St. John's hospital.

SHOT BY YEGGMEN

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 23.—Driving into the dooryard of his home in Bow last night with the exclamation "I'm shot," Charles H. Fellows, a well known groceryman of this city, fell dead in the arms of his wife as she went to his assistance. It is supposed that Fellows was the victim of yeggmen, who intended to rob him. If that was the motive of the shooting, the attempt was unsuccessful, for, according to Mrs. Fellows, a large amount of money which her husband always carried was found untouched on his person.

Fellows was 50 years old. For many years he had conducted a grocery store on South street in this city and was one of the best known business men in that district. His home was at Wheeler's Corner in the town of Bow, a short distance beyond the city limit. After closing his store last night he started to drive to his home according to his regular custom, and it was about 11.30 o'clock when his wife, who was awaiting his arrival, heard shots fired and a few minutes later heard a team drive into the dooryard. She ran out of the house to meet her wounded husband.

An examination showed that Fellows had been shot twice, once in the temple and again in the shoulder.

HARRY POLLARD

Elected Treasurer of the Aero Club

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—Aviators and balloonists from many parts of New England listened to tales of the conquest of the air last night in an enthusiastic annual dinner of the Aero Club of New England at which Cortland F. Bishop of New York, president of the Aero Club of America, was the principal guest. Mr. Bishop offered a trophy for the longest balloon flight in 1910 made by a balloon ascending in New England.

HARRY G. POLLARD

Among those who spoke were: Prof. W. H. Pickering of Harvard university, who presided at the banquet; Charles J. Glidden and William Carroll Hill of Boston; H. Helm Clayton, the meteorologist; H. C. Crofts of Pittsfield; J. P. Coghlan, president of the Aero Club of Worcester; Thomas McAuliffe of Fall River; Mayor George H. Brown of Lowell; J. Walter Flagg of Worcester; J. B. Benton of Boston, and Leo Stevens of New York.

At the business meeting preceding the dinner the following officers were elected: President, Charles J. Glidden of Boston; vice presidents, Timothy E. Byrnes and Nathan L. Amster, both of Boston; treasurer, Harry G. Pollard of Lowell; secretary, Alfred R. Shrigley of Boston.

BOARD OF TRADE DINNER

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 23.—The annual dinner of the board of trade was held last evening, at the Parker house, with over 150 members and guests present. The speakers were Captain J. W. Miller, vice president of the Cape Cod Canal company; Charles H. Treat, former United States treasurer; Congressman William S. Greene of Fall River, and Rev. M. C. Julien of this city. President Herbert E. Cushman of the board presided at the dinner.

WHITE PLAGUE

What is Being Done to Fight It

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—During the year that has passed since the international congress on tuberculosis met at Washington, one institution or organization for the treatment or prevention of tuberculosis has been established every day, Sundays and holidays included, according to a bulletin of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Fifteen new beds in hospitals or sanatoria have been provided also for every day of the year.

A year ago the rate of increase was one organization or institution every other day, only one-half as fast as now. Less than a year ago there were 40 consumptives for every hospital bed provided. Today the number has been reduced to 30. Nearly 20,000 beds are now provided in institutions for the treatment of consumption, an increase of over 5500. The number of special tuberculosis dispensaries in the United States has more than doubled, the number of anti-tuberculosis associations has increased 68 per cent., and the number of hospitals and sanatoria 42 per cent.

In one branch of anti-tuberculosis work, particularly emphasized by the international congress, a signal advance has been made, that is, in the provision of hospital accommodations for advanced cases. In all parts of the country, state and municipal authorities have been urged to provide hospitals for dangerous cases of tuberculosis, with the result that over 1000 beds have been established in the past year. At the present time there are, however, only 6000 beds, and 75,000 advanced cases which ought to be in hospitals. Fully 75,000 others could be treated at home, but it would be safer for the community to segregate them in institutions. Every advanced case of tuberculosis is a center from which the disease spreads, and unless the patient is taught how to be careful in his habits, and unless he has the proper home surroundings, he should be in a hospital, where he will not be a menace to others.

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis declares that at least 70,000 more beds in hospitals are needed for advanced cases of consumption. Until these are provided tuberculosis cannot be wiped out. If everybody in the United States gave $5 to provide hospitals for the dangerous consumptives, sufficient funds would be procured to destroy forever the threat of tuberculosis from this country.

$200,000 LEGACY

Was Intended to Right a Wrong, It is Said

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The death in Newark, N. J., of Henry Colter, who was 70 years old, a veteran of the Civil war has revealed the fact that he devoted the last 30 years of his life searching for a legacy of $200,000 which was bequeathed him by a stranger who had wronged him half a century ago.

The discovery was made by his sister, Mrs. James H. Fleming, who is past 70 and who lives with her son-in-law, Henry Heims, at 224 17th street, Brooklyn. She had not seen her brother in 55 years until she looked upon him in death a few days ago. And in nearly threescore years the only tidings she received of him were borne on a postal card stating that he was "alive and well."

Before he was 20 years old Colter went to Portland, Ore., where, with a man named Lane, he engaged in the wholesale grocery business. They grew rich rapidly. Every few months Colter went to San Francisco by ship to bank the profits.

On one of these journeys, when he had $12,000 in gold in a satchel, and the vessel was only two days out from Portland, Colter was stricken with fever. Realizing that delirium was about to seize him, he intrusted the money to a young friend who shared his stateroom. This companion also took the fever, and fearing to trust the satchel to anyone, he threw it in a dark corner under the berth. That was the last ever seen of it.

The men recovered soon after the ship reached San Francisco. A search was made for the money, but it could not be found. Information that Colter received led him to suspect a Brazilian, who had been a passenger on the vessel. Colter learned that this man had gone to New York, and he followed him east as soon as his health would permit.

Ignorant of the Brazilian's name except that with which the west had supplied him gratuitously, but with an indelible mental picture of the thief, Colter took the trail. He carried on his search alone and after a few months learned that the Brazilian had sailed for his native land.

Colter's funds were about exhausted. He wrote to his partner in Portland for money and waited three months for a reply and none came. Colter could not extend his credit in New York, nor could he borrow money enough to return west.

He was in a quandary what steps to take when war was declared between north and south. Colter enlisted in the union ranks, fought with honor and when peace came he went back west with the pay he had earned as a soldier. Things were greatly changed. He had been given up as dead by his friends.

He was about to engage in business again when he read in a paper of the death of the Brazilian. The man left a confession in which he told of robbing Colter of the $12,000. With this money he had bought a sugar plantation and had amassed a fortune. As recompense for the injury he had done, the planter bequeathed Colter $200,000, the story said.

Colter at once started east, but all attempts to secure the fortune from this end failed. His pension was not sufficient to allow him to go to Brazil. Wounds received in battle left him physically unfit to earn good wages. With what little he managed to save he renewed his efforts to secure the legacy. Scores of letters were written to Brazil, lawyers communicated with, all to no avail.

Tenaciously Colter hoped and worked on. To possess the legacy was the dominant purpose of his life. Death ended the struggle. He had worked silently; not even his closest friends knew the secret. And it might have died with him had not Mrs. Fleming, in going through the papers he left, accidentally found the records of the search.

Mr. Heims said last night that he would now take up the work death had halted and make every effort to get the bequest for Mrs. Fleming.

A. H. CLUER DEAD

Well Known Centralville Resident Passed Away

Arthur H. Cluer, one of Centralville's best known business men, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 3 Wachusetts street, aged 54 years, 7 months. A rupture of a valve of the heart, complicated with dropsy, was the cause of death, and Mr. Cluer had suffered more or less from heart trouble for the past four years, although until about six months ago it did not take on a violent form. About six weeks ago as he was about to pay his last visit of the season to his summer home at Hampton he was seized with a bad attack of heart trouble and taking to his bed never left it again.

Mr. Cluer was born in Canton, April 12, 1855. He was educated in the schools of Stoughton, and in 1872 he went to Littleton, where he learned the trade of harness maker. In the fall of 1875 he came to Lowell and at first went to work for John G. Allen, at that time located in Central street. In 1877 he engaged in the business of harness making for himself, locating at 340 Bridge street, where he remained up to the time of his death.

Mr. Cluer was deeply interested in the affairs of the Middlesex North Agricultural society and had been president of that organization since Oct. 11, 1904. He was also a director of the Dracut Grange. He was the founder of Centralville lodge, I. O. O. F., it being wholly upon his initiative that the organization came into being with a membership of 300. He was also a member of Centralville lodge of Rebekahs; Pilgrim encampment, I. O. O. F.; Canton Pawtucket, Patriarchs Militant; Pentucket lodge, A. F. of M., and of Centralville council, Royal Arcanum. Mr. Cluer was a president and director of the Lowell Co-operative association from 1891 to 1894, and under his administration the company prospered greatly. He was an attendant at High Street Congregational church.

All of his life he was a staunch republican. He was a wonderfully good organizer and demonstrated his capacities many times in this way. He was in the common council two terms, and later was a representative for two terms, 1898 and 1899. For many years he was connected with the republican city committee and was treasurer of that organization many years.

Mr. Cluer is survived by his wife, Mrs. Addie A. Cluer, to whom he was married Jan. 14, 1879; one sister, Mrs. Geo. H. Stone of Claremont, N. H., and one brother, Alvin W. Cluer of this city.

KIDNAPPED GIRL

Found After Search of Three Years

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—After a search of three years, Amelia Johnson, 13 years of age, daughter of Ephraim Johnson, a horse dealer of Elizabeth, N. J., who was kidnapped at Norfolk, Va., in November, 1906, was found yesterday by her father and brothers in a south side rooming house.

Detectives accompanied the girl's relatives and they arrested Zalucha Demitro, a gypsy, and his son, Ephraim Demitro. The elder Demitro is said to be king of a band of gypsies who make a business of kidnapping children for ransom.

LIFE ISN'T WORTH LIVING

When This Statement is Made It May Be Generally Attributed to the Lack of Good Health

We want to talk to people who are nervous, who suffer frequent headaches, who don't enjoy their food, who are irritable, quickly lose their temper, who are so exhausted that they feel they must give up, and have become so despondent that life doesn't seem worth living. We believe we know what is the matter with these people in this condition, and if they will follow our advice we can tell them how to regain good health and that buoyancy of feeling which makes life seem surrounded with happiness and sunshine.

Most of the above described conditions are chiefly caused by what is commonly called catarrh, a "below par" condition of mucous membranes. This delicate lining of certain of the body cavities becomes weakened, inflamed and congested until the whole system is weakened, mental depression ensuing as one of the results. The wise way to overcome this condition is through a treatment of the general system. We have the treatment, and we are so positive it will produce the results we claim for it that we will supply it to any one with the understanding that we will return to them every penny paid us in every instance where the treatment is not in every way satisfactory and beneficial to them.

We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, which is a scientifically devised alterative tonic and body builder, its action being to aid the body in its effort to re-establish the natural and healthy functions of the mucous membranes.

Rexall Mucu-Tone thus acts to expel the "catarrhal poison," restore the mucous cells to good health, tone up the whole body, allay inflammation, remove congestion and stimulate the system to healthy activity. It is splendid for aiding in the building up of flesh and muscle tissue and removing weaknesses.

Come to our store and get a bottle of Mu-cu-Tone, and after giving it a reasonable trial, if you are not satisfied, simply tell us so, and we will hand back your money without question. Surely nothing could be more fair than this. Rexall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Lowell only at our store.—The Rexall Store—Hall & Lyon Co., 57-59 Merrimack street.

COUNTY OFFICIALS

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 23.—After a fruitless night's search for traces of the murderer of Charles Fellows, a grocer at Bow, who was shot as he was about to enter his yard late last night, the assistance of the county authorities was invoked today.

Mr. Fellows kept a store about a mile from his home and was in the habit of driving to and fro with considerable money in his pocket. He returned at 11.30 p. m. and just before he drove into his yard two shots were fired, evidently at close range. One bullet entered the right breast and passed through the body while the other struck the left breast and was found embedded in the shoulder. It was from a 32-calibre weapon. The wounded man staggered into the house and gasping "I am shot" expired in his wife's arms.

The neighbors were immediately aroused and for the rest of the night a constantly increasing force of men searched the vicinity without finding anything more than a few footprints on the soft earth. Measurements were taken of these marks.

The police believe that robbery was the motive and that the highwaymen discovered that Fellows was not killed by the bullets and did not dare to rob him.

Neighboring cities have been asked to look out for suspicious characters although in the absence of any tangible clues the local authorities have little hope of definite results.

FRANK SLAVIN

Issues Challenge to John L. Sullivan

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Frank Slavin has come to life with a challenge from Victoria, B. C., in which he offers to fight Charley Mitchell, John L. Sullivan, Jake Kilrain or Joe Choynski in one night and says that he will guarantee to "stop" them all inside of 10 rounds each for the modest sum of $10,000. If he doesn't stop them he will give his adversaries $10,000.

ALLEGE ATTELL STALLED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 23.—Abe Attell was given the decision over Jimmy Moran, the Brooklyn featherweight in their eight round bout tonight at the Phoenix club. Moran was outclassed in every round, but was game and apparently able to continue for several rounds at the finish. The betting was 10 to 7 that Moran would not be on his feet at the end.

On account of considerable betting and the fact that Attell did not extend himself until the last three rounds, charges were made after the bout that Moran was treated leniently by the featherweight champion. There were no clean knockdowns and the only damage was a bloody nose and a partly closed eye by Moran as a result of frequent jabs by Attell.

In the sixth round Moran slipped and fell to the mat, but was up before the count started. Attell tried for a knockout in the seventh, but fell from the force of his own wild swings. One of the largest houses in the history of local bouts saw the sport. Hock Bones, an undefeated southern welterweight, knocked out Mint Lee in two rounds in the preliminary.

CLOSE CALL FOR COULON

JOHNSTOWN, Penn., Nov. 22.—Johnny Coulon received a blow in the third round of the bout with Patsy Brannigan of Pittsburg tonight which almost made a new champion. Coulon and Brannigan were going six rounds at 114 pounds and Coulon started off like a winner, jabbing and cutting the Pittsburg boy unmercifully.

At the opening of the third round Brannigan got in a vicious right swing which landed flush on the jaw of Coulon and sent him reeling across the ring. The little champion almost went to the floor after he had been stopped by the ropes. He clinched when Brannigan rushed him and by hanging on until the referee pulled them apart, managed to save himself. By the end of the round he was himself again and for the remaining three rounds held his own.

While Coulon outpointed Brannigan, the Chicago champion was punished much more and admitted that he was given one of the hardest bouts in his career by the Pittsburg boxer.

The makeup of the Bunting team will be: Goal, O'Connell; backs, Hardy, Holmes, Lane, Abbott, Hoyle, captain; forwards, Gettings, Barclay, Cunliffe, Mahon and Hayes; reserves, Parkinson, Bradley; linesman, F. Baltye. Thanksgiving eve all members are requested to be at the club house no later than 7.30 as the banquet that was scheduled to take place Friday evening has been changed to Thanksgiving eve. The committee in charge guarantees a good evening's entertainment.

SCRATCHED HEAD TILL IT WAS RAW

A FRIEND ADVISED USE OF CUTICURA

"When my little girl was four months old her head broke out with eczema. I tried everything but nothing did her any good. She could not sleep at night and she did nothing but scratch her head, which was like a raw piece of meat. All of her hair fell out. A friend of mine told me about Cuticura and the good it did for her little boy. After the first cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment I used I could see a change. I used just two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and my little girl's head is cured. Her hair is growing fine and long and her skin is like velvet. Friends say that my quick action in using the Cuticura Remedies kept the eczema from spreading all over her body.

"I still use the Cuticura Soap and always keep a box of Cuticura Ointment in the house. I used them for my hands, which were so badly chapped that the skin would crack and bleed. I would cry with pain. My hands are entirely cured now. You certainly have my permission to publish this letter in any paper, for I know how wonderful Cuticura is. Mrs. F. Davis, 209 E. Indiana St., Chicago Ill., Jan. 18, 1909."

THE TEST OF PARTY LOYALTY.

Today the people pass upon the arguments of the several candidates for nomination for office, and those defeated will show their loyalty by accepting the result without murmur or protest and even without feeling the bitterness of disappointment. All the candidates for the mayoralty conducted a clean campaign and all promised to support the nominee so that there should be no shirking that duty. The primaries held tonight do not mark the end of the world and the man who does his duty by the party is likely to be remembered later on, whereas he who adopts a different course will be only placing a greater handicap upon his own political future. It is the duty of every democrat to bow to the will of the majority. Defeat of this kind is the test of party loyalty. Those who accept the decision of the people and support the nominees can come up again as candidates with more favorable prospects of success.

THE PEERS WILL BE DEFEATED.

There is every indication that the lords will go down in defeat in their appeal to the country on the question of rejecting the financial budget prepared by the chancellor of the Exchequer. They will muster all their force at the final vote on November 25th and it is likely that nearly five hundred peers will assemble to vote upon the question. It is expected that at least three-fourths of them will vote against the budget.

That will make a general election throughout the United Kingdom inevitable. The British premier will make the issue upon whether the house of lords will continue to dominate popular legislation by use of the veto power or whether the power of the upper house will be so restricted that it will not operate in defeating measures demanded by the people and especially financial measures.

It is expected by the most astute politicians in England that the liberals will win a signal victory. Such a victory will be interpreted as a mandate from the people to curtail the privileges of the peers, and that undoubtedly will be done. The liberal party will then be able to carry out its program of reform, financial and otherwise, including the cession of home rule to Ireland, a matter upon which the liberal party stands pledged for some time past.

The defeat of the lords will also give effect to the new system of taxation under which the privileged class will be forced to contribute to a much greater extent to the support of the government. This will be the first blow to hereditary privilege as represented in the house of lords. In all probability the whole constitution of the upper house will be changed and an arrangement made by which the members will be elected by the people or at least chosen in some representative way so that men will not inherit seats and hold the same for life wholly regardless of whether they have any qualification for the place.

ABOLISH THE LOBBY.

The lobby maintained at the state house is a republican institution, maintained as an offshoot or adjunct to the republican state committee for influencing legislation by the usual methods, or speaking more plainly, for the primary purpose of fleecing public service and other corporations on pretence of controlling legislation in their favor by the use of money among the members of the legislature.

Under fire from the democratic candidates in the recent campaign some of the men who have been most prominent in the lobby have been sent to the rear and among these is J. Otis Wardell of Haverhill. This gentleman has been a member of the state committee for a quarter of a century and fell by the wayside at the last state election.

In 1908 Mr. Wardell, a member of the state committee and a dominant force in controlling legislation, reported that he had received the following sums:—

From Lloyd's Plate Glass and Insurance company, $2000.

Charter, French King Rapids Power company, $2500.

Boston Elevated Railway, annual salary . . .

Chadwick—Boston Lead company, $1000.

Sale of Electricity, annual salary . . .

It would be interesting to know how much he received as "salary" for the "Sale of Electricity" or as salary for the Boston Elevated Railway. These were probably his largest items. These amounts were given as payment for using his influence to promote legislation favoring these interests or else to defeat legislation opposed to the same interests.

What was done with the money is not stated. There is no accounting of its distribution. That is left to conjecture, but it is supposed to be used where it will do the "most good." It is well that a body maintained openly for such purposes should be abolished.

Another lobbyist of considerable note is Charles F. Choate, Jr., also a prominent member of the republican state committee and legislative counsel for the New Haven railroad. For his services as counsel during the year 1908 he received the sum of $19,018.29. These companies do not hand out large amounts for nothing and Mr. Choate undoubtedly earned his money or he would not have received it.

It is not in accord with public policy for such corporations to hire men to influence legislation. These returns show that the custom of maintaining a lot of politicians at the state house to influence legislation by the use of money or otherwise is a source of political corruption that should be banished. Were the lobbyists outlawed in the state house we presume they would establish headquarters close by in order to be within easy reach of the legislators and so that they could continue their work. But even that would not be nearly so flagrant an abuse as the lobby in its present form.

Now is the time for every good man to come to the aid of his party.

KEEP ON SMILING

"Whatever the weather may be," says he—
"Whatever the weather may be,
It's the songs ye sing, an' the smiles ye wear
That's a-making the sun shine everywhere;
An' the world of gloom is a world of glee,
Wid the bird in the bush, an' the bud in the tree,
An' the fruit on the stim o' the bough," says he,
"Whatever the weather may be," says he—
"Whatever the weather may be!"

James Whitcomb Riley.

A story is told of a king who went into his garden one morning and found everything withering and dying. He asked an oak that stood near the gate what the trouble was. He found that it was sick of life and determined to die, because it was not tall and beautiful like the pine. The pine was out of heart because it could not bear grapes like the vine; the vine was going to throw its life away because it could not stand erect and have as fine fruit as the pomegranate; and so on throughout the garden. Coming to the heart's-ease, the king found its bright face uplifted, as full of cheerfulness as ever. Said the king: "Well, heart's-ease, I am glad to find one brave little flower in this general discouragement and dying. You don't seem one bit disheartened." "No, your majesty. I know I am of small account; but I concluded you wanted a heart's-ease when you planted me. If you had wanted an oak, or a pine, or a vine, or a pomegranate you would have set one out. So I am bound to be the best heart's-ease that ever I can."

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Miss Ethel M. Arnold, granddaughter of Dr. Arnold of Rugby, niece of Matthew Arnold and sister of Mrs. Humphrey Ward, will return to America next January for her second lecture tour.

President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton university has been made a trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York. He is said to be the first college president admitted to the board of any of the larger life companies.

By the will of Mrs. Elizabeth Goddard Heald of Newton, the sum of $500 has been left to Abbot academy. The bequest was without conditions. Mrs. Heald also bequeathed to the school a set of books, the "Library of the World's Best Literature," edited by Charles Dudley Warner.

Prof. Albert A. Michelson of the University of Chicago, to whom was awarded the Nobel prize for important researches in the measurement of light waves, received the honorary degree of master of liberal arts and doctor of philosophy from the University of Leipsic on the occasion of the celebration of its fiftieth anniversary.

Fraulien Winkler, founder of the German American Friendship club, has just returned to New York from Germany. She brought back a trunk filled with contributions to the bazaar which the club will hold in its rooms during the last week of this month. Among the contributions was a collection of China from the royal porcelain works at Berlin. This was sent by the Empress of Germany, who only recently extended her patronage to the club. The American Countess von Waldersee, who is the protectress of the German branch of the work, gave a money contribution to buy things made in Germany. Count Zeppelin sent autograph cards with pictures of airships on them, and the Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin sent china.

The Princess zu Schonaich-Carolath selected a number of articles from her own personal belongings as her contribution and added a boy's vest, knit by herself. The self-supporting women of the empire contributed a collection of embroidery, lace and other fine needlework. The club is composed entirely of young women and its purpose is to extend a helping hand to young German women on arrival in this country.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde" was presented before a fair sized audience at the Opera House last evening and it was well received. The cast was an extraordinarily strong one and Frederick W. Pierce in the dual role of "Jekyl" and "Hyde" was exceptionally strong.

The play tells of the discovery of a drug by "Dr. Jekyl" which will bring out a second nature. The doctor experiments on himself. When under the influence of this drug he goes about as "Hyde," a demon who delights in killing and torturing.

The piece is a very heavy one and demands a good actor. Mr. Pierce played well and was supported by a fine company.

"THE CONVICT'S DAUGHTER."

Tonight at the Opera House "The Convict's Daughter" will be seen. Although in its fourth season, the play has been witnessed by larger audiences than any other melodrama written in previous years. It appeals to every class of theatregoers, from the boy in the gallery to the mother of the family; to sweethearts and sisters, and the father who loves his home.

The first act opens at Col. Gould's home, with its pretty homelike cottage, beautiful flowers and shade trees, and the air of perfect happiness and contentment. One commences to feel its sunshine and warmth from the very beginning, and the interest never flags from the first to the fifth and final acts. One is carried from one scene to another with keen excitement, and a desire that right shall succeed and wrong shall reap its just reward, and sympathy for the innocent child of the convict and her downtrodden father.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD"

Those who love sweet music and those who enjoy the scent of new mown hay can have their several tastes gratified by a visit to "The Old Homestead." This charming play has been before the public for twenty-three years, and is now on its twenty-fourth annual tour. It is the same simple story of rural life in New England that it was away back in 1885 when it was first produced as a finished drama at the Boston theatre. And for eleven years prior to that Mr. Thompson had been presenting a play called "Joshua Whitcomb," in which he portrayed the sturdy old farmer, Uncle Josh. And even before that time Mr. Thompson had given for some years in the variety halls a sketch having Uncle Josh as its central figure. So, taking it altogether, the character of the kindly New England farmer, Uncle Josh, has been before the theatregoing public for nearly forty years. The dramatic critic hesitates when he attempts to write anything new of "The Old Homestead." When a character has become so identified with the American stage as has Uncle Josh by a life of nearly two score years, the pen may well falter in the effort to say anything new. And yet this much may be said: Denman Thompson, in presenting to the American stage a typical American character as it had never been presented before, endeared himself to the theatregoing public and made for himself a niche in the Temple of Fame as an actor and author.

next Thursday, Nov. 25, of the favorite emotional drama, "East Lynne," the greatest of all emotional plays. The company has been selected with discrimination and in the matter of scenic equipment and accessories the presentation of "East Lynne" will measure up to a high standard. The engagement at the Opera House is for matinee and night only.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM"

"Ten Nights in a Barroom," which comes to the Opera House next Friday and Saturday, is a play full of human interest and bubbling over with quaint humor, laughable situations and comedy types of characters that have made the whole world laugh, and is a play true to life, sentiment and laughter being happily blended. There are many features in "Ten Nights in a Barroom" that make it a play with everlasting life.

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

"Brewster's Millions," a clever dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's entertaining story, which scored a pronounced success here last season, will be the attraction at the Opera House soon. Robert Ober will be seen in the character of "Monty" Brewster.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

A Chinese act in which not a word but the purest of English is spoken is the headliner at Hathaway's theatre this week. The scene of the play is a street in Chinatown of San Francisco, and there's enough of the "chink" atmosphere and surroundings to force the belief that one is in the heart of Chinatown. But it is the language that makes you sit up and take notice. It is good English, beautifully embellished, and it is spoken with fine diction. To say that it is an innovation in vaudeville is putting it mildly. The name of the piece is "Suey San," and it is called a "Chinese classic." It was written by Carlyle Moore, and is presented by Mabel Bardine & Co. It is a courageous departure from anything that has held the boards in vaudeville and criticism is necessarily limited, not only because of its newness, but there does not seem to be a great deal to build upon. Its very newness, the boldness of its departure from the erstwhile Chinese acts, that are rarely great favorites, will further its appeal to the public. The very nature of the music bespeaks a tragedy, and everybody knows beforehand that murder will be committed. You may like "Suey San" and you may not—it all depends, but it's the day's best bet that you will like Mabel Bardine, who plays the character of "Suey San."

The valley of Nanking in China couldn't boast of a prettier girl than "Suey San," and she loved "Cho Sang" even better than she loved the waving fields of rice. "Cho Sang" was only a laundryman, but he was noble, good and true, and he loved "Suey San." She was to him the sweetest flower in the valley of Nanking and he came to America to open the way for a more profitable future than was possible at home. He settled in San Francisco. "Chan Lee," the keeper of the worst of gambling houses, coveted the fair "Suey San," and determined that he would make her his slave. "Chan Lee," too, settled in 'Frisco, and he was cock of the walk because his gambling house netted him untold profit. "Cho Sang" had a laundry next door to Lee's home and to that miserable place came "Suey San." "Lee" had succeeded in having her decoyed to America, to his hell home. "Suey San" knew what was in store for her, but she was beautifully defiant. "Lee" locked her in his house while he went to his gambling joint a little way down the valley. "Suey San" opened a window and sang and prayed. "Cho Sang" was working in his laundry. He heard her voice and finally located her. She told him her story and then everybody knew there would be something doing. The keeper of the gambling hell was on his way to "Suey San" but he never reached her. "Cho Sang" leaped upon him and in less time than it takes to tell it there was one less gambler in 'Frisco's Chinatown. "Sang" put "Lee's" body in a laundry basket and just then a policeman came along. He told "Cho Sang," who stood in the door of his laundry, calmly smoking his pipe to take his laundry in off the street. "Cho Sang" grabbed the basket and the load was about all that he could carry. He got away with it, however, without the cop getting on and then the curtain went down. The piece has a prologue spoken by a Chinese girl. Miss Bardine plays splendidly the character of the Chinese girl. George Gebhardt makes a good Chinese gambler, and William Morris as the laundryman is all that the part calls for.

Anna Chandler is heard in songs and imitations and she is very clever. She is the best singing comedienne we have heard for many moons but it is a toss up as to whether it is her singing or her bewitching mannerisms that win her the applause that was accorded her yesterday. She gives a very good imitation of a "male baritone," and boy soprano. Anna Chandler has you going from the moment she appears until she throws you the parting kiss. There's a naughty little twinkle in her eye and she appeals to one as being chock full of good natured fun and humor. It's worth a day in the garden to hear her do the "Vinderish Rag." Her last offering last night was a coon song. It was refreshingly new and very pleasing. Gracie Emmett and her second and elongated husband is here again. Grace hasn't gained in flesh and her husband hasn't lost any in fact he didn't have any to lose. It doesn't make any difference how many times Gracie Emmett & Co. may come to Lowell they will be always welcome. They open a barrel of fun every time they come. Their act is good and if there wasn't another thing on the bill at Hathaway's this week those who have seen "Mrs. Murphy's Second Husband" before would go to see it again. It is one round of continuous laughter and what is really good never grows old. Supporting Miss Emmett are Miss Nellie Collins, Ben J. Miles and George F. Webster.

The Great Ergotti and his two Lilliputians close the performance and the closing act is a pretty one. It is an acrobatic act and is called a "European Risley Novelty." The foot work of Ergotti rivals the best of Japanese foot balancing and the way that he handles the Lilliputians is a caution.

Marron and Holmes pass out some oldtime minstrelsy and they are good. Their laughing song is the piece de resistance. El Barto is booked as "The Merry Wizard," and there certainly is some class to El Barto. He's a magician all right and his explanations of how a trick is done are more complicated than the trick itself. The bill is opened by Bert and Lottie Walton, who indulge in dancing and acrobatics. They are very, very good and were given a warm reception at both performances yesterday. The motion pictures are good. Taking it all in all, this week's bill is exceptionally good. Performances will be given every afternoon and evening throughout the remainder of the week, with special seats at the matinees for women.

STAR THEATRE

The amateur actors will hold a rally at the Star theatre tonight, which will be livelier, funnier and as well attended as any of the political rallies in and about the town. In the first place the boys will rally around the footlights, and the crowd will rally around the theatre. It is nothing unusual to listen to a discourse on "Politics" by one of the characters. Keasler's educated dogs, the smartest canines before the public, and Ted Letell, eccentric comedian, are feature vaudeville attractions. The admission of five cents allows a seat.

THEATRE VOYONS

The star feature of the bill at the Theatre Voyons today is "Her Dramatic Career" one of the best acted story pictures ever given on the screen. The story is an interesting one full of life and action and the interest is intense from beginning to the end. "Up San Juan Hill" is a second feature and it is an exceptionally good melodrama with some really sensational scenes. A laughable comedy and an instructive industrial picture completes the picture program. A most pleasing duet "In The Twilight" is the musical feature of the show.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The new bill at the Academy which was presented yesterday was a splendid one, every picture and vaudeville act scored a big hit. Marlowe, Myers and Marel in their travesty entitled "A Lesson in Shakespeare," introducing the burlesque balcony scene of "Romeo and Juliet" was a scream from start to finish. Edie Dickenson as the ex-justice of the peace, offered a quaint impersonation of a down east Yankee. Grace Furnside sang "Molly Lee." The feature Biograph picture "A Sweet Revenge," a masterpiece production which shows that while revenge is sweet still it generally leaves a bad taste, and in this case shows how dreadful a girl was when she learned that her lovers old place had been carried.

No Progress Towards Strike Settlement

BARRE, Vt., Nov. 23.—The strike or lockout of the 4000 granite cutters in this vicinity, which has been on for a week, will continue indefinitely, committees from the Barre Granite Manufacturers' Association and from the Northfield Cutters' Union having made no progress toward a settlement at a conference held last night. Neither side was prepared to make any concessions, each insisting that the other had broken the agreements. The only means of settling the controversy appears to lie in the drawing up of a new agreement, although there would still be much wrangling over this, probably.

There have been no disturbances since the inception of the trouble. Many cutters are leaving the affected places for quarries in other sections of the state and the affected manufacturers are forced to see orders of considerable value go to others. The railroads, too, have felt the effects of the strike, laying off all the night yard and freight crews as a result of the lesseping of shipments.

THEEE OIL KINGS, HOME OF TRUST, LAWYER AND JUDGE WHO RULED AGAINST COMBINE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—It is believed in Washington that the decision written by Judge Walter H. Sanborn of the United States circuit court of the eastern district of Missouri dissolving the Standard Oil company of New Jersey for violation of the Sherman antitrust law will be upheld by the United States supreme court, for the decision is along the lines of that rendered in the case of the Northern Securities company. Moritz Rosenthal, the attorney who has fought the case out so far for the oil trust, gave immediate notice that it would be appealed to the supreme court. Here are the names of the seven multi-millionaires mentioned in the decision: John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Henry M. Flagler, Henry H. Rogers (deceased), John D. Archbold, Oliver H. "Jim" Donovan Wants Him for Mayor

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—President James Donovan of the democratic city committee and his ward 9 political organization, the Quincy club, with its membership of 300, unanimously indorsed James J. Storrow's candidacy for mayor at a meeting held last night at the Columbia theatre building.

Donovan's action will, it is believed, cause widespread surprise among his followers in the democratic city machine, but it was no such surprise to John F. Fitzgerald, who declared that Donovan realized he was not welcome in any other camp.

While Donovan and his supporters in his home ward were convening for the purpose of endorsing Storrow as an anti-Fitzgerald candidate, Senator James H. Doyle, his ablest lieutenant in the democratic city machine, was declaring for Fitzgerald for mayor.

To the rank and file of the democracy in Boston, Doyle's action was as much of a surprise as that of Donovan. His example will be followed by several of the other leaders who were pledged to fight Fitzgerald for mayor if former Congressman Joseph H. O'Neil, John R. Murphy or Congressman John A. Keliher had been selected by Donovan's machine as the mayoralty candidate.

Following the announcement last night that Donovan had joined the Storrow forces, came another announcement that Congressman Keliher, disgusted with the condition of affairs, had decided to return to Washington without interfering in the mayoralty campaign. Congressman Keliher, his friends say, was ready to run for mayor if Donovan said the word.

Donovan's action in indorsing the Storrow candidacy was the most cheering information that the campaign committee of the Citizens' League candidate has received since the nomination a week ago. With Donovan's support, Manager Billings is confident Mr. Storrow can defeat Hibbard, Fitzgerald and any other mayoralty candidate who remains in the fight. Within the next few days Donovan will be tendered a position with Manager Billings in organizing a strong Storrow movement in every section of the city.

Politicians about the city last night predicted that Donovan's declaration in favor of Candidate Storrow would aid in simplifying the fight and that from now on lines would be closely drawn among Hibbard, Fitzgerald and Storrow. Several of Donovan's closest supporters in the anti-Fitzgerald movement for the past year declared last night that he would be unable to carry any of the ward leaders with him except Chairman D. F. McGillicuddy of ward 10.

LOSS IS $55,000

Garage Was Destroyed by Fire

PAWTUXET, R. I., Nov. 23.—Chauffeur John Conlin was badly burned about the face and body; Mrs. Lillie Cook, aged 65 years, housekeeper for the chauffeur, was rescued unconscious and carried down a ladder, and seven automobiles were burned in an explosion and fire which late last night consumed the costly garage owned by Arthur E. Austin, president of the John Austin & Son firm of oil refiners of Providence. The monetary loss on the building was $30,000, and on the automobiles $25,000.

STRONG PROTEST

Against Tuberculosis Camp

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 23.—The controversy over the establishment of a tuberculosis preventorium for children in the cottage occupied by the late Grover Cleveland here, resulted yesterday in the arrest of Supt. Wheelwright of the institution. He was charged with "importing children into the state" under a law passed in 1907 and aimed principally at immigrants. Until a legal test is made, however, it may prevent a group of well known philanthropists from bringing children here.

Facts About the Hall & Lyon Co.

Drugs and Chemicals

THEY subject to a most thorough test by their own chemist all drugs and chemicals sold by them, and guarantee them to be of the highest quality obtainable. They pride themselves on the freshness of their drug stock. They carry a full line of herbs, roots, leaves, seeds, bark, flowers, etc., which have been carefully sealed in air-tight packages which not only keep them clean but also preserve their active principles unimpaired. They are prepared to furnish any of these that are ordinarily called for in any amount at prices much below those usually asked. On their shelves will be found only such chemicals from manufacturers who are known the world over for the excellence of their products. They always insist on having none but highest quality goods in their stores. People who supply them with drugs know this from experience. Every article that comes into their laboratory is tested by their analytical chemist and if it is not up to Hall & Lyon high standard, it goes back at once.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Cardin May be Accused of Being an Accessory

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Nov. 23.—When Eugene L. Cardin appears in the fourth district court to be sentenced for larceny of $500 worth of jewelry from the G. K. Webster company's factory, where he was for several years employed, he will find a second count of even graver importance awaiting him. According to the police he will be charged with being an accessory to the highway robbery of Arthur S. Greene, a messenger of the Webster company, on Aug. 22, 1906, three years ago.

Cardin, it is alleged, was one of the leading figures in that bold crime and it was mainly through his information, it is claimed, that young Greene was assaulted while returning from the bank and relieved of the company's payroll of over $3000.

On the day in question Greene left the National bank about 11 in the morning and was riding about Bank street on his bicycle. Suddenly three men stepped out from behind some trees, and, pointing a revolver at Greene, demanded the money.

Greene resisted. The thugs then knocked the money from his hands and at the same time dealt the boy four savage blows on the head with a blackjack. The boy sank unconscious and the thugs escaped, but while running they were frightened and threw the money into some bushes. There the bundle was later found.

A few days later William Bibeau of Valley Falls was arrested and found to be the leader of the gang. He is now serving a 12 year sentence in jail.

The allegation is that Cardin gave to the men the exact time that the messenger boy would go after the payroll, described the route and furnished other data. Suspicions have been against Cardin for some time, but not until yesterday afternoon did the police secure the foundation for bringing the serious charge.

Cardin is at present in Taunton jail, being unable to furnish the $1000 bonds ordered by Judge Byram on the larceny charge of last week, which was continued until today for sentence, the young man having pleaded guilty after much of the stolen jewelry had been found in his possession.

Cardin belongs in Pawtucket, but has worked here for years.

GRANITEVILLE FIRE

Two Barns Burned and Other Property Threatened

Fire which broke out in West Graniteville about 8 o'clock last night destroyed two barns belonging to Mrs. Rachel Reed and threatened to destroy other valuable property in the vicinity.

The fire was discovered about 8 o'clock by Charles McLenna, who sounded the alarm. The local apparatus responded promptly and later the Edward Abbott company of Westford and the John Edwards company of Forge Village were on the scene and rendered valuable assistance.

The fire had its inception in a small barn, whose lower floor was occupied by William Lambert as a fish market. The upper floor was filled with hay, and it was in the hay that the fire started.

In a short time the flames spread to the big barn, 40 by 60 feet, which was about 50 feet away from the smaller one and which had been used as a store house by Victor Pigeon.

At one time flying embers started a fire on the roof of the house occupied by J. E. York, but the firemen, after strenuous work, extinguished that blaze and the only damage to the house was a slight scorching.

It is estimated that Mrs. Reed's loss will be in the vicinity of $5000. William H. Beebe, who had property stored in the barn, lost about $200.

MRS. STETSON

Has Resigned From the First Church

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, of this city, who has been living in seclusion since her excommunication recently by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, generally referred to as the Mother church, announced last night that she had resigned from the membership of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, New York, of which she was formerly first reader. After her ex-communication in Boston she continued to be a member of the church here, although it was reported that the board of trustees would eventually drop her.

In announcing her resignation last night, after referring to the action of the Mother church, Mrs. Stetson says:

"As this may place the members of your board in an embarrassing position, I have decided to resign from membership of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, New York city, and I now request that my name be dropped from the membership roll. I shall continue to make it my sole effort to obey the principles and to follow our beloved leader, Mary Baker Eddy."

With her resignation, Mrs. Stetson declines to accept hereafter the annual payment of $5000 which she received for her services in the church. Money is neither useful nor desirable to me," she says, "unless it comes as a grateful recognition of services rendered to those from whom it comes—and it would seem undesirable that this payment be continued."

She closes her statement with a plea that the church here may be united in harmony and devotedly follow "our beloved leader's voice."

HORACE VOSE, RHODE ISLAND TURKEY KING, AND HIS THANKSGIVING GIFT TO MR. TAFT

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 23.—Horace Vose of Westerly, R. I., who has been sending a turkey to the White House as a gift to the president at every Thanksgiving time since General Grant was president, broke all his former records in the size of the presidential turkey this year. He told his neighbors last fall that if Mr. Taft was elected he would send the biggest fowl ever grown on his turkey ranch to the White House this year. He is credited with knowing more about turkeys than any other man in this country and takes great pride in sending a bird of genuine quality to the chief magistrate of the nation each year. His aim this year was to produce the biggest turkey ever raised for the largest of all the presidents, and the accompanying snapshots of the gobbler that he selected for Mr. Taft prove that he did not fall far short of his aim. Mr. Vose did not give out at the time the photographs were taken just how much the turkey weighed, but it is in the neighborhood of fifty pounds. So Mr. Taft is assured of probably the finest turkey that will be served on Thanksgiving day throughout all the country.

REV. FR. O'BRIEN

Addressed the Brockton K. of C. on Sunday

At the solemn vesper service held in St. Patrick's church, Brockton, Sunday evening by Seville council, Knights of Columbus, in memory of the deceased members of the council, the preacher was Rev. John T. O'Brien of St. Peter's church, this city. The Brockton Enterprise had the following:

The sermon was delivered by Rev. John T. O'Brien of Lowell. Fr. O'Brien is one of the most able preachers in the diocese and spoke on the church and death, the great consolations offered by the Catholic church at the hour of death and when the heart is torn with grief at the passing away of loved ones. He said in part:

"It is indeed a pleasure that I come here tonight at the invitation of your rector and Seville council and unite with Knights of Columbus in this illustrious service in memory of their dead. The story of death goes on forever. From every house and every home we have seen our dead carried out. On every hillside we find the graves of many years. But as life does not end with the grave it is but fitting that we should turn our thoughts to the church. There we are taught resignation to the will of God. Death has been called the king of terrors but not so now since Christ has robbed it of its sting. We are taught to mourn our dead, not like one without hope but as one who has gone ahead, one whom we shall meet and know when we too have passed into the great beyond."

Fr. O'Brien said that it is well for men to remember their dead at this season, when autumn winds are singing requiems for the summer which has passed and nature has donned its most sombre garb. Happy is the Catholic, he declared, whose faith gives such sweet consolation to the bereft as the doctrine of the communion of saints. He prays for his dead, and if the souls be in the dim borderland of purgatory they are helped by the prayers, and if in heaven their prayers help him.

"Thus teaches the Catholic church today as when the apostles were on earth and to Laplander, Jap, negro, Indian, and white man the same. No ambitious or insufficient man may alter or amend that doctrine. Withstanding the attacks of open enemies, false friends and ungrateful children, the church has come through the centuries like a mighty, silent stream, growing constantly in volume and strength, unchanging and unchanged. It is still and will remain a refuge for sinners. Within it no man may say of his fellows, 'This one is righteous; this one unjust.' Only the angel of the harvest may separate the wheat from the chaff and until that final act none may condemn. Before the Catholic ever are the words of Christ, 'I am the resurrection and the life.'"

AMERICANS MISSING

They May be Languishing in Nicaraguan Jails

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23.—The Picayune cable from Colon says:

"A wire message from Port Limon, Costa Rica, says the United States cruiser Des Moines has gone to Greytown, Nicaragua, to make an official investigation of the killing of Cannon and Grace, the Americans who were shot by order of Zelaya.

"Passengers arriving from Nicaraguan ports report that a number of Americans who were engaged in business in Nicargua are missing and it is believed they are languishing in Nicaraguan jails.

"President Zelaya has plastered all of that portion of Nicaragua controlled by him with flaming posters denouncing the Americans in the most bitter and violent language. The Americans are accused of fomenting the recent revolutionary movement for the purpose of annexing Nicaragua to the United States. The proclamation calls upon all loyal Nicaraguans to rally around the Nicaraguan flag and urges them to help Zelaya to thwart the 'Gringo' conspiracy."

DYNAMITE USED

To Save a Town From Destruction

WARRENTON, Va., Nov. 23.—Following a fire which threatened to wipe out the town, Warrenton last night was under martial law and four blocks of buildings in the heart of the town are smoking ruins. Only by the use of dynamite was the town saved from complete destruction, for the drought of seven weeks which has prevailed in this part of Virginia, had completely exhausted the water supply and even the water needed for drinking had to be shipped here.

The damage as reported last night, despite the extent of the conflagration, to be but $65,000 or $75,000, with insurance of about $50,000.

Many wealthy Englishmen have fine estates in Warrenton, as have also several Washington and New York society people.

PEOPLE'S CLUB

Election of Officers held Last Night

President, A. G. Cumnock; vice-presidents, Jacob Rogers, Mrs. D. B. Bartlett, Horace B. Coburn; directors, Albert S. Guild, Hugh F. Gillon, W. E. Badger, Walter Coburn, Henry A. Smith, Haven C. Perham, F. A. Flather, Charles F. Young, Mrs. George F. Richardson, Mrs. Charles D. Palmer, Mrs. Wm. Nichols, Miss A. E. Anderson, Miss N. P. H. Robbins, Mrs. Franklin Nourse, Mrs. Jude C. Wadleigh; secretary and clerk, Miss G. A. Wood; treasurer, George L. Hooper.

The report of Miss Grace A. Wood, the secretary, showed that the club had a prosperous season. In the men's branch reading room, open from October 1, 1908, to May 1, 1909, there were 10,225 visitors, an average of 53 each evening, and the books read were 3790. The amusement room had an average attendance of 57 and a total of 11,305. There were about 200 members in the women's branches classes, and a great deal of good work was done.

The rooms are open every week night. The men's rooms are in the Nesmith block, and the women's in the Runels building.

MAN'S SKELETON

Was Found in Swamp at Spencer

SPENCER, Nov. 23.—The skeleton of a man was found yesterday afternoon in a marsh in the north part of Spencer about a quarter of a mile west of S. W. Parker's house. Alfred Goodrich and Allen Robinson of North Spencer were cutting wood in the locality for the Spencer Wire company's plant, when Goodrich discovered a human skull and shoe protruding from the earth. Medical Examiner E. W. Norwood was called and the bones were taken to the Kingsley morgue for examination.

It is the opinion of Dr. Norwood that the skeleton had lain there for two years or more. Little remained of the clothing, except that the shirt seemed to be a blue and white stripe, size 15, and marked "The Grant." The shoes were laced, size 6 1-2. The teeth in the upper jaw were complete, except that one molar was missing on each side and a couple of the teeth showed amalgam fillings. The man was probably under middle age.

The only clue as to who the man might be was furnished by Harry S. Kingsley, who recalled that about two or three years ago a man named Samuel Johnson came from West Springfield to visit his brother-in-law, Edward Hoar, at that time fireman on the B. & A. branch, but since deceased. Johnson was last seen walking toward North Spencer and there all trace of him was lost. His general description would answer the meagre details given out by the medical examiner.

The most plausible theory is that Johnson or some other person wandered into the swamp and either became lost or caught in the mire. The body had apparently laid in a natural posture for sleeping, however.

MRS. SNOWDEN

FAILED TO HAVE INTERVIEW WITH PRES. TAFT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Philip Snowden, wife of a Liberal member of the British parliament and a noted suffragette, tried to see President Taft yesterday. She failed. Protesting that she does not belong to the militant branch of the organization which has made the lives of British statesmen miserable for the past few months, Mrs. Snowden left the White House announcing that she would endeavor to again run the gauntlet that shut her off from the chief executive of the United States.

"I am desirous of meeting President Taft," she said, "because I met your former president, Mr. Roosevelt, and found him to be most charming. I am anxious, therefore, to have the privilege of knowing his successor."

Mrs. Snowden called at the White House with Representative David J. Foster of Vermont and his daughter. Miss Mabel Foster, who is president of the College Equal Suffrage league of the United States. The party was met at the door by the vigilant guardians of the president, who were promptly informed that Mrs. Snowden was an English suffragette.

"We're extremely sorry," apologized one of the officers to Mr. Foster and the two women, "but the president is very busy. I feel that he cannot be disturbed at the present time. Possibly you might call again."

He looked at Mrs. Snowden appealingly, and at the same time, hopefully. "At some later date he may be able to give you audience, which I know he must regret that he is unable to do today."

Mrs. Snowden was something of a disappointment to the members of the Women's suffrage movement here. In a lecture tonight at the Masonic Temple she declared that American women could not entertain the movement seriously. This, she explained, was because there are some two millions more men than women in this country and the women here are treated so well that they fail to appreciate their political slavery. In England, she added, the women outnumber the men by 1,500,000 and the situation is reversed.

DRACUT

The democrats will be able to hold their regular spring caucus next year to nominate candidates for the various town officers at the annual election, despite the fact that Dracut democrats did not hold the regular fall caucus at which a democratic town committee should have been chosen.

There has been considerable conjecture as to what would happen because of the failure of the democrats to name the committee this fall and many were of the opinion that it would mean that that party would be unable to nominate candidates for the town meeting, but it has been learned that the town committee of 1909 is empowered to act until its successor has been chosen and has duly organized.

TAFT'S CABINET

To Discuss the Nicaraguan Affair Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Taft will take up at the meeting of his cabinet today the Nicaraguan problem and it is expected that there will be something definite to discuss in the way of a program of action to be adopted in handling the Zelayan government.

While it has been the practice for the administration to leave such questions to the state department, the gravity of the situation inevitably will lead to its consideration by the members of Mr. Taft's official family. The matter has reached the point where preparations are being made to compel respect for the United States and its citizens on the part of the fiery little Central American republic. In the meantime work is being rushed in preparing the Prairie at the League island navy yard to transport four hundred marines now at that yard to Panama. These will reinforce the 380 marines on duty in the canal zone and a reliable force of tried fighters will be close to Nicaragua in case the United States decides that prompt and vigorous action is necessary.

GRAND LARCENY

John R. Dobbins Was Found Guilty

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 23.—The jury in the case of John R. Dobbins on trial for grand larceny in connection with the loss by T. W. Ballew, a Princeton, Mo. banker, of $30,000 on a fake horse race in this city more than a year ago, returned a verdict of guilty early today. Dobbins' case was the first of several brought in connection with the alleged fleecing of many victims throughout the country by J. C. Maybray and his associates. Ballew was a banker and testified that he bet $30,000 on a horserace which he later discovered was "fixed" and declared that Dobbins "steered" him into the game. The maximum penalty is five years' imprisonment.

Many other cases connected with the operations of Maybray and his associates are scheduled for next month in the United States courts where nearly ninety persons were recently indicted for fraudulent use if the mails.

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Campaign statements were filed with Secretary of State Koenig yesterday by the republican county committee of New York, Tammany hall and the Business Men's Municipal Association of New York. Contributions to the republican committee amounted to $214,766; Tammany hall had a fund of $140,126, and the Business Men's association raised $30,236.

The heaviest contributors to the republican fund were J. Pierpont Morgan, who gave $7000; Robert Bacon, $5000; Frank A. Vanderlip, $5000; Union League club, $4000; John D. Rockefeller, $2500; Andrew Carnegie, $2000; Robert W. De Forest, $2500.

Among the contributors to the Tammany Hall fund were: J. Sargent Cram, $3000; James R. Keene, $2500; Samuel Untermyer, $1500. Several gave $1000, including Herman Ridder, Rhinelander Waldo, Francis Burton Harrison, Daniel F. Cosan and Timothy Sullivan.

TO DROP CLARKSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Secretary MacVeagh announced last night that he would not re-appoint Gen. James L. Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York upon the expiration of Clarkson's term January 1. The position carries a salary of $8000 a year. Clarkson has been long prominent in politics, and from 1890 to 1892 was chairman of the republican national committee. Clarkson is an Iowa man and it is understood that prominent upper New York state republican politicians desire the office for patronage.

CAMPEAU COUNCIL, C. O. F.

At a special meeting held last night at Ricard hall, Campeau council, C. O. F., was reorganized upon a new basis, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year:

Supreme chief, Frank Ricard; vice supreme chief, Michel Buot; secretary and treasurer, L. J. Cornellier; recording secretary, J. J. Bellemare; directors, Michael Lafleur, Denis Deschenceaux and J. H. Gregoire.

AIR THAT KILLS GERMS

Don't be stubborn. Don't be prejudiced. There is not a particle of morphine, cocaine, or any injurious or habit-forming drug in Hyomei.

Give it a trial at Carter & Sherburne's risk. It is made of eucalyptus and other grand antiseptics. It will cleanse away the misery of catarrh or any affliction of the nose and throat in five minutes.

Go to Carter & Sherburne today and ask them for a Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) outfit. It only costs $1.00, and consists of a hard rubber pocket inhaler, which can be carried in vest pocket, a bottle of Hyomei a medicine dropper, and simple directions for use. Extra bottles 50c.

If you could go to the Eucalyptus forests of inland Australia you would quickly get rid of catarrh. Hyomei brings the identical air of these forests direct to your home. It is a most wonderful catarrh remedy.

MI-O-NA

Cures Indigestion

It relieves stomach misery, sour stomach, belching, and cures all stomach disease or money back. Large box of tablets 50 cents. Druggists in all towns.

FIRST BLIZZARD

Of the Season Reported in Michigan

DETROIT, Nov. 23.—The first blizzard of the season was reported from several parts of Michigan last night. At Saginaw the temperature has taken a decided fall and the fine snow is driven by a high gale.

At Lapeer the rain which had been falling for 24 hours, turned to snow and traffic is suspended.

Traverse City reports six inches of wet snow with considerable delay to rail traffic.

A fierce gale is blowing at Port Huron. Snow and sleet are falling and Lake Huron is wilder than it has been at any other time this year.

BILLERICA

Rev. Charles H. Williams gave an interesting lecture on his personal experiences on the labor problem last night before the men's bible class of the North Billerica church. Prior to the entrance of Rev. Mr. Williams to the ministry he was connected with a national labor organization and is well qualified to speak on the subject. Alexander Allan, president of the class, presided during the meeting, and there were selections by a quartet composed of James Ritchie, Guy Richardson, Burton O. Sanford and Herbert B. Ellis; recitations by Joseph Ellis; comic songs by H. B. Ellis. A collation was served at the close of the meeting. Several entertainments, similar to the one provided last evening will be given during the coming winter by the class.

WAR CRIMINAL

Tolstoi Appeals to the People

GENEVA, Nov. 23.—Count Leo Tolstoi, by way of Switzerland, has given another message to the world. At an anti-military meeting held at Bienne, when 100 Swiss and foreign delegates were assembled, Count Tolstoi's appeal to the people was read amid great enthusiasm.

The appeal was specially written for the recent peace congress at Stockholm, and would have been greatly embarrassing, on account of its violence, to the Swedish authorities, who were saved by the timely strike which caused a postponement of the congress. Later it was arranged to read the appeal at Berlin. The largest hall in that city was engaged and all the tickets were sold, but the police prohibited the reading.

Count Tolstoi appeals to the good sense of the world's peoples to refuse to serve as soldiers, either voluntarily or under pressure, even if that refusal entails punishment. Killing by soldiers, he asserts, is a criminal act.

The message appeals, not to governments, but directly to peoples and their good sense to stop the growth of armies and navies.

SENIORS WON

The class championship in the interclass series of basket ball games at the Textile chool was won by the seniors yesterday when that team defeated the freshmen team by a score of 12 to 10. The game was well contested in the first half, the score at the end of the period being 8 to 8. But in the second period the seniors demonstrated their ability and scored two baskets to one made by the freshmen.

The summary:

Seniors		Freshmen
Keough, rf		rf North
Gale lf		lf Preston-McDuff
Manning c		rg McCleary
Hale lg		lg Allen

Goals from the floor—Gale 5, Keough 2, Watson, Preston 2, North 2, Hartford. Referee—Church. Timer—Holt.

THE ALSOP CLAIM

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 23.—The Chilean government has again announced its desire to subscribe to a protocol submitting the Alsop claim to the Hague tribunal for arbitration and has deposited in London $1,000,000 to the order of the Hague permanent court. The government, however, will insist upon a complete examination into all the details of the question, without the least restriction.

DOUBLE WEDDING

Sisters Married in St. Louis' Church

A very pretty double marriage ceremony took place yesterday morning at St. Louis' church when two sisters, Misses Albina and Anna Vanasse, were united in marriage, the former marrying Mr. Euclide Page, while Miss Anna was married to Mr. Joseph Pratte.

Messrs. L. O. Beauregard and Alfred Pratte served as witnesses for both couples. The double ceremony took place at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Jacques, the pastor. Both brides were white silk, with veil, and carried white roses. During the mass, the choir of the children of Mary sodality, of which both brides were members, gave an appropriate musical program. Miss Ida Mongrain played the organ.

After the ceremony breakfast was served at the home of the brides' mother, Mrs. Isaac Vanasse, 103 Ennell street. In the evening a reception was held at the home of Mr. Alfred Pratte.

COURT DECISION

Says Woman Cannot be Stopped From Talking

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—"How can you stop a woman from talking?" asked Judge Richardson of counsel for the complainant in the unusual bill brought by Charles H. Shapley of Leominster for an injunction to restrain his sister-in-law, Sarah C. Shapley, from talking about the estate of her husband Geo. Shapley, or about the settlement of the estate or the complainant, to any persons in Fitchburg, Leominster or Acton, and from visiting those places.

In the end it was agreed by counsel for Mrs. Shapley, widow of George H. Shapley, that until further order of the court she will not enter the clothing store conducted by the complainant in Leominster or in any way interfere with the business.

George H. Shapley of Newton died Feb. 13. In his will he named the complainant executor. They had been in partnership in the clothing business 20 years in Leominster.

Mrs. Shapley has claimed the business belonged solely to her husband, but the appraisers, in their inventory, say the estate owns two-thirds interest in the partnership business.

The complainant alleges Mrs. Shapley has talked to people in the city and towns named about the business affairs and the complainant wants to stop her from continuing to make the assertions that he alleges she has made respecting the matter.

A CLOSE SHAVE

Many of Them Happening Every Day But Soon Forgotten

Close shaves would be of more frequent occurrence but for the tender faces of many men, which will not permit of shaving often. Heretofore, nothing has been said in these columns about poslam, a new skin discovery, in connection with its use after shaving. Its publicity and sales have been confined almost exclusively to its remarkable properties as an eczema cure; it stops the itching at once and cures the worst cases in a few days. While the application of poslam after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimples, the complexion, etc., shavers will find it a revelation, as it does for abrasions, roughness, and severe scrapings what it does for all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. It is the only article possessing real antiseptic and curative value that has ever been exploited for this purpose, and will soothe and tone up the skin as no toilet preparation could possibly do.

Poslam can be had for fifty cents at any reliable druggist's, particularly Falls & Burkinshaw's and Carter & Sherburne's, who make a specialty of it. Or the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West 25th street, New York City, will send a trial supply free by mail to anyone who will write for it. This is sufficient to show results in 24 hours.

SWEPT BY STORM

Great Damage Has Been Reported

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Rain and sleet, driven by a wind which at times reached a velocity of 48 miles an hour, marked the storm which has raged all day on lake Michigan and throughout the region of the Great Lakes. Only a few vessels braved the waves which thundered outside the breakwater and dashed in tons of spray many feet over the government pier.

In the morning the government life saving crews from Evanston and Chicago answered the appeal for help from the crew of the freighter Boston, which, after battling all night in the storm on the way from Milwaukee, was thrown rudderless and beyond control upon a sand bar near Wilmette, one of Chicago's north shore suburbs.

Eight of the crew of 18 men elected to leave the vessel, which was fast on the sand, and were taken by the life savers to shore.

The average velocity of the wind was 35 to 40 miles an hour, which makes the storm one of the hardest blows on the lakes this season.

The government forecast is for a continuance of the storm through the night, with snow and colder temperature. Much anxiety is felt for vessels known to be out of reach of safe harbors.

PASTOR MAY DIE

He Met With Serious Accident

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Nov. 23.—Rev. George H. Rogers, pastor of the Methodist church of Plainville, is in a critical condition at his home as the result of an accident last evening in North Attleboro. Rev. Mr. Rogers was riding toward Plainville on his bicycle about 7 o'clock and at Park and Washington streets he collided with a horse and wagon driven by Howard Grant of this town, who was returning from Norfolk.

The minister was thrown from his wheel and the wagon passed over his body. He was picked up in an unconscious state and removed to the office of a local doctor. The physician found the man suffering from serious internal injuries and three broken ribs. He has a slight chance of recovery. After being attended by the physician Rev. Mr. Rogers was removed to his home in Plainville in an ambulance.

Grant said that the accident would not have happened but for the bright searchlight on an electric car that was approaching at the time. He says the light flashed so brightly in his eyes that he was unable to see the cyclist and was unaware of the accident until after the carriage had passed over the man's body.

HATTIE LEBLANC

No Trace Yet of Missing Girl

WALTHAM, Nov. 23.—No traces of the missing Hattie LeBlanc were discovered when the police began their day of investigation. The mystery surrounding the murder of Clarence F. Glover, who, in an ante-mortem statement, accused Miss Leblanc of having shot him on Saturday night, was greater today than at any time since the discovery of the crime. Having found some discrepancies in the last statement of the murdered man, the authorities did not place so much confidence in it today as they did on Saturday night. An investigation of the building of the Waltham Laundry Co., where the shooting occurred, appears to the police to strengthen the theory that a third person was concerned in the case.

Although Glover said in his statement that the laundry office was the scene of the tragedy, no evidences of disorder have been found there. In another department of the laundry there were appearances of a struggle and a sidecomb, belt pin and a man's cap were found. The comb was identified as Hattie LeBlanc's property by the sisters of the missing girl.

COPPER MERGER

Was Denounced by Wm. J. Bryan

GLOBE, Ariz., Nov. 23.—William J. Bryan who was the guest of honor at a banquet here last night denounced the proposed copper merger as a combination which would seriously injure the interests of the smaller producers and the workingmen.

He also criticized President Taft for his reported advice to avoid copying the Oklahoma constitution when the people of this territory come to draft the basic law of the prospective new state.

"Do not let the president of the United States threaten you," he said. "Let me tell you that he does not want a constitution like that of Oklahoma. It is much better that the constitution should fit the people of the new state than the people outside.

"It is my earnest wish for your sake that the constitution or Arizona will be for its people and not for those citizens of Ohio who are simply temporary residents here."
